Stars and Stocks Split. A Happy Moment. Learning to Live. Obregon, Be Warned.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

FROM South Africa astronomers send word the great star, Nova Pictoris, has split in two.

We are excited on this little earth ball when a big stock "splits two for one." If we were a few billion miles nearer Nova Pictoris, we should have a new meaning for "split." How safely we live in our little corner of space with fearful cataclysms around us. We should be grateful.

THE bears had a happy moment yesterday while Wall Street bought and sold 4,575,660 shares of stock, breaking all records since the beginning of time, and General Motors dropped nearly 20 points. They were not so happy when it climbed back again above 190. As Mayor Thompson of Chicago would say, any advice not to sell the stock market short "goes double" for General Motors.

SOME poor bears celebrated by selling "Radio" short. Bulls were ready to buy a quarter of a million shares of that stock. The bears' paws were burned. Radio rose $12.

PASTE THIS IN YOUR HAT. INVEST, DON'T GAMBLE, DON'T SELL SHORT.

AMERICAN business men are learning to prolong life. John D. Rockefeller, one of the hardest workers, who has given away half a billion, is well on his way to 90. George F. Baker, one of the world's three richest men, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday yesterday and will soon come back from Georgia to New York, tired of being away from business.

In the old days of Jay Gould, fighting business men did not live long. They had not learned how to eat or when to exercise.

PRESIDENT OBREGON thinks Mexico needs prohibition. Alcohol, says he, "is the enemy of the republic." If he will put on a bulletproof suit and inspect some of our better bootleg districts, he will find that bootlegging can also be an enemy.

Obregon should take away from Mexicans their horrible pulque, close to wood alcohol, and persuade Mexicans to drink light wine and beer.

If he tries absolute prohibition, he will succeed no better than we do, and will be getting bootleg pulque, if possible even worse than the original article.

OGDEN MILLS, assistant secretary of the treasury, tells Yale boys that newspapers are important and "raise or lower the tone of national life."

It is national life that raises or lowers the tone of newspapers. Civilization creates them and they reflect civilization, they don't create it.

The editor who thinks he makes the world go round is in a class with the editor of the "Skibbereen Eagle," who said, "We have our eye on the Czar of Russia."

UNITED STATES SENATOR DENEEN, according to the Associated Press, attended the funeral of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, notorious gang leader, murdered by his followers.

Now Senator Deneen's Chicago house is bombed, presumably by those that disapproved of Esposito.

It seems dangerous for United States senators to attend funerals of gang leaders, even when they are good Republican workers.

POSTMASTER JOHN M. GARRETT of Moulton, Iowa, believes there is no such thing as "the ether," therefore radio cannot travel through ether. "I am instructed to offer ten thousand dollars in gold for substantial proof that ether exists in our atmosphere."

EXISTENCE of the ether cannot be physically proved. But scientists, from Newton on, have believed in its existence, for such substance is necessary in connection with the law of gravitation. It would take too long to say why.

Ether fills all space. All other substance is unsubstantial compared with it.

WE MUST remember that so-called solid matter is not solid. The atoms making up a lead spoon are as far apart in proportion to their size as the earth from the sun. What Lodge calls "the imponderable ether" is inconceivably solid. Wide open matter passes through the ether as a fisherman's net passes through water.

YOU cannot prove the existence of ether, or see electricity, or demonstrate the existence of eternal law. But the mind accepts them as realities.

The wise man agrees with Socrates, who said: "I know that I know nothing."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE will decide, within a week, how much should be cut from your taxes, $200,000,000 perhaps.

A FEW more people shot in Mexico for rebellion against the established government.

THE master of the Quorn hunt is killed by a fall in England. Big news there. Quorn is one of the fastest packs in Britain —the Prince hunts with ye.

NEWARK, N. Y., March 28.—Frank Stevens Warren, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, his wife and 12-year-old son were found dead in their burning home on Miller street today, all shot through the heart with .22-caliber bullets.

After the fire had been extinguished, the charred bodies of Warren and his wife were found stretched across their bed. The body of the boy, Jack, was found in another room.

Elements of mystery in connection with the finding of the bodies caused the police to construct an early theory of murder, subject to further investigation. No reason for suicide by Warren was known as he was a successful insurance man and ranked high in the affairs of the community.

A window downstairs was found open. Bloodstains showed on the dining room curtains. A revolver holster was on the boy's bed. Soiled dishes indicated a late meal. A safe was found open. There was no money in it, but apparently it had not been ransacked.

Washington Heights Board of Trade and residents of Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights say they were given the cold shoulder in the celebration of the opening of Liberty bridge yesterday. They maintain they were snubbed by the committee composed of business-men of the South Hills, mostly from Mt. Lebanon and Dormont. Smarting from the humiliation of not having the parade pass through the Mt. Washington-Duquesne Heights districts, members of the board of trade today are making plans to retaliate when the new Mt. Washington roadway is opened.

It was learned today that a rift in the committee occurred last Friday night. As one member of the Washington-Heights trade body put it today, the Mt. Lebanon-Dormont

LEWIS FLARES IN TILT

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In its consideration of the coal strike today the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee devoted its time largely to discussion of the remedy of governmental supervision of the coal industry, as proposed by Percy Tetlow, president of District No. 17 of the United Mine Workers, with headquarters in Charleston, W. Va.

Senators Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, and William C. Bruce, of Maryland, indicated by their remarks that they considered it dangerous to interfere with the natural law of supply and demand by attempting to control coal prices through an artificial system. They also suggested that if the government should regulate the coal industry it would pave the way for similar control of every other industry.

Senators Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho; James E. Watson, of Indiana, and Robert F. Wagner, of New York, pointed out, in answer, that the government regulates the railroads through the Interstate Commerce Commission and the transportation laws.

Gas Routs Pickets At Pit

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., March 28.—Tear gas was used to disperse a crowd of 400 striking miners picketing the Bulger Block Coal Company's mine at Bulger, near here, at 6 o'clock this morning. Several shots were fired, according to reports made to headquarters of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Miners' Relief, and five strikers were arrested. One was J. R. Fern, international organizer for the United Mine Workers of America.

Deputy sheriffs under Chief J. P. Connor, are on duty at the mine and when they were unable to handle the crowd, a call was sent to state police at Bertha, McDonald and Washington. Six troopers were sent and when the miners refused to disperse, tear gas was released from riot maces.

RIPS HESS 'CRAZY' PLEA

Held Sane Now

The fate of Albert Hess, Homestead youth, for the murder of an unidentified man near Browns Bridge last September, was placed in the hands of the jury this afternoon, after Judge A. B. Reed had delivered his charge. He cautioned the jury not to be swayed by the youth of the prisoner, as it was a particularly atrocious and unwarranted murder.

An early verdict from the nine men and three women was expected. The state, seeking a first degree verdict, did not ask for the death penalty and the defense did not ask for freedom. The prisoner's counsel asked that the boy, who is 16, be committed to an institution for treatment.

In the closing moments of the trial, the state attacked the insanity defense. Four witnesses failed to show eccentricities on the part of the prisoner that would justify bringing in testimony concerning the insanity of the boy's father. Previously an uncle had been prevented from testifying to this phase.

The state's surprise witness, Dr. E. E. Mayer, alienist, who examined the boy and found him normal last Thursday, was called in rebuttal after the defense had rested.

Hess himself, without a tremor,

Stinson Up For Air Record

International News Service.

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 28.—Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman soared from the beach here this morning at 7:35 o'clock in their huge monoplane, with a new world's endurance flight record as their objective. They plan to remain in the air more than 53 hours.

Their great Stinson-Detroiter plane was fueled with 540 gallons of gasoline, sufficient to last 60 hours. The present record held by German aviators is 52½ hours.

Stinson and Haldeman plan to fly over Jacksonville Beach, alternating at the controls. They may make short trips along the beach to Daytona or St. Augustine.

Ideal weather prevails.

SHANK DOWN

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 28.—(AP.)—Gene Shank, St. Paul aviator, ended his third unsuccessful attempt to establish a new world's endurance flight record here at 7:24 a. m. today when he was forced down after 12 hours and 10 minutes in the air. A plugged gas jet was to blame. He took off at 7:14 o'clock last night.

Shank said he had difficulty in keeping awake. "The cold weather made me very sleepy," he said.

A broken gas feed line ended Shank's first effort to establish a new endurance record after he had been in the air 12½ hours. Another attempt failed when oil and gasoline flooded his engine.

U. S. ACTS TO CHECK BRITISH OIL CORNER

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Speedy action toward conserving the naval oil reserves against the scheme of British oil interests to deplete America's supply and leave them with a corner on the world's oil, was taken by the House Naval Affairs Committee when it appointed a sub-committee to confer with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur on a conservation plan.

This direct action followed publication in the Hearst newspapers of an authenticated expose of the British operations in American oil fields.

Acting Chairman Fred A. Britten, Illinois, designated Representatives Hales (R.) of New Hampshire, Wolverton (R.) of New Jersey, and Williams (D.) of Missouri, to confer with Secretary Wilbur, Rear Admiral Edward H. Campbell, Judge Advocate of the Navy, and Rear Admiral H. H. Rousseaux, in charge of the Navy oil office.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED; NOW AUTO LAW VIOLATORS GO FREE

Somebody blundered in the enactment of the present automobile laws, and thousands of law violators throughout the state have gone free. Nearly 300 persons indicted in Allegheny county today are free from prosecution and punishment.

The charges were dropped when Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk appeared before Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Criminal Court and asked for a nolle prosse for each person named in a huge bundle of indictments. The motions were granted.

Another 300 or more indicted for violations of the automobile laws also will be freed of the charges when the district attorney's office completes the assembling of the cases. They will be presented to the court with motions for nolle prosse. Those just granted involve charges of driving while intoxicated. Those in preparation involve various other charges, such as reckless driving, obscuring or changing tags, and the like.

Just before the new automobile laws enacted by the 1927 Legislature went into effect January 1, it was discovered that a saving clause had been omitted. That meant that the automobile laws existing before January 1, as amended by successive Legislatures, but always with a saving clause, were repealed outright. A saving clause would have preserved all prosecutions under the laws existing before 1928. Absence of a saving clause had the effect of declaring that the laws on which the prosecutions were based no longer existed and therefore the prosecutions failed. This despite the reenactment of many provisions of the former laws into the 1928 laws.

Controversy raged between the district attorneys of various counties and Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge after the blunder was discovered. Baldridge declared the county prosecuting officers should have ascertained the omission and proceeded before the end of 1927 to dispose of all charges.

The district attorneys, including District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, countered with the statement that copies of the 1927 laws only reached their offices late in November or in December and that it was too late. Some cases were disposed of hastily.

Persons familiar with legislative processes in Harrisburg know that the Attorney General passes upon all laws before they are presented to the Governor for approval or disapproval. The office of the Attorney General participates in the preparation and amending of pending legislation. The Legislative Reference Bureau also aids members to prepare and amend legislation. The best judgment is that the blunder rests upon the office of the Attorney General.

Piece by piece [illegible] District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt had fitted his case, until, with City Detective Robert Burke on the stand, the lad's confession was submitted to the jury. Attorney A. L. The first witness for the defense, Dr. L. L. Thompson, a surgeon at the Homestead Hospital, testified as to the boy's injury, but would not say definitely that it would have an effect on the mentality in latter years. Dr. L. E. Brougher offered corroborative testimony, but also was non-committal as to after effects.

Alvin's mother, Mrs. Sarah Hess, a thin, wan-faced woman, told how Alvin had joined the Marines without her consent and was gone three months before she could get him out. She told of his complaining of pains in his head since the coasting accident.

Several neighbors were called by the defense, including George Weinhold, Mrs. Catherine Schultz and Mrs. Stella Folk, to show that the boy had acted queerly. They revealed little except that he liked to play with younger children or paraded for them in his Marine uniform.

Robert Stevens, 14, implicated with Hess, was not called by either side. He will go on trial next Monday. Chief among the spectators was Gertrude Friedlander, chief counsel for the Stevens boy.

Ohio Fence "Swiped" By Plane

There's an Ohio sheriff expected in Bridgeville today to arrest J. Warren Smith, manager of Mayer Field, for larceny. When Smith started back to Pittsburgh from Lima in a plane Tuesday his tail skid caught in a barbed-wire fence. Smith brought along 800 feet of wire.

C. P. Mayer, owner of Mayer Field, and E. J. Webber, of First National Bank, Bridgeville, were flying with Smith in the new "Pride of Pittsburgh."

For 290 miles they flew with a "tail" 800 feet long. When they passed over Collier township, near Bridgeville, Smith dropped down from 3,000 to 800 feet. His barbed-wire "tail" struck high tension lines of the Duquesne Light Company and for miles the sky was aglow.

"Look at the pretty colors," signaled Mr. Mayer to Smith. "Wonder what makes 'em?"

"Yeh," Smith grunted. "'short,' I guess."

Several of the light company's cables were burned and fell to the ground.

But Smith and his passengers flew on to a perfect landing, entirely unconscious that they had been responsible for the more or less virile Aurorea Borealis. Mechanics who started to wheel the big Ryan into the Mayer Field hangar noticed the wire trailing behind. They kept pulling and pulling until it measured 800 feet.

crowd "hogged" the party. A showdown was called and a meeting held last Friday night at Carnegie Library, Mt. Washington.

"SHORT" MEETING

"How many tickets have you sold for the banquet?" was the first questioned asked the Washington-Heights trade body by the spokesman from the neighboring communities.

When told that no tickets had been sold officially by the Washington-Heights Board of Trade because none had been sent, the South Hills delegates turned up their noses and the meeting quickly broke up, it is said.

The committee in charge of mapping out the parade route "forgot" the Mt. Washington - Duquesne Heights district and passed them up completely. At the banquet last night, the trade body representatives were lingering in the shadow around a few tables in a corner of the banquet room.

"Well, they had their fun yesterday," one member said today. "They had their Liberty Bridge, but we are going to have our Mt. Washington boulevard. It will be just too bad for that crowd when we put on our little party."

ASKS U. S. FIX MINE PAY

by their stronger competitors. Senator Bruce said he did not know but that it might be a good thing for the weaker companies to disappear from the field, particularly the mushroom concerns that sprang up during the war.

The hearing was enlivened by a tilt between John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, and William P. Belden, attorney for the Eastern Ohio Coal Operators' Association. Belden said Lewis had made false statements and the union chieftain hotly resented the remark.

Reply to Fisher

Senator Watson, as chairman, submitted to the committee, in executive session, a rough draft of a letter that he has written to Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, in answer to the Governor's letter laying down the terms under which he might consider testifying before the committee. The Governor asked five questions, and they are to be answered seriatim.

Arguing that wage reduction would not solve the problem of the industry, Capt. Tetlow pointed out again in answer to questions of Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, that the southern West Virginia coal operators who first broke with the union and cut wages were suffering as keenly as the northern operators who have shut down their mines and are producing nothing.

Senator William C. Bruce, of Maryland, said he questioned the wisdom of having the government regulate wages. What difference was there, he questioned, between regulating wages in the coal industry and wages in the shoe manufacturing industry?

"Grave Crisis"

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, answered that the coal industry was facing a grave crisis, and unless the government was willing to stand idly by and let the miners starve and the operators go bankrupt it was a social necessity to intervene.

Former United States Senator A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, serving as counsel for southern operators, asked Tetlow in what respect his program differed from complete socialization of the coal industry.

Before Tetlow could answer, Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, remarked that the regulation proposed for the coal industry was no more drastic than that which the government already exercises in its supervision of the railroads through the Interstate Commerce Commission and transportation laws.

"That was the answer that I intended to make," said Tetlow.

"Do you believe in government ownership of the mines?" Tetlow was asked.

"No, sir," he answered.

He explained that all that he proposed was regulation under which collective bargaining between the workers and the operators would be permitted, consolidation of coal companies authorized to eliminate destructive internal competition, and authority given to set up common selling agencies to maintain prices at a level that would permit the operators to make a profit at the same time that they paid a living wage.

"Two-Way Plan"

Tetlow said that while he spoke as a worker, and as a representative of the workers, what he proposed was of equal importance to the operators.

"This is a joint proposition," he stated.

Tetlow pointed out that many reforms in industry which, when first proposed, were denounced as "socialistic," were now accepted by the most conservative people as wise measures. He gave as an instance the reduction of the work day in the steel industry from 12 to 8 hours.

Senator Guy D. Goff asked Tetlow if, in a word, he did not advocate the elimination of competition in the production of coal.

The witness responded that he would not go that far, but would regulate competition to prevent unreasonable deflation of wages and the lowering of living standards and the degradation of the workers.

Capt. Tetlow said the "jungle law of supply and demand," as it was called by George Anderson, vice president of the Consolidation Coal Company, in his statement before the committee Monday, ought to be artificially controlled when it threatened to destroy the safety and happiness of a vast number of people.

"Who will shoulder the burden of artificial regulation of prices?" inquired Senator Bruce. "Someone will have to pay for the interference with a natural law."

Tetlow said he had no fear of that.

"Union Nub of Fight"

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, mentioned the Watson-Parker law for the regulation of labor conditions on the railroads as an example of regulatory legislation which might be applied to the coal industry to advantage.

There was a general discussion of the subject with half a dozen of the senators participating.

"The American workman," said Capt. Tetlow, "is entitled to his share of 'a place in the sun,' capital is, too. But what we lack is that co-operation which would give justice to all of us."

"The battle is now on," said Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, "to destroy the union and supplant it with little unions. That's the fight. And if it is successful, labor is not going to get anything."

Senator Gooding declared the nation is reaching a situation in which there is not enough work for the people. He mentioned that while the tonnage of the railroads had doubled since 1915, it had been necessary to add only about 120,000 men to the number of the railroads' employes. In every industry, he said, the amount of work being done per man was increasing, with the result that there was not enough work to provide jobs for all.

Congress must address itself, said Senator Gooding, to the urgent problem of "finding employment for our people."

If Congress should break down the barriers against collective bargaining by enacting legislation forbidding judges to issue such injunctions as that which prohibits the United Mine Workers from attempting to organize the nonunion fields of southern West Virginia, Capt. Tetlow told the committee, the way would be paved for the stabilization of the industry through the establishment of uniform wages in all the competitive fields.

Lewis in Tilt

While Capt. Tetlow was on the stand John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, started to ask some questions about the ownership of West Virginia mines by Ohio operators. Lewis ended by making a speech on the subject.

He charged certain of the operators with following a "Doctor Jekyll-and-Mr. Hyde" policy. The money they made in their Ohio mines, worked by union miners, they put into West Virginia mines, in which the employes are nonunion men, he asserted. At the conclusion of his remarks William P. Belden, attorney for the Eastern Ohio Coal Operators' Associatoin, came forward and declared that some of the things Lewis had said were false.

"I make no false accusations," retorted Lewis, "and I deny you the right to say I do."

"All right," answered Belden.

"It is for the committee to decide," commented Senator Watson, its chairman, "who is right and who is wrong."

Belden demanded the right immediately to put witnesses on the stand to controvert what Lewis had said. Van A. Bittner, of the United Mine Workers' international organization, also endeavored to address the committee.

Senator Watson would not permit any further talk, but directed that the room be cleared, that the committee go into executive session.

The vote in the Senate on the flood control bill delayed the starting of the afternoon session.

A. M. Belcher, attorney for southern West Virginia operators, cross-examined Capt. Tetlow at the resumption of the hearing.

MEXICO GRANTS SAFETY TO U. S. OIL INTERESTS

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mexico has satisfactorily met all the demands of the American government for the protection of petroleum rights in that country, the State Department has announced.

Under-secretary of State R. E. Olds, in a formal statement, declared that regulations just published by President Calles had removed the friction of the last 10 years, which at times has brought relations dangerously near intervention.

His statement follows:

"The petroleum regulations just promulgated by President Calles constitute executive action which completes the process beginning with the decision made by the judicial branch of the Mexican government on November 17, 1927, and followed by enactment of the new petroleum law by the legislative branch December 26, last.

END NEGOTIATIONS

"Together, these steps voluntarily taken by the Mexican government would appear to bring to a practical conclusion the decisions which began 10 years ago with reference to the effect of the Mexican constitution and laws upon foreign oil companies.

"The Department of State feels, as does Ambassador Morrow, that such questions, if any, as may hereafter arise, can be settled through the due operation of the Mexican administrative department and the Mexican courts."

In petroleum circles here it was regarded as of tremendous importance, since it will permit American operators again to exploit Mexican petroleum holdings and conserve just that much more oil in the United States. For a long period American operations in the Mexican field have been at a standstill because of the insistence of President Calles of enforcing confiscatory laws.

While this decision is of the greatest importance to the petroleum interests, officials point out that Mexico is still enforcing confiscatory laws regarding American-owned agricultural lands and that the relations between the two countries will not be entirely cordial until this, too, has been straightened out.

U. S. ACTS TO CHECK

granted to the executive branch of the government to guard against depletion of the naval reserves in California, Britten appointed the committee to draft a bill with the aid of the Navy Department.

Warning Congress that a situation may develop in which private oil companies holding property in the heart of Naval Oil Reserve No. 2, may start producing on a large scale and "take the cream" of the naval reserve, Secretary Wilbur urged that authority be given the Navy to make an arrangement with the private companies under which the government would receive oil drained from the reserve.

The Navy Department is at present helpless against such a contingency, he said. It has no funds to sink "offset" wells along the edge of the privately-owned land to take oil from the private pool in exchange for that extracted by the private companies from the government's reserve, he pointed out.

As it is the policy of the government to conserve the oil in the reserve, it is loath to sink "offset" wells and it would prefer authority to make a contract with private companies for compensatory royalties, covering the amount of oil drained from Uncle Sam's reserve, he said. Sinking of "offset" wells would speed up depletion of the reserve.

Several members of the naval committee believe that the Secretary of the Navy should be limited to operations on the reserve and that he should have presidential approval before contracting with private companies for compensatory royalty.

Representative James V. McClintic (Dem.), of Oklahoma, offered an amendment to that effect to the Butler bill, filed at the request of Secretary Wilbur.

FORESTALL BRITISH

Britten declared that the move to conserve the government's oil reserves would be helpful in forestalling the drive of British oil companies to deplete America's oil reserves.

"We must guard our naval oil reserves, estimated at between 600,000,000 and 700,000,000 barrels at naval reserve No. 2, against all contingencies, so that we will have oil for our Navy in the event of war," declared Britten, continuing:

"Revelations in the Hearst newspapers, substantiated by Rear Admiral Rosseaux, that a large part of America's oil production is going abroad, that two-thirds of the gasoline consumed in Europe comes from the United States, should give those responsible for national defense cause to consider our position.

"If the British oil interests are out to deplete America's reserves, so that they will have a world monopoly through their holdings in other countries, our first step would be to put a seal on the government reserves."

In its petition the National Transportation Company estimated the coke company's assets at $2,000,000. The coke company filed an answer in which it admitted its inability to dispose of the obligations.

MAN OUTWITS CLERKS, ROBS STORES

A flashily-dressed Negro, wagered $20 that his wits were more nimble than those of Miss Helen Field, clerk in a fur shop at 541 Wood street, and won two fur neckpieces.

Entering the shop he presented a letter purporting to have been written by Mrs. Emma Taylor, enclosing a $20 bill and asking that a fur which Mrs. Taylor had left to be repaired be given to the bearer.

Miss Field, clerk, could not remember the transaction and while she was in the rear looking it up the Negro disappeared with his letter, $20, a Hudson sable fur worth $250 and a Russian sable fur worth $200.

Without risking the $20, he won $62 worth of lingerie from a lingerie shop at 429 Penn avenue, a short time later. He presented a letter to Miss E. M. Perry, proprietor, and when the latter looked for Mrs. Taylor's telephone number the Negro disappeared with a lot of feminine finery.

DIRECTORS RENAMED

competition by more economical and efficient marketing methods.

The directors re-elected are James Carstairs, E. M. Love, Augustus K. Oliver, W. A. Reiss and W. G. Warden.

Chairman of the Board Warden presided and President J. D. A. Morrow explained the business situation confronting the coal trade generally when one stockholder raised the question as to the hope of dividends.

Frankly Mr. Morrow told them that the present condition is bad, but he could not hold out bright hopes for the future.

Inequality in freight rates, the fact that oil-burning devices cut down the coal demand nearly [illegible],000,000 tons a year, the storage of fuel reaching more than 30,000,000 tons among users from this territory, and lastly the unusually mild winter all has contributed, he said, toward depressing the demand.

The nominations of directors and the balloting required only a few minutes. Stockholders asked for no further enlightenment on the labor situation, no mention was made of the Senate investigation.

In the annual report the stockholders were told:

"The company has continued its policy respecting wage scales and the basis of operations in the fields which are discussed in the reports for the past two years. At the beginning of the year 1927 we had 6,273 employes and a daily output of 21,500 tons in the Pittsburgh district. At the close of the year our employes had risen to 8,829 and our daily output to 32,532 tons."

A slight complaint as to the cost of maintaining the coal and iron police was found in the following paragraph of the report:

"The total output of the mines in the Pittsburgh district for 1927 shows an increase of 164 per cent over the production for 1926, in spite of interference with operation by labor agitators. This friction necessitated the maintenance of an unusual police force throughout the year, at corresponding expense. We look forward with confidence to the gradual diminution of interference with the work of our employes and their safety in our mines. The expense thus caused can be expected steadily to diminish and the efficiency of our working force to increase."

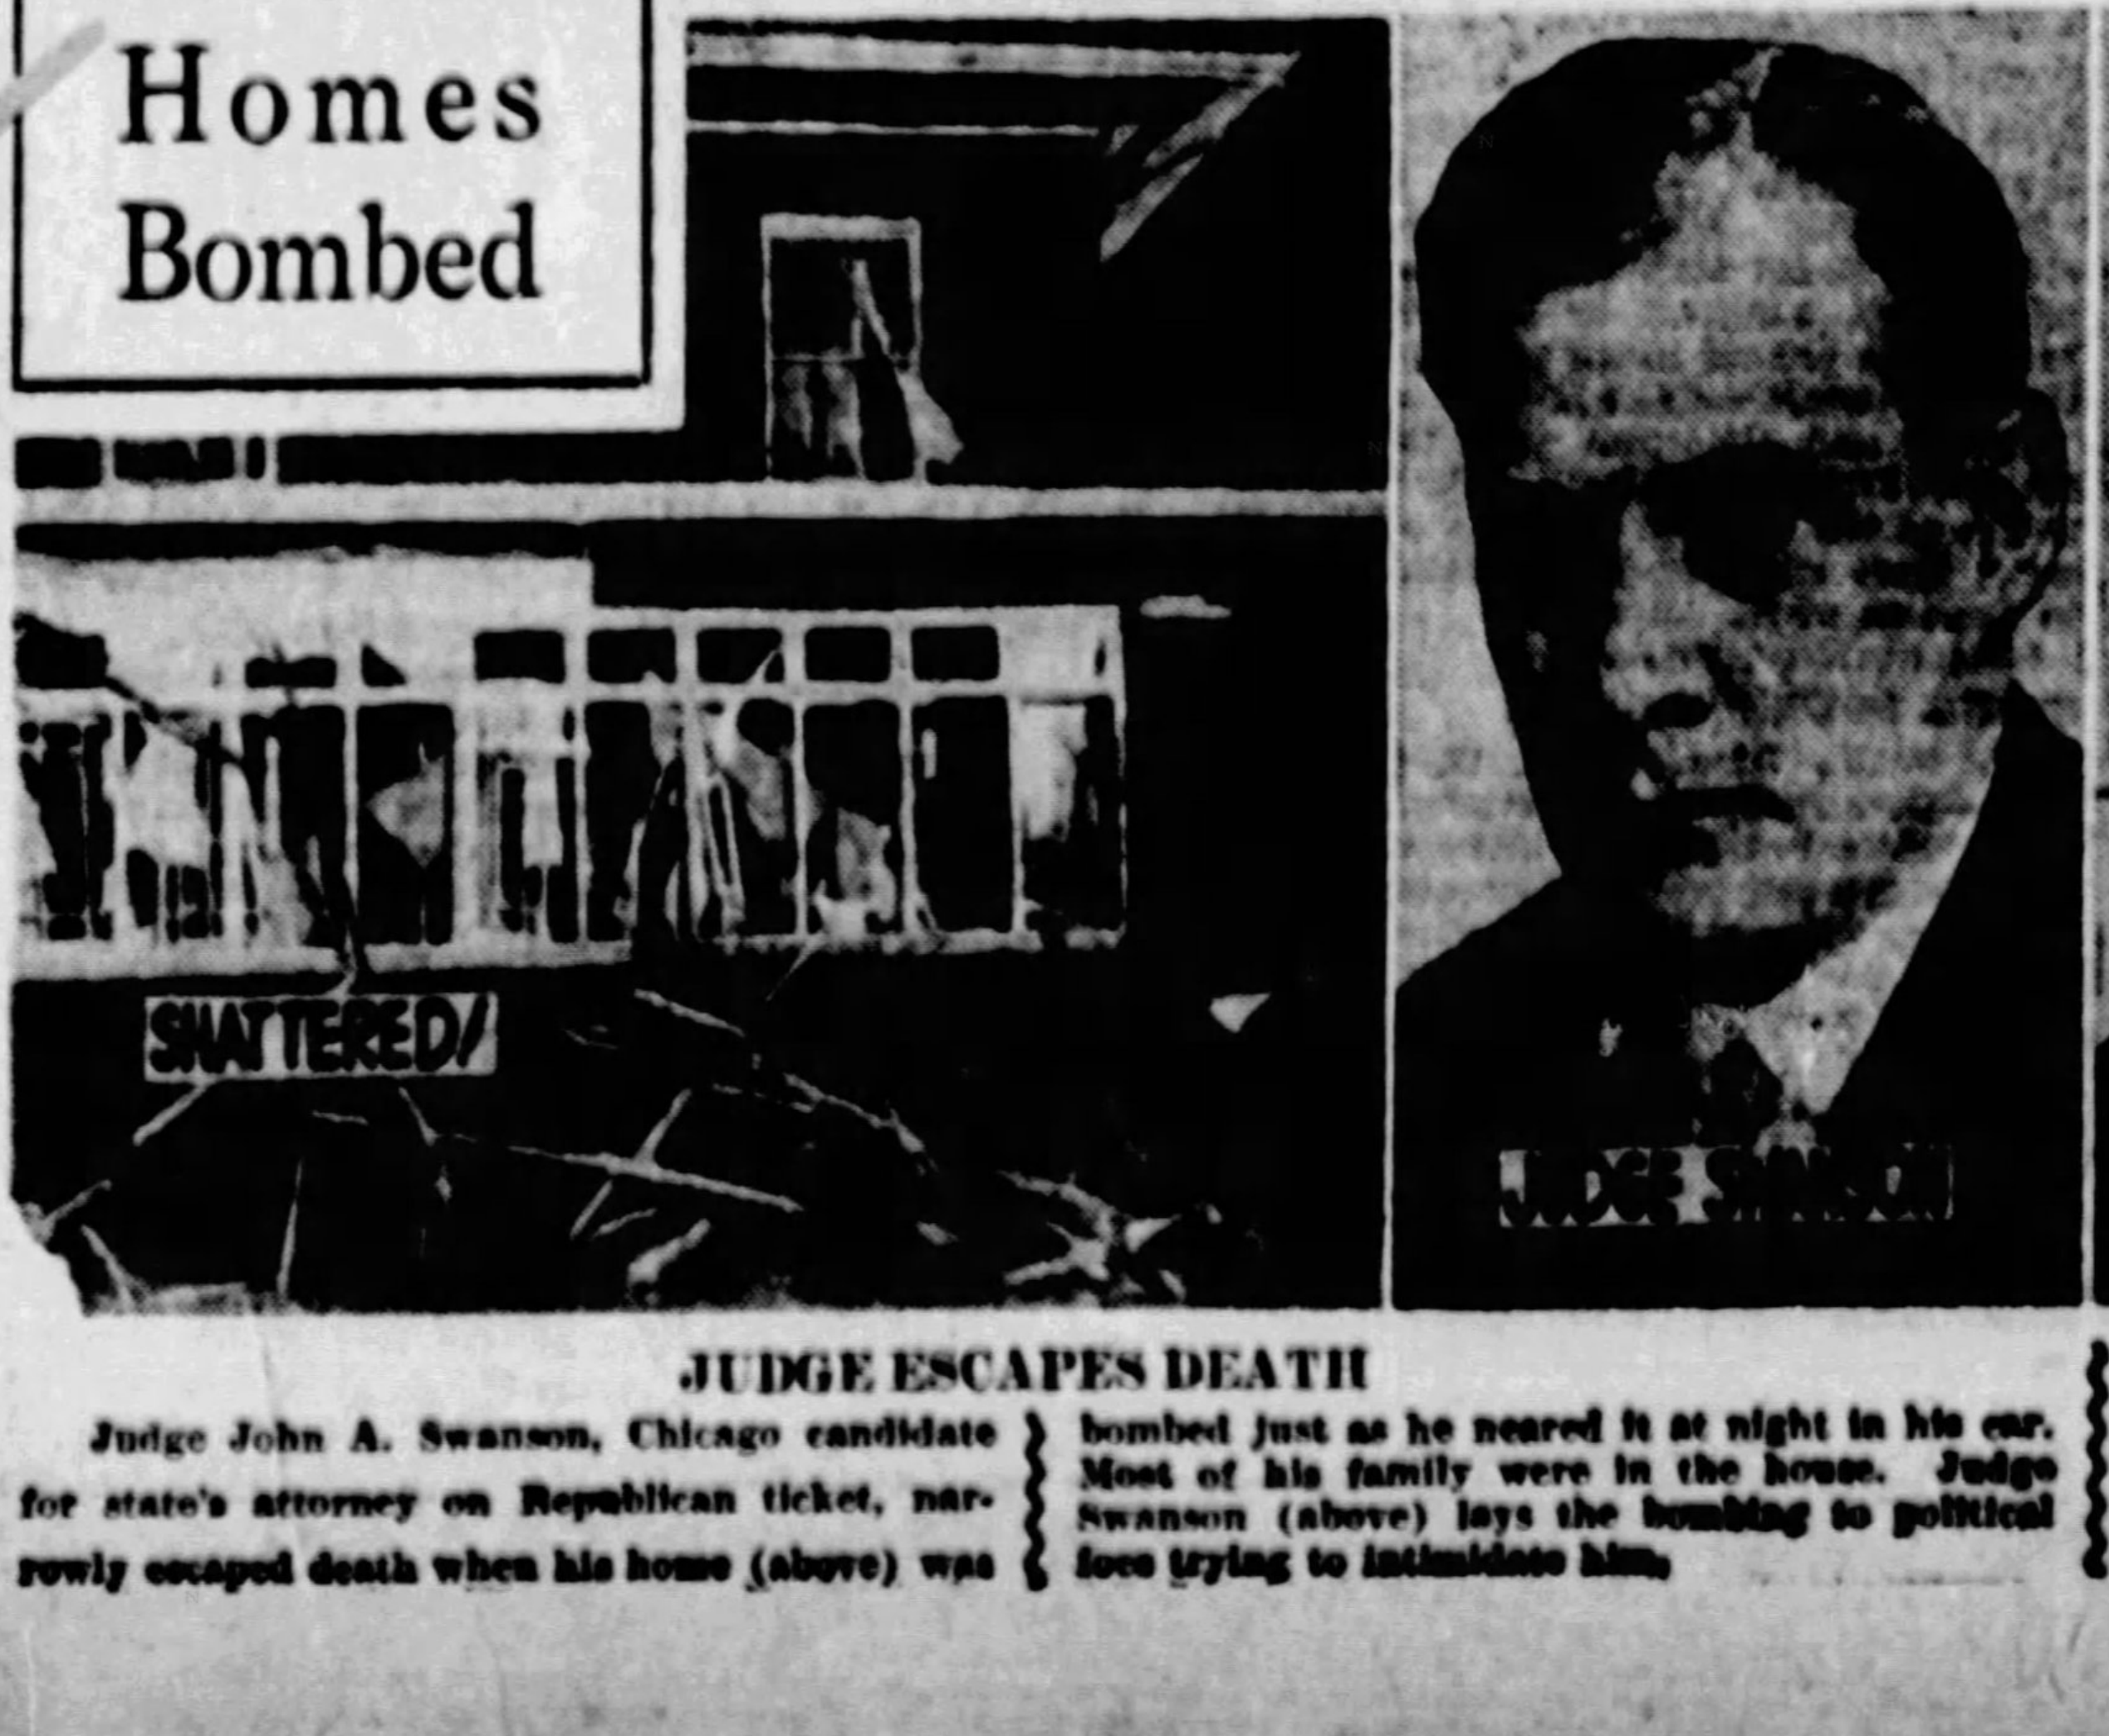
Homes Bombed



JUDGE ESCAPES DEATH

Judge John A. Swanson, Chicago candidate for state's attorney on Republican ticket, narrowly escaped death when his home (above) was bombed just as he neared it at night in his car. Most of his family were in the house. Judge Swanson (above) lays the bombing to political foes trying to intimidate him.

SENATOR VICTIM

United States Senator Charles S. Deneen (above) was also a victim of the unknown bombers, believed by police to be political enemies. When the bomb exploded, only Senator Deneen's sister and a maid were in the home, wrecked as shown above. Note how force of explosion shattered all windows.

EDNA LEEDOM

Edna Leedom, stage and vaudeville actress, secretly married Frank Doelger, millionaire son of the late Peter Doelger, brewer, it is whispered about today. It's Miss Leedom's third marriage. Doelger, Broadway gossips, backed the show, "Lovely Lady," in which Miss Leedom played the lead and from which an operation forced her to retire in February.

WOMAN ROBBED IN DAYLIGHT

A purse containing $900 was snatched from Miss Lillian Young of 274 Paulson avenue, yesterday afternoon while she was walking in Frankstown avenue at Penn avenue. Police of Frankstown Avenue Station were furnished descriptions of two Negroes who accosted Miss Young. The Negroes fled east in Frankstown avenue toward Station street.

BRIDGE BRINGS TRADE, RAID

The Liberty Bridge opening made a lot of traffic into the saloon at 1100 West Liberty avenue, and prohibition agents became traffic officers. They rerouted John Hasslan, 60, and William O'Donnell, 34, together with 28 gallons of moonshine, one gallon of wine and 48 gallons of beer to prohibition headquarters.

WINDS BALK GERMANS' HOP-OFF

DUBLIN, March 28.—Balked by unfavorable winds, the Junkers monoplane Bremen, in which three German airmen will hazard the dangers of a westward hop over the Atlantic, remained in its hangar at the Baldonnel airfield near here today.

Favorable weather reports received last night had given the fliers hope that they might start today, but later reports indicated that a hop-off would be foolhardy. If the adverse winds subside, the airmen will start at dawn tomorrow.

Capt. Hermann Koehl, the pilot, inspected the plane after it had been thoroughly overhauled, refueled and provisioned following its flight from Berlin. He said the plane was in perfect condition.

The Bremen will follow the southern or steamship route rather than the northern "great circle" heretofore followed by trans-Atlantic aviators, according to Baron Von Huenefeld, financial backer of the flight. The baron will go along as a passenger.

Capt. Koehl feels that by taking the southern route the danger of sleet formation will be materially lessened. To further offset this hazard the plane, before the start, will be completely paraffined.

Arthur Spindler, a German aviator-mechanic, who accompanied Koehl from Berlin to Dublin, will act as relief pilot on the flight.

If the German fliers succeed in their contemplated flight, they will have been the first to cross the Atlantic from Europe. Seven persons, two of them women, have never been heard from after attempting the westward hop.

Koehl and his companions are anxious to go. They have great confidence in their plane and do not ask for perfect weather. The Bremen was thoroughly tested last summer in its first trans-Atlantic attempt. Forced to turn back after passing the west coast of Ireland, it reached Dessau, Germany, safely after a flight of 2,200 miles under adverse conditions.

Koehl estimated it would take from 31 to 36 hours to reach Mitchel Field, L. I. The Bremen has a cruising range of 46 hours in good weather and 40 in bad weather. Its maximum speed is 130 miles an hour. It flies most economically at 90 miles an hour. On its flight from Berlin to Ireland it maintained an average speed of 105 miles an hour.

MAGEE WINS IN WARD CONTEST

A contest over the selection of ward committeemen in the Twelfth Ward resulted in a victory for the followers of James M. Magee, when Judge Harry W. Rowand dismissed five petitions from as many districts asking for the removal of committeemen and women.

The contest developed Tuesday, when Attorney M. Barney Cohen, representing followers of Congressman Harry W. Estep, attacked nomination papers in 13 districts of the ward on the ground of irregularities. A contest for the selection of a ward chairman is back of the fight.

Judge Rowand will pass upon eight more districts. The districts involved in the hearings yesterday were the Tenth, Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-fifth, petitions for the removal of district chairmen being denied.

OFFER $65,000 FOR BOMBERS

International News Service

CHICAGO, March 28.—A fortune of $65,000 today awaits the person who can name the men responsible for the ruthless bombings which Monday night endangered eight innocent lives and partly demolished the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge A. Swanson.

To make the reward offering more alluring, it provides that if the informant should be one of the actual perpetrators of the crime or in any manner involved, he will be immune from arrest and prosecution.

This huge reward, a record in Illinois for a crime involving no fatalities, was posted by 12 local Republican leaders, all opposed to the Republican faction headed by Senator Deneen.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, rival in the April primaries of Judge Swanson, headed the list with $10,000 of his personal fortune. Mayor William Hale Thompson, Crowe's political ally, added $5,000, as did Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes, a Thompson appointee.

Nine other leaders in the Thompson-Crowe organization, who contributed $5,000 each to the reward fund are: Homer K. Galpin, George F. Harding, Eugene R. Pike, Charles V. Barrett, Bernard W. Snow, Lawrence F. King, Edward J. Brundage, John W. Jaranowski and Sheriff John Graydon.

These men gave as their reason that they believed the bombings had been inspired by Deneen's own organization to "discredit Thompson and Crowe," and that they were more interested than anyone else in bringing the guilty to justice.

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner Hughes announces there have been "no arrests" and "no new developments" in the sensational case during the past 24 hours.

EARL CARROLL, TO BE "GOOD"

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—Earl Carroll, Broadway theatrical producer, today was free from the restrictions of the Federal parole under which he was released from Atlanta Penitentiary last October.

It will mean little to him, he says, because he intends to live as quietly and unostentatiously as his business will permit.

"The government need have no fear for my conduct," Carroll declared. "My lesson was a bitter one, bitterly learned. It has changed my whole life and the things I once considered important no longer are of the slightest importance."

The conditions of Carroll's parole, under which he was released from prison after serving several months of a year's term for perjury as a result of a grand jury investigation of his bathtub party, provided that he was to shun evil companions, drink no liquor, work conscientiously, and as a final curb he was not permitted to leave New York state. He was obliged to report to federal authorities at stated intervals.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

Years Younger than she used to be!

Her method easy. Says anyone can follow it

SHE JUST got tired of having strangers speak of her husband as "your son". Yet, goodness knows, she felt old enough to be his mother most of the time! And when she looked in the mirror she really couldn't blame people for what they said.

If you were to meet this same woman today, you'd think she was her husband's younger sister, at least. Vivid, radiant, full of "aliveness"—the sort of person who never grows old. With vitality to enjoy all the happy activities our modern life provides.

No face-lifting, no mysterious regime brought about this miracle. Nujol treatment did it. It took about 3 months in her case. But after the very first bottle she began to feel a difference in herself. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal. This natural, harmless product got at the real cause of the trouble and removed it.

If you feel draggy and out-of-sorts and years older than you should—why don't you try this Nujol treatment? It certainly would do no harm for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. And we feel sure it will help you. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey).

The whole 3-months treatment costs about the price of 3 good movies. Wouldn't you give that much to feel like yourself, again? Be sure you get the genuine.

We are Now in the Milk Business!

COMMENCING TODAY

12c A QUART

We have always believed that milk sold in our stores, to be carried home, should be sold at a price enough lower than the delivered price, to represent the cost of delivery. ❡Previous to this time and under the system in vogue in this city, it has been impossible to secure a sufficient supply of milk for our stores, except on a basis that necessitated its resale at the delivered price, plus one cent.

Now Comes a Change in the System

Recently, in order to improve the methods of marketing milk, the Dairymen's Milk Company, has been formed, with the co-operation of a group of the more progressive dairy farmers in the finest dairying region accessible to Pittsburgh. The milk from their farms will be sold to the housewives of Pittsburgh and vicinity through our stores. ❡We shall be able, regardless of the price established for milk delivered at the home, to sell it at our retail stores enough lower in price to represent approximately the cost of delivery.

Perfectly Balanced Co-operative Plan

The producer will get a better price for his milk than he gets under the old system, and this will always be based on the average retail price of milk. ❡The consumer who is willing to carry the milk home will thereby save approximately the cost of delivery. ❡The P. H. Butler Co. will thus be applying to milk, the same economical methods that they have been able to apply to all other food products they handle.

We are Enthusiastic—The Producers are Enthusiastic—You, too, Will be Enthusiastic

WOMAN DOCTOR, BRANDED AS FAKE, HELD

A Woodlawn woman described as a fake physician who "cured" all sorts of ailments by cutting a vein in the head of the patient, was held for court by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today on charges of practicing medicine without a license and performing an illegal operation.

She was Mrs. Barbara Dubitsh, 50, in whose home Detectives William Reese and Walter Marsh said they had found an operating table, medical cabinets, other hospital appliances and blood spots on the floor.

J. Megelman, Jr., of 1822 Bedford avenue, testified that he paid Mrs. Dubitsh $25 to cure his father. She severed a vein in his forehead, young Megelman averred.

Maurice Hackman, of 32½ Roberts street, told of paying Mrs. Dubitsh $20 to operate on his wife and then forbidding the operation when she planned to cut a vein in his wife's head.

REMOVE STEPS OF COURTHOUSE

Removal of the front steps of the venerable County Courthouse commenced this morning, when a steam shovel equipped with a 1,700-pound rock crusher attacked the Diamond street end.

The new front is to be Romanesque, with three entrances from the street and two staircases to the floor above. Contractor David T. Riffle said the work would cost $112,323 and require six months.

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN HIM

Local Aged Man Finds Ten Herbs a Boon; Suffered Years; Can Now Work.

"Although I am a man pretty well up in years and had been physically unable to work more than a few weeks in the last three years, Ten Herbs made a wonderful change in me," was the statement of Mr. John E. Baker, 133 Eureka Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "My system was in a very weakened condition, and I had indigestion so badly that I had to live on the lightest kind of diet, as a heavy meal would nauseate me and I would vomit," Mr. Baker continued. "Food fermented and formed gas. Some nights the pains in my stomach were so severe that I had to arise and walk the floor.

"I was always constipated, and my liver was sluggish. If I stooped over I got so dizzy that I could hardly straighten up. I had to arise several times at night, probably due to my kidneys. My feet and ankles would swell until I could not get my shoes on. I became very nervous and could sleep but little. My blood seemed to be thin and my circulation poor.

"Neighbors know the condition I was in, and they remark about the change in me since taking Ten Herbs. My appetite is good, and there is no fear of misery after eating, as there is never a sign of indigestion any more. My bowels have become regular, and my liver and kidneys are working fine. The dizzy spells and tired feeling have left me, and the pains in my back are gone. I do not have to arise at night, and can sleep the night through. My feet and ankles do not swell the way they did, and my circulation is better. My nerves are stronger, and I have gained so much in strength that now I am able to go to work again. If any sufferer is skeptical about trying Ten Herbs and will call on me, I will gladly tell him personally what Ten Herbs can do, as I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

The Plays Stage and Screen And Players

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Irving Cummings, Who Recently Won Limelight, to Direct Film About Companionate Marriage

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.

TURN the spotlight on Irving Cummings if you please. Mr. Cummings has been in the film business for years, first as an actor, then as a director. Nobody paid any particular attention to him until he directed a crook melodrama for Fox called "Dressed to Kill." It was a great success when it showed at Roxy Theater in New York, and everyone started talking about the man who megaphoned it.

Mr. Cummings' next picture is to be "Part-Time Marriage," a companionate marriage tale based on a magazine story by Bessie Beatty.

June Collyer and Earl Foxe have been selected to play this ultra modern story, and we are promised something special in the way of clothes, for Miss Collyer is now in New York doing her shopping.

Once upon a time, before Fred Niblo married Enid Bennett, he lived in Zanzibar. I might add long, long before Miss Bennett used her influence to bring her husband into the movies. At that time Mr. Niblo was an actor and the husband of George Cohan's sister, Josephine. To most of us Zanzibar is as remote as Jericho and as unknown.

It must have its interesting points for Mr. Niblo, basing his idea on his knowledge of this country, has written an exotic melodrama. For a long time he has had the idea that he would like to do a story laid in Zanzibar, but he has never been able to find a story that justified his somewhat extravagant idea. What is the lack of a story among directors? He went and wrote one himself. Having written it, he has now sold it to Louis B. Mayer, who has given him permission to direct it as soon as he finishes "War in the Dark."

There will be no particular star, Mr. Niblo choosing to assemble a cast in which all players are more or less well known. If you remember, he was the author of "The Red Lily," in which Enid Bennett was starred.

Everyone who knows Harry Cohn realized it would only be a question of time before he stepped out of the homemade story class and bought plays. He started in that direction when he sent a check for the screen rights to "It Is To Laugh," a play by Fannie Hurst. Miss Hurst first wrote "It Is To Laugh" for Cosmopolitan. Later she dramatized it.

The king is dead, long live the king. Rex King, Fox's original cowboy, chosen for westerns and later eliminated, is to live in another person. The name, Rex King, belongs to the Fox Company and they are keeping it right in the family. The selection for the one who will bear this name has now narrowed down to two boys, one of them George Belden, of Los Angeles, and the other Duke Morrison, a Glendale boy. What about the cowboys who were to be filmed in Texas at the rodeo? I asked that little question myself. It seems out of 12 tests sent back not one of them was as good as Belden and Morrison. Sort of hard on the cowboys who got all ready for the big fray.

Lindy's Air Career Depicted in Penn Film

Highlights in the flying career of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh are depicted in the film, "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh," which will be shown in the Penn next week. His historic non-stop flight to Paris, his reception at the French capital and in other European cities and his acclaim upon his return to America will be among the incidents shown. His air tour across the United States and his journey to Latin-America, with various episodes filmed en route, also are included in the picture. The film will be shown simultaneously in various Loew theaters throughout the country next week.

FRANK CRAVEN COMING

Frank Craven in his own comedy, "The Nineteenth Hole," comes to the Nixon next week. Dorothy Blackburn plays opposite Mr. Craven and in his support are Kitty Kelly, Marion Abbott, Josephine Deffrey, Homer Barton, Roy Cochrane, Robert Wayne, Charles MacDonald, Harry Lewellyn, Walter Downing and Howard Sydney. Seats for the engagement will be placed on sale tomorrow morning.

Van & Schenck, known as "The Pennant-Winning Battery of Songland," will headline the Davis Theater, Keith-Albee vaudeville bill next week. The screen attraction is to be Madge Bellamy in "Soft Living."

Raymond Griffith En Route to Europe

Raymond Griffith, famous high-hat comedian of the screen, is on his way to Italy for a vacation of several weeks. Accompanied by his wife, Bertha Mann, the actress, Griffith sailed from New York Saturday.

Griffith, who signed a contract recently with Howard Hughes, president of the Caddo Company, for a series of comedies, plans to be in Rome by Easter. He expects to have an audience with the Pope, and will visit other Italian cities before returning to America.

The silk-hat comedian will return to Hollywood by June 1 to begin production on his first Caddo picture, in which he will be teamed with Louis Wolheim. Griffith and Wilson Mizner, playwright and globe-trotter, are collaborating on the story, a comedy-drama, as yet untitled.

POLYPHONIC CHOIR IN ORATORIO TONIGHT

The Pittsburgh Polyphonic Choir will present Rossini's oratorio, "The Son of Man," in the Carnegie Music Hall tonight and Thursday night. The choir will be assisted by a symphony orchestra. Frank Cuthbert, New York baritone, will appear as soloist. The performances under the direction of the Rev. Carlo Rossini, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, are being offered as a benefit for the Protectory of Homeless Boys.

Schumann-Heink's Son Is Soldier On Screen

F. Schumann-Heink, son of Mme. Schumann-Heink, noted singer, is playing an important character role in the aviation drama, "Hell's Angels."

Schumann-Heink is one of Hollywood's prominent character performers. He appeared in "Four Sons," "The Wedding March" and other recent productions before joining the "Hell's Angels" roster as a German officer.

The singer's son had an interesting career before coming to Hollywood. He has traveled extensively, was educated abroad, hunted big game in Africa and India, and at one time was a reporter on New York City newspapers.

Young Collier Is Signed Up by Warners

William Collier, Jr., who has been free-lancing successfully in the motion picture field for some time, has been anchored to a contract. The anchoring was done by Jack L. Warner and the result will be that the young actor will be seen in a series of Warner Bros.' feature pictures.

Young Collier, one of the most popular juveniles on the screen, has already been seen in several of the Warner pictures, notably in the support of Irene Rich in "The Desired Woman," and Dolores Costello in "The College Widow." He has an outstanding role in "The Lion and the Mouse," his work in this film determining the Warners on securing his services for several of next season's important releases.

Don't Be Skinny and Scrawny
New YEAST and IRON will add pounds of weight in 3 Weeks—or Pay Nothing

If you are skinny as a rail and can hardly drag your tired body through each day, do something to put on good, firm flesh. Start right now taking Ironized Yeast and get pounds of weight where you need it.

How YEAST and IRON Makes Weight and Strength

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

It clears the blood of impurities that ruin complexion, so that you get a clear healthy skin. Go to your druggist and get a handy bottle. It will prove to you that you can be made attractive and healthy. Pleasant, tasty tablets in a bottle. They do not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Just ask your druggist for a full size treatment. If you are not satisfied with the quick results, get your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from the druggist, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 119 11 11.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.

AMUSEMENTS.

SEES HOUSING AT STANDSTILL 20 YRS. HERE

Pittsburgh's housing situation has not improved in 20 years, according to the findings of Dr. M. C. Elmer, of the department of sociology of the University of Pittsburgh. In a report to a group of representatives of social agencies, civic organizations and public service corporations, at the William Penn Hotel yesterday, Dr. Elmer declared that today there are fewer undesirable houses that 20 years ago, but that more people are living in them.

Planning for constructive work of modern rehabilitation was the immediate result of this gloomy report and a committee was appointed to organize a permanent housing association. This committee will obtain a charter, draft constitution and by-laws and report within a few weeks. It is headed by A. K. Oliver, who acted as temporary chairman of yesterday's meeting. Ruel W. Elton, of the Chamber of Commerce, is secretary.

Members of the committee besides Chairman Oliver, ex-officio, are: W. W. Acheson, G. Brown Hill, I. F. Lehman, Lester Bernstein, A. Oseroff, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Frederic Bigger, Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, David Goldner, R. S. Gough, Dr. Francis Tyson.

Organizations represented in the movement are: Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, Associated Charities of Pittsburgh, Urban League, Federation of Social Agencies, Jewish Family Welfare Association, Irene Kaufmann Settlement, Pittsburgh Conference of Jewish Women's Organizations, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, Citizens' Committee on City Plan, Community Welfare Fund, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, Chamber of Commerce, Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, Philadelphia Company, Woods Run Settlement, University of Pittsburgh, American Red Cross, Carnegie Steel Company.

DIVORCES SOUGHT BY TWO UNHAPPY WIVES

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows: Helen M. Hoellein, 2816 Spring street, Mt. Oliver, against Fred Hoellein, cruel and barbarous treatment; Mary Jane Brooks, 2822 California avenue, against John Williams Brooks, desertion.

Rumor Confirmed

Head of Furniture Store Admits Negotiations Have Been in Progress.

At the offices of the Hamburger Furniture Company, 927 Penn Avenue, today, the rumor of an impending deal involving the business was confirmed. Alex Hamburger, president of the company, admitted that negotiations had been in progress, although all details had not been worked out.

Mr. Hamburger refused to state the nature of the deal, claiming that until arrangements had been approved by the Board of Directors, he was in no position to make an announcement. Whether the deal is in the nature of a merger, or whether the Hamburger store is to liquidate, could not be learned today.

The Hamburger store is one of the oldest retail furniture establishments in Pittsburgh, occupying the entire six-floor building at 927 Penn Avenue.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

With End of Lent Near Social Life Soon Will Be Amplified by Many Entertainments

WITH Easter not far off—just a week from Sunday—social life soon will be amplified by many entertainments, large and small, which have been more or less tabu during the Lenten season.

The younger set does not care to wait always until Easter comes for its spring round of parties, however, and one cannot blame its members. For many of them are still in schools and colleges. During the precious 10 days of their spring vacations, almost all of which come before Easter, they feel the need of social gaiety after the long weeks spent in the classroom and laboratory. And there are to be parties for them. Most of them, to be sure, will be rather small. I haven't heard of any large dances.

Rachel Eleanor Heppenstall, daughter of the C. W. Heppenstalls, of Woodland road, motored home, leaving Poughkeepsie with a party of friends and driving to Washington. She arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by one of her classmates, Katherine Harding, of Houston, Tex. Rachel, as you know, is a student at Vassar.

Rachel will entertain at a dinner and theater party this evening in honor of her guest.

And Rachel also will entertain at a dinner on Friday night for members of the Baird-Heppenstall bridal party. Esther May Baird, daughter of the William A. Bairds, of Washington, Pa., will wed Charles Henry Heppenstall, of Philadelphia, on April 4, you'll recall. She will be a bridesmaid at the ceremony.

Some of the school set have taken advantage of the spring vacation to visit Palm Beach. Quite an ideal spot, don't you think, for such an event in the life of a schoolgirl? And those "vacationing" in Palm Beach are surely being entertained. At least Margaret and Ann Rose, subdeb daughters of the Don Roses, of Sewickley, are being feted. They are the guests, you'll recall, of the Christopher D. Smithers at their Gulf Stream home at the Beach.

Mabel Smithers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smithers, who is a classmate of the Rose girls, entertained Monday night in the home of her parents with a dinner, followed by dancing, in honor of Margaret and Ann. Dinner was served in the patio, lighted with "blue moons" and festoons of colored lights. An orchestra played during the dinner and later for the dancing.

Among those present, besides the honor guests, were Mary Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons, Susie Alexander and Laughlin Alexander.

Mabel Smithers and the Rose girls will return to the Porter School at Farmington on April 9.

Aiken, South Carolina, is going to be especially popular with sports lovers this week, for the Southern Cross golf tournament is taking place on the Palmetto links. And among the entrants are J. Frederick Byers, of Sewickley, and Eben M. Byers, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Byers have as their guest Roy A. Rainey, of New York, secretary of the Aiken Gun Club.

Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., who has been spending some time in Aiken, has gone to Virginia Hot Springs. In between her visit to these popular winter resorts, she "sandwiched" a visit to New York.

Among the Pittsburgh colony at White Sulphur Springs is Mrs. William S. Masten. Mrs. Masten will entertain 10 children today at Kates Mountain Club in honor of her little daughter, Nancy Lee Masten. Nancy Lee is celebrating her eighth birthday.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Jean E. Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliott Wallace, of Princess avenue, Beechview, formerly of the North Side, to Charles M. Smith, of McKeesport.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Madeleine McCarthy, of Salina street, Squirrel Hill, and Bruce Wandell, of Detroit, which was solemnized Saturday.

Sterling Court No. 50, Order of the Amaranth, will hold a card party Friday afternoon in Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium. Mrs. Clara N. Moore is chairman.

The marriage of Miss Charity Louise Brown, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Elliott Wakeley, of Celeron street, and John Jay Rohrer, son of Dr. and Mrs. George R. Rohrer, of Lancaster, was solemnized today at 12:30 o'clock in the morning chapel of Calvary Episcopal Church by the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Van Etten. Only the families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a breakfast in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brown, of Woodwell street. Miss Ruth Lee Brown was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Barbara Barr, of Boston, was bridesmaid. Henry A. Rohrer, of Lancaster, was his brother's best man and the ushers included Wilbur A. Kindley, of Detroit, and David P. Reese, Jr., of Harrisburg.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Rachael Ellen Heck, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Heck, of East Liberty, to Dr. P. Thomas Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kidd, of Wilkinsburg. An early fall wedding is planned.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. James E. Walker, of Astoria, Long Island, formerly of Pittsburgh, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Katherine Walker, to Drury Walls Cooper, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Drury W. Cooper, of Montclair, N. J. Miss Walker is a graduate of the Scudder School and Mr. Cooper was graduated from Rutgers College in 1923. He is now in New York University Law School. No wedding date has been set. Dr. Walker is pastor of the Astoria Presbyterian Church.

SUMMER WEDDING

MISS LAURA E. M'MILLAN

Miss Laura E. McMillan's engagement to William E. Sproul, Ingram, will terminate in an early summer wedding. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. McMillan, Zephyr avenue, Sheraden.

OAKMONT CLUB GIVES MUSICALE AT WILLOWS

About 200 women, members of the Oakmont Woman's Club and their guests, attended the musicale which the club gave yesterday afternoon at the Willows. The event was something of an innovation with the Oakmont organization, combining, as it did, the annual recital and reception for presidents of other clubs. The program, which was one of merit, was presented by Mrs. M. Aubrey Smith, chairman of music. Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl was the speaker and in a brief but interesting talk traced the history of the club movement from the time of the first "mutton pie" clubs in England to the sporting and political clubs through to the big General Federation in this country with its present membership of 3,000,000 women. Mrs. Diehl also stressed the need for club companionship and the development of new ideas and growth in club life.

The club sextet, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Baldridge, tenor and contralto; Mrs. William Wilson Colledge, soprano; Mrs. T. H. McGraw, reader; Miss Alberta Yeaglin, pianist, and Mrs. Roy E. Schumaker, accompanist, gave the remainder of the afternoon's entertainment and the social committee took charge of the tea hour.

Steinway pianos are not — and never have been — built to meet a price. They are made as well as human skill can make them, and the price is determined later. The result is the world's finest piano.

AGED MAN INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Thomas Kenny, 73, of 428 Duquesne way suffered fractures of both legs last midnight when hit by an automobile in Liberty avenue near Second avenue. BANQUET ENDS LIBERTY SPAN DEDICATION

A banquet and dance attended by more than 1,200 persons at the William Penn Hotel last night climaxed one of Allegheny county's greatest celebrations of a public improvement—the opening and dedication of the new Liberty bridge.

The gala function was sponsored by allied civic bodies of the South Hills. It was staged in honor of the county commissioners.

So enthusiastic was the affair that Mayor Charles H. Kline, one of the honored guests, lifted the midnight dancing ban and permitted merrymakers to dance until 2 o'clock this morning.

Glowing tribute was paid the county commissioners by the speakers, who pointed out that the building of Liberty Bridge was the greatest improvement made in Pittsburgh since the cutting of the "hump."

The guests were given an unexpected treat. Acts from the different theaters were put on through the courtesy of the Harris Amusement Company.

The banquet was opened by invocation by the Rev. U. Franklin Smiley. H. A. Jackson, general chairman, introduced the toastmaster, George E. Meyers, who in turn presented the speakers. Senator Max G. Leslie and County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, listed as speakers, were unable to attend. It was stated they were ill.

Those who spoke were Prof. J. F. Moore, principal of the Brookline public schools; Attorney A. C. Leslie, Congressman Harry A. Estep, Mayor Kline, County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, former Commissioner James Houlahen and W. J. Clyde, president of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Am here in Pittsburgh, but am the only person that didn't come to investigate the coal situation. Henry Ford is paying eight dollars a day and having no trouble in his mines.

Ain't it funny when it looks like a business can't be run right, he bobs up and shows that it can! I believe that fellow could make a farm pay.

Talk about Andy Mellon's great treasury record, you ought to see his state political one. He is the only man since Mussolini in Italy that controls both the Republican and Democratic delegations to both conventions.

I think he wil instruct both delegations for Coolidge.

It's almost worth making a trip just to eat this ham. On the menu of all Pennsylvania Dining Cars this week.

Baked Virginia Ham—with Pineapple Sauce!
on Pennsylvania Diners this week

VIRGINIA HAM—tender, well-fed, delicately flavored—ham cured by men who have made an art of it . . . boiled and spiced by a man who understands hams, and then baked with care until every delicate flavor within it stirs to life!

Crackly, brown-skinned, sweet, spicy, flavorous, heart-cheering ham, served with a sauce of good brown gravy and currant jelly and diced, fresh, sun-reared pineapple! There are no words that really describe such a ham—just none at all. You can only say "Baked Ham, Pennsylvania"—and let it go at that.

But you can taste it for yourself this week on Pennsylvania diners. It's pretty nearly worth a trip just for itself.

And if you should happen to be one of those who have no taste at all for ham, there will be for you other dishes so delicious that no one need feel sorry for you.

Pennsylvania menus are famous, (among the knowing) for their rich variety and the unvarying excellence that makes every dish appear a masterpiece.

Attractive Eyes Depend Much Upon Health

ONE of the most attractive of the features is the human eye. It matters not whether the eye is large or small, light or dark, if it is clear and bright. It makes instant appeal.

The "white" of the eye must be white. It must not be yellow or muddy in appearance. It must be free from engorged blood vessels.

What are the causes of bloodshot eyes? Some persons get up every morning with red eyes. They may bleach out after a while, but as soon as the light strikes them they get red.

Other persons have such sensitive eyes that to ride in the wind, or to face the sun, will cause the white of the eye to become engorged with blood. Dust and smoke are most irritating to them.

I need not speak of the effect of a foreign body. It is to be expected, of course, that this would cause the eye to become inflamed. In nine cases out of ten, the reason for a bloodshot eye can be found in eye strain. The need of glasses, either for reading, for distance or for both uses, is likely to be the cause of all the trouble.

When you have your eyes tested to see if glasses are needed, the examination will include a test to see if the eye muscles are normal. It happens sometimes that the eyes are not doing teamwork. Each may do very well by itself, but from an inability to work together serious strain may result. There is a lack of muscle-balance which will produce bloodshot eyes.

Of course there are diseases of the lining of the lids or of the eye covering, which may produce redness. This membrane is called the "conjunctiva" and inflammation of it is known as conjunctivitis.

"Granulated eyelids" and "pink eye" are forms of conjunctivitis. Redness of the tissues is a symptom of every form.

The margins of the eyelids become inflamed. This is another cause for the bloodshot condition.

If your eyes easily inflame, or if there is a tendency to have obstinate redness, it is essential that you should have a thorough examination. It is not proper to permit any congestion to go untreated.

The trouble may be due to a condition so trifling that it may be removed by a very simple procedure. Do not permit your prejudice against glasses to keep you from finding the cause of the redness.

Even if you need glasses, it may well be that they will be worn only part of the time, when you are reading or sewing, or when facing weather or bright lights. There are special makes of glass intended to shut out irritating rays.

Answers to Health Queries

H. C. M. Q.—What causes cold sores and what will cure them?

A.—This condition is usually due to acid in the system, caused by faulty diet and poor elimination.

A. C. R. Q.—What do you advise for a tanned complexion?

A.—Some persons have a naturally dark skin; in this case nothing can be done. If, however, the condition is due to exposure to the sun, bleaching with equal parts of peroxide and lemon juice may be helpful. This may be drying to the skin, in which case a little cold cream should be applied after using.

M. T. D. Q.—What causes a soreness inside of me? I am constipated.

A.—You may be suffering from hyperacidity, an acid condition of the system. Your diet should be corrected and constipation overcome. For further details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

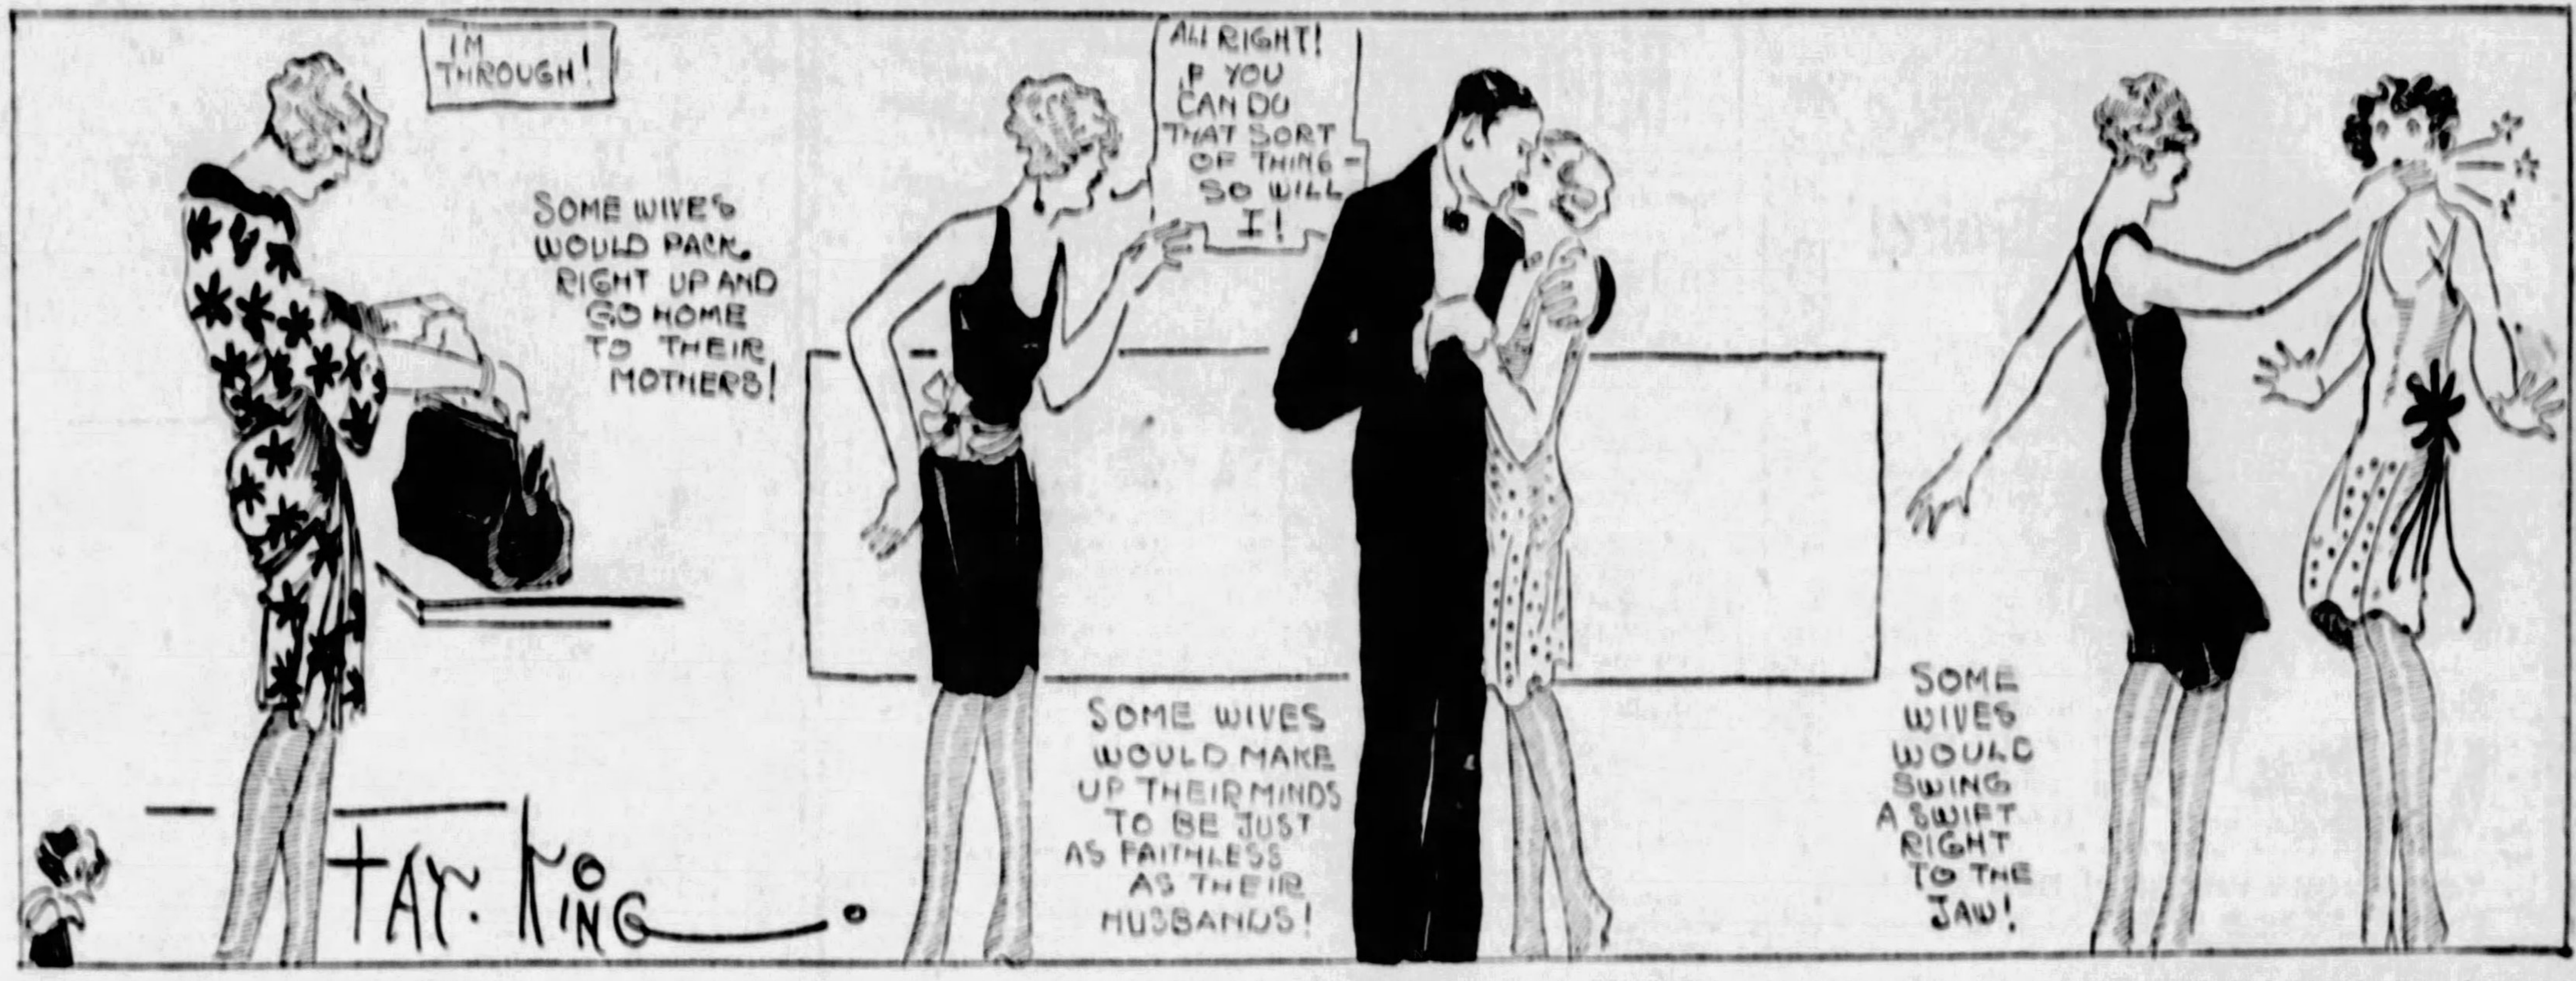
Fay King Tells How to Square the Triangle



I'M THROUGH!
SOME WIVES WOULD PACK RIGHT UP AND GO HOME TO THEIR MOTHERS!
ALL RIGHT! IF YOU CAN DO THAT SORT OF THING—SO WILL I!
SOME WIVES WOULD MAKE UP THEIR MINDS TO BE JUST AS FAITHLESS AS THEIR HUSBANDS!
SOME WIVES WOULD SWING A SWIFT RIGHT TO THE JAW!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WHAT would you do if you suddenly saw your husband kissing another woman?

"Why, I'd leave him at once!" says one wife.

"I'd show him," says another. "If he can get away with the stuff like that, so can I!"

"I'd slap her face and teach her a good lesson. That's what I'd do!" emphatically says yet another!

But one wife, a little wiser I think, admits she would do nothing, but wait and watch developments.

In this day of quick divorce and exaggerated independence, wives are a little inclined to be too quick to assert themselves and sometimes make matters worse than better.

In this day of parties and petting, it is not so much flaming youth as the frivolous married ones who make most of the trouble.

Good husbands are hard to get and easy to lose these days.

Scenes and separations do not help matters.

Wives who step out because their husbands have been careless and thoughtless do themselves much harm, for, in spite of racy fiction, a home is still as good as the woman in it!

A father may fail in his duties and responsibilities, but a good loyal wife and mother can always keep her home beyond the reproach of his philandering!

If considered wisely, a slight misstep may be made the beginning of a better understanding and a greater trust, instead of the beginning of the end!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

COMMERCIALIZED SENTIMENT

AN ENTERPRISING greeting card firm is making an attempt to establish a "Sweethearts' Day," in June.

This may be commercialized sentiment, but it is one of a hundred good signs, that we see on every side these days. It is a sign that the world WANTS sentiment, that romance is not dead, and that young love has not yet joined the Dinosaurus.

HELEN ROWLAND

All the most popular screen plays are highly colored with romance, gooey with sentiment, and replete with plain old-fashioned love—the kind that father used to make. All the most popular screen stars are the great lovers and the enchantresses.

All the magazines are clamoring for love-stories and articles of love and marriage. And all the songs that come to you over the radio are love-ballads about gardens and moonlight and broken hearts and old-fashioned sweethearts. Beautiful signs of the times.

We may talk about safe and sane new modes of marriage, moan that all the world's going to the devil and the divorce court, wail that the modern man is just a lump of proto-plasm and the modern girl as unsentimental as a cold boiled potato—but if that be true, why all this commercialized sentiment?

Nobody would be trying to commercialize sentiment, if there were not a large and profitable market for it. Greeting card firms and makers of valentines are not altruists. They are wise guys who are giving the public what it is clamoring for.

And this old world has been FED UP with cynicism and synthetic love and petting parties and sex-talk and hard-boiled virgins and cold-blooded propositions for de-naturing marriage. It is clamoring for romance, as it never has before!

We are sick of champagne and truffles and caviar, and hungering for good old-fashioned food for the soul and the affections and the emotions.

We are thirsting for the glamor and the glory of romance—even though we may have to take them vicariously.

We may talk of companionate marriage, and unions based on nothing but common sense, and eugenic babies, and sex experiments.

But we can't beat old Dame Nature, who put that mating instinct in us and colored it up with ROMANCE, flavored it with sentiment, and coated it with idealistic love—just as the druggist disguises the medicine with the pretty pink candy. We may fool ourselves, but we can't fool Divine Wisdom!

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Thursday, March 29

Astrology in a true sense is the science of the stars—the unseen law of the Universe which governs humanity.—ALEN LEO.

WHILE this day, according to the lunar transits, may encourage exploration into new ventures and undertakings of a subtle or irregular nature, yet, on the whole, it may not be predicted as a fortunate one.

There is much peril in the handling of finances and there may be complications regarding the signing of letters, documents or with publications and contracts. Litigation and deals with those in prominent places should be postponed.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of financial hazard unless they safeguard their money, sign papers carefully and avoid litigation. They may take new projects under consideration for future effort.

A child born on this day should be capable and ambitious, but may be sensitive, subtle, crafty and disposed to squander its substance unless given early training in the other direction.

Notable Nativity: Frank Leslie, publisher.

Remember the Spout

The spout should not be forgotten when washing the tea-pot, as old leaves are liable to collect there. A bottle brush of the tapered kind—which costs only about 5 cents—is best for this purpose. It pushes easily into the spout and removes all stain. Also it is useful for cleaning the crevices round the handles of cups, jugs and the like.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Tom

DEAR MISS GALE:

I, too, agree with you, and also "Silvers" on the kissing and smoking questions. I do not believe in girls smoking and drinking. I do not claim myself as Sir Galahad, but I certainly believe in girls of this type "Silvers." I can dance fairly, but not the jazz type, and yet my friends make a fool of me. Some boys dance for "love." I mean boys that are looking for steadies. I am sorry to say that I am still in the old fashioned stage, although I am only 19. I am homely. I do not roam around places like some of these loafers. I work very hard and I also stay home, but once in a while I go to dances. I've met many, many pretty girls, but I cannot fall in love with any, on account of the simple reason they are too jazzy for me. The second reason, I do not believe in "love." Miss Gale, I am writing you the one reason why I do not believe in love. I have heard friends tell me the reason girls cannot make out with me is because I am too manly. I can't understand them and this word "manly." I do not consider myself good looking; I never kissed a girl; I never had a date with them. I ask them what do they mean by "manly" and they say I am too homely and not in the jazz stage. They like me as a friend. I do the best I can to treat them right. I do all I possibly can do and yet I cannot change. Can you tell me what is wrong with me. As I said before, I do not consider myself good looking, but friends tell me I am fair.

TOM.

I find your letter a bit incoherent, Tom. However, I will say that the girls probably mean that you are trustworthy and reliable when they call you "manly." Be a little more friendly with them and they will like you better.

Hello

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been going with a boy for four years and we are going to be married in a year or so. When my friend come to see me, all he ever says is, "Hello." If we have an engagement and I meet him in town, he only says "Hello." No matter where we go or what time of the day we meet, that is all he will say. As soon as I see him I greet him with a pet name or something very friendly. I have lots of pet names for him and would never think of just saying, "Hello." Dear Miss Gale, I hope you won't think this too trifling a matter, but I really think that this boy should greet me in a more friendly way. It would be all right if we were just good friends, but as I stated above, we have known one another for several years and are going to be married. I have asked him quite a number of times, the next time he comes to see me, to greet me more friendly, and not to just say, "Hello." I thought, Miss Gale, that it would be well for me to do likewise and act the very same way. Do you think that by doing this, it will waken him up a little?

"HELLO."

Many men do not care to use pet names my dear, and many devoted husbands greet their wives with that same "Hello." Don't waste this happy time with such small naggings, my dear.

Just "Billie"

DEAR MISS GALE:

Your advice to others is wonderful and now I am writing for some. I am very much in love with a boy who works at a store. He always gives me candy and asks to take me to shows or, rather, asks other boys to ask me to go with him. Other boys tell me that he said he likes me, but, dear Miss Gale, don't you think that if he did like me he would tell me himself, although he is very bashful. Should I believe what other boys have told me about him liking me?

JUST "BILLIE."

Just take it for granted that he is a little shy as yet, my dear. He probably likes you very much.

THE ROAD OF UNUSUAL SERVICE

A Joy Glass
To start the day right
To eliminate the waste
When you arise in the morning feeling dull it is probably because the system is clogged with poison and waste.
Eliminate that poison as quickly as you can. This is the easy, pleasant way.
Drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Add a little "Epsonade." That will make a sparkling drink. The result is to flush the intestines.
Don't wait. Don't say, "Tonight I will correct the conditions." A day will be lost. Correct them in an hour.
Then remember that the same results can come any hour of the day. Any hour you need them. They come in a quick, pleasant, gentle way. They come from acids of lemon and grape.
Let a test show you what "Epsonade" means. It will be a revelation. Get a small quantity, at small cost, at your druggists.

A Man of Rare Professional Attainment
The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the late Ray V. Pierce, M. D. At first he practiced medicine in Western Pennsylvania and his unusual ability and success were soon recognized there, then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary where his famous home remedies have ever since been made.
Each succeeding year the sale of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been greatly increased. Evidently people appreciate the fact that it increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, helps to enrich the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young. It contains no harmful ingredient.
Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for a trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

BOYS' CLUB BUYS HOME

NEW BUILDING TO WIDEN SCOPE

The Pittsburgh Boys Club, 2813 Penn avenue, according to an announcement made this morning, has purchased the building and fixtures of the Lawrenceville Young Men's Christian Association, Forty-fifth and Butler, and will take occupancy May 1.

The Boys Club will appeal to the public April 9 to 18 for $200,000, with which to finance the purchase of this building, make alterations, provide for its maintenance, and establish an endowment fund.

The transfer has been handled by Charles D. Armstrong, an official both of the Y. M. C. A. and the Boys Club. Working with him have been R. W. Harbison, Robert W. Kiser, and Frederic B. Shipp and J. W. Lodge of the Boys Club. The representatives of both organizations believe that this arrangement assures a larger and better service for the boys of the Lawrenceville and Strip districts, and with a considerable reduction in the combined expense. Each organization will hereafter be responsible for the line of service for which it is especially qualified.

MAY SERVE 6,000 BOYS

The directors of the Boys Club, which has been operating in Pittsburgh for five years, handicapped by inadequate facilities, feel that it is particularly fitted for work in this field, because it is fundamentally non-sectarian. It, therefore, serves boys of every race and creed, and addresses itself particularly to boys between the ages of 8 and 18. Within that age limit, there are approximately 6,000 boys who can be served from this new center.

The building is a three-story brick structure, 30x90 feet, erected in 1912. In the basement is a fully equipped gymnasium, 70 by 36 feet; a 7-foot swimming pool, 60 feet by 20 feet; four bowling alleys, a locker, and eight shower rooms. On the first floor are the lobby, the offices game room, and reading room. On the second floor are a balcony to the gymnasium, auditorium, seven club rooms and one shower. The third floor contains 24 dormitory rooms with shower and wash-room accommodation. When the Boys Club takes possession of its new building, it will be so altered that the first floor will be devoted to junior boys, the second floor to the intermediates, and the third floor to the seniors with accommodation for the pre-vocational class rooms.

As the Boys Club takes over the Lawrenceville Young Men's Christian Association with its facilities, it will be equipped to carry on the regular program of the 260 Boys Clubs in the United States. This includes classes in pre-vocational guidance, printing, wood-working, electricity and dramatics, educational programs, medical and dental clinics, gymnasium classes, swimming classes, library, reading rooms and game rooms, which will care for junior, intermediate and senior memberships. In addition the Boys Club has a playground, which, during the summer, is supervised by a competent director, and also a summer camp of 44 acres at Valencia.

1,040 MEMBERSHIP

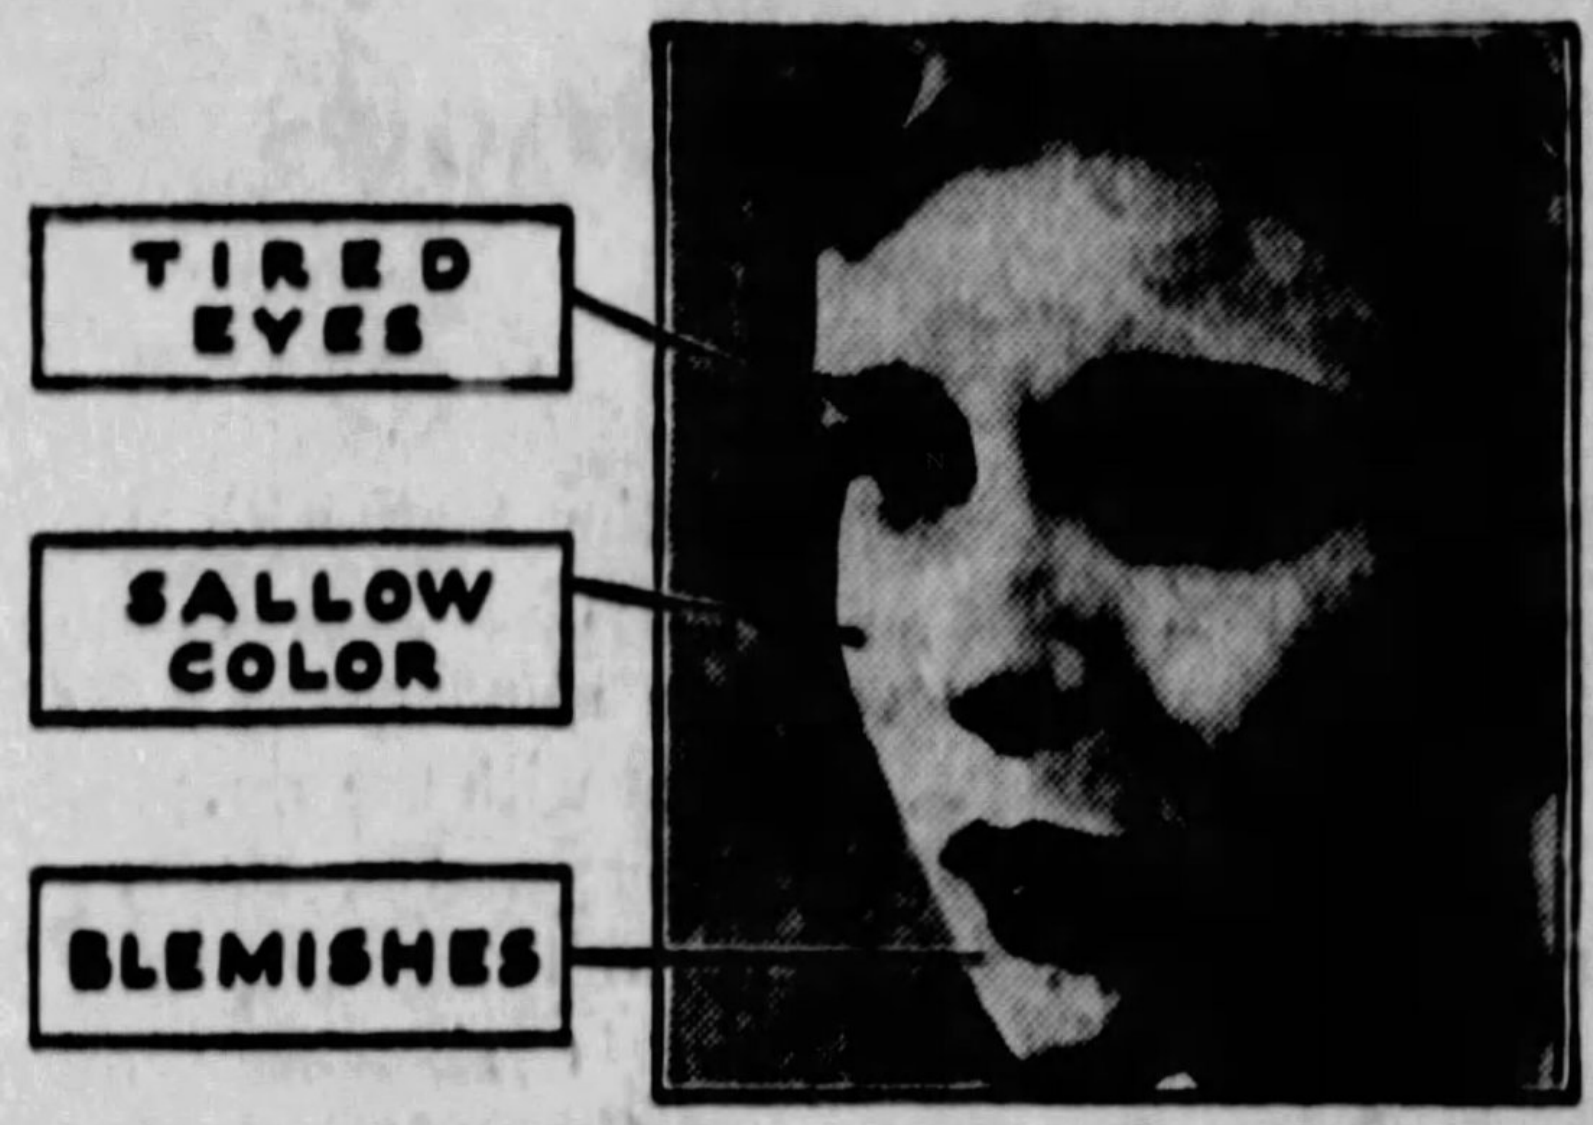
The Boys Club has at present a membership of 1,040. Due to inadequate space, few of the boys above the ages of 15 can be served by the club. During the last year, the Boys Club has been handicapped for space for its pre-vocational work, but in spite of this there has been an average attendance of 250 to 300 each night.

The Y. M. C. A. hereafter will work in the district under what is known in Y. M. C. A. fields as the community work plan. Under this plan the association, from an executive office in the district, working in close co-operation with the Protestant churches, with the industrial plants, and with other interests and organizations throughout the community, will promote an extensive program with the type of boys and young men who naturally constitute its field.

This program will include Christian character-building clubs among employed boys, grade school and high school boys, athletic leagues and tournaments, Bible study groups, summer camping groups and over-night hikes. The plan also contemplates a continued relation on the part of the Y. M. C. A to the men employed in the industries in the Lawrenceville district through volley ball leagues, mush ball leagues, plant foremen's clubs and other recognized features of the Y. M. C. A. service to men in industries.

With the facilities the Boys Club will have for new quarters, it can for the first time conduct its full program in the city of Pittsburgh. Its sponsors feel that it grows in spite of the handicaps it has faced, and has furnished ample evidence of both the need of the work and the practicability of the Boys Club program.

The committee in charge of the Boys Club has as chairman Mr. Armstrong, with A. P. Brill as vice chairman. The other members are E. D. Frohman, Leo G. Griffith, Thomas Higgins, E. M. Hill, R. W. Cadman, J. S. McCormick, E. Wayne Stoker, David I. McCahill and Thomas Fitzgerald.



Skin Troubles?

—increase your bile flow

WHAT a pity when women begin to lose beauty and start to look older. Frantically they try one cosmetic after another. In vain they resort to expensive treatments. If only they knew that cosmetics can never really remove skin flaws. At best, they only hide them temporarily.

Attack the real cause

There's only one way to banish skin faults, says Science—get after the real cause—insufficient bile. And now, through a remarkable new scientific discovery, thousands are finding it easy to regain the lovely, smooth complexion of youth.

Blemishes, sallow skin, deep fatigue lines—all show that the body is poisoned within. The liver and other digestive organs are not functioning properly. The intestines are clogged with putrefying materials. Thus poisons and disease-breeding germs are spreading through the body—ruining the complexion, causing headaches, indigestion, constipation, fatigue, depression. Often, these poisons may lead to very serious ailments.

But Zilatone, as this new treatment is called, stimulates the flow of bile and other digestive juices. It cleans the intestines of poisons. Purifies the blood. Tones the whole system. It builds body health and vigor such as you never enjoyed before—because it provides the very same elements that Nature employs to keep us well.

Zilatone guaranteed

Make every one envy and admire you. Put the glow of health into your cheeks. Put a spring into your step. Start taking Zilatone today. Zilatone also recommended for treatment of general debility, heart and kidney ailments, headaches, stomach disorders, gall stones, premature old age due to auto-intoxication.

Zilatone guaranteed to satisfy you or money refunded. Get Zilatone at your druggist today.

Zilatone is recommended and sold in this city by all the May Drug Stores and other live druggists.

Doctors Prescribe HEMO-LIVER

For Folks Who Need More Vigor.

Enriches Blood, Creates Strength and Renews Vital Forces; Often in 8 Days.

Hemo-Liver is full of the vital elements or "Mysterious Substance" extracted by an intricate process from fresh beef liver. It is one of the great discoveries of recent years and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get more and quicker benefit than by eating pounds of liver.

How a man may look when his blood is thin and weak—and the change that takes place when the blood is rich and red.

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12-ounce bottle that will last eight days with the distinct understanding that if one bottle doesn't greatly improve your health the purchase price will be returned.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 12 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds weakened vital forces and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Eat more liver and take Hemo-Liver, physicians advise. It is not a patent medicine. You can get Hemo-Liver at May's Drug Stores.

CLUB PICKETS IN STRIKEBREAKERS' ATTACK

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Woman Most Interesting Thing in a Man's Life

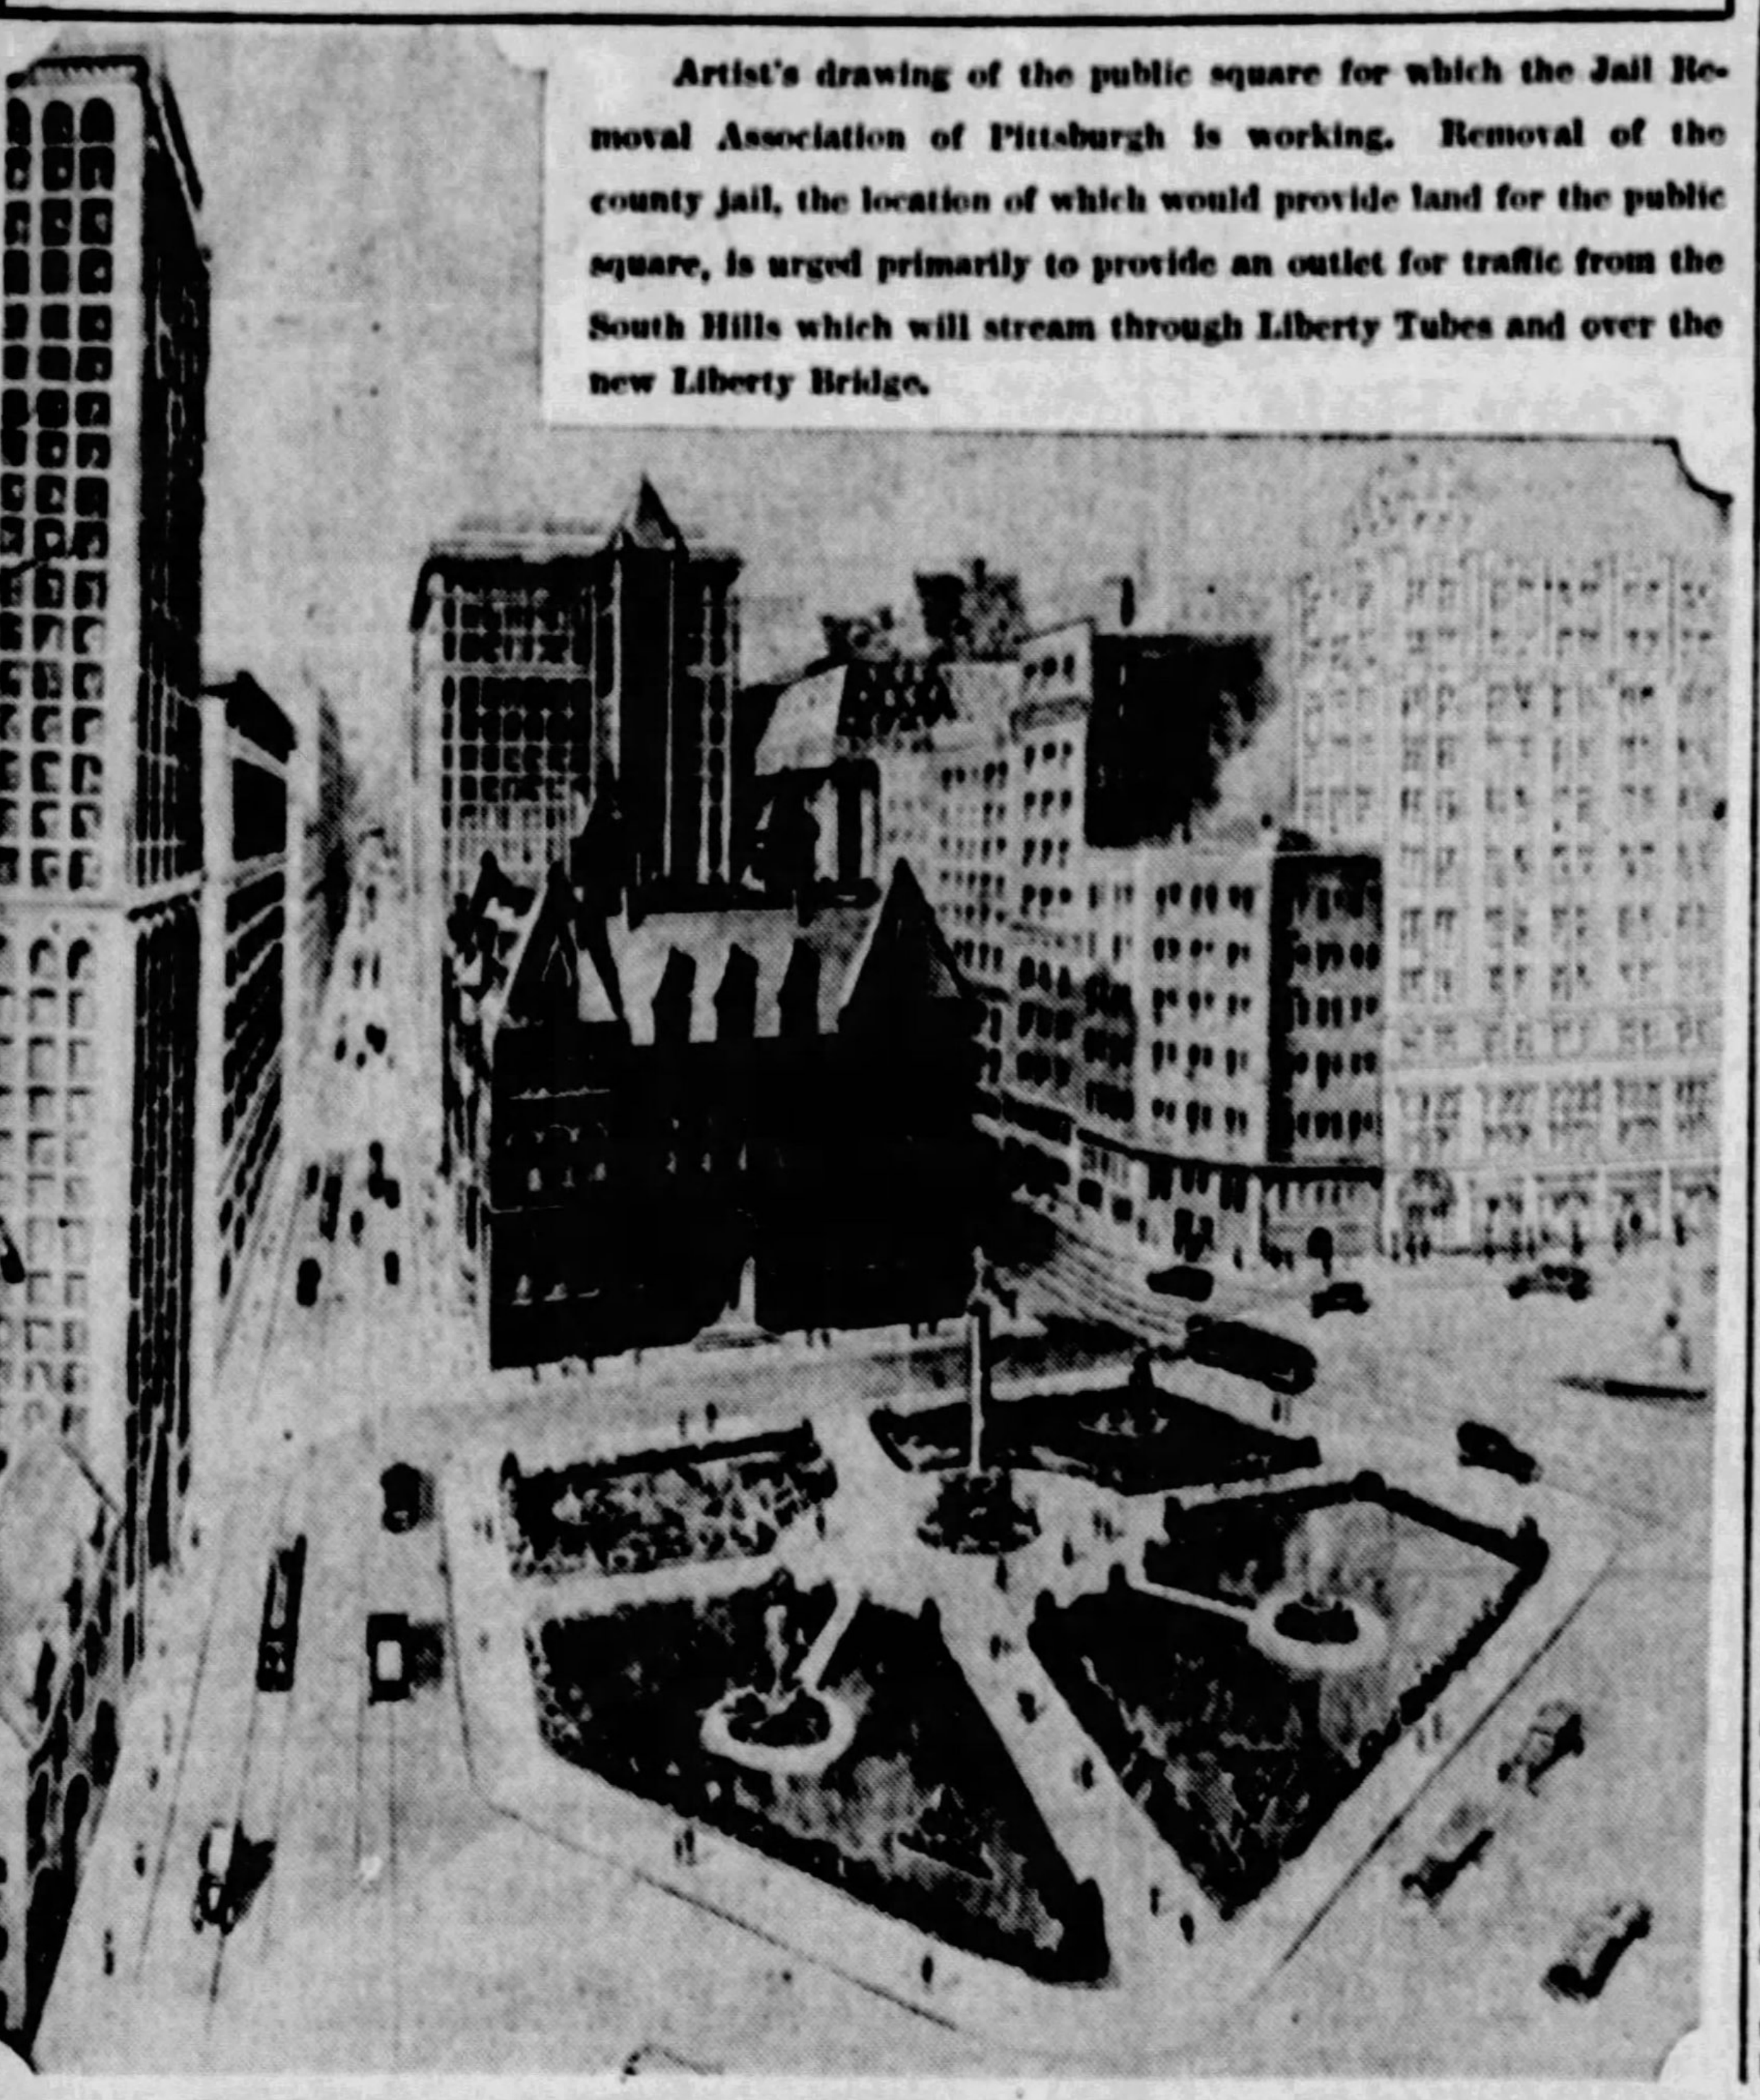
PENN'S PETITE "LADY"

N. B. ROCHE

Made up as Laline Lane, "Leading Lady," N. B. Roche, Louisville, Ky., will appear in "Tarantella," the fortieth annual production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania at the Syria Mosque, Thursday night. He is a member of the class of '28.

PUBLIC SQUARE PROPOSED

Artist's drawing of the public square for which the Jail Removal Association of Pittsburgh is working. Removal of the county jail, the location of which would provide land for the public square, is urged primarily to provide an outlet for traffic from the South Hills which will stream through Liberty Tubes and over the new Liberty Bridge.



10 HELD IN STRIKE RIOT

Hurling pick-handles and stones, strikers and strikebreakers clashed at the Maude mine of the McClane Mining Company at Treveskyn late yesterday. Ten men were arrested by state police and will be given hearings before Justice of the Peace Chester Wyke, of Bridgeville, tonight on charges of disorderly conduct.

Troopers Lawrence Sipudur and Raymond Fink were on duty at the Maude mine yesterday. About 20 union men were on the picket line.

Five nonunion workers from Cecil, leaving the mine in a small truck, about a half mile from the mine entrance met five union pickets.

"Join the union," the strikers called.

For reply a strikebreaker hit a union picket with a stone, it is said. Then the pickets attacked, and in a few minutes the strikebreakers were throwing pickhandles and other missiles.

Troopers Sipudur and Fink arrived in time to arrest all participants in the melee. Those arrested gave their names as Frank McIntosh, George Henry, Larry Basely, Joseph Ross and Steve Malarka, all union men of Cuddy; Joseph Stacton, Spencer Johnson, Augusta Seanton, Joseph Altieri and Dominick Gross, strikebreakers of Cecil.

She Is Misunderstood Not Because Different, But Because Trained Differently

Love, if not the greatest motivating agency in the world, is one of the important dynamic forces, Dr. Dorsey made clear in yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," in The Sun-Telegraph. Hate is another power to be reckoned with. He outlined the causes of attachments and repugnances, and left open the question, "Are marriages made in heaven?"

Little Freedom Cramps Girls' Style

CHAPTER XLIII.

THE newborn is a loaded stimulus for parents and community. The nature of the load it brings will vary with the sex of the child. The girl may be as welcome as the boy. But the fact of girl or of boy colors the environment for the developing child.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Suppose there are twins, a boy and a girl. Each may seem to face the same situation day after day. But, as society is constituted, each faces a different situation. The sister makes certain appeals because she is a female; the boy, because he is a male. Certain modes of behavior are expected because "You are a boy;" quite different responses are expected because "You are a girl." As a consequence, before they have a verbalized behavior they have acquired the manual and emotional habits expected of boys and girls.

The girl has no inherent impulse to play dolls and mud pies, or to wear curls, ribbons, dresses, shoes, necklaces, earrings; nor has the boy for drums and other noise-making machinery, or for short hair and pants.

The girl is molded to make "womanly" responses; the boy, to behave like a "little man." Boys are conditioned to face one world; girls, to face another. The two sexes do not see alike because their eyes have not learned to look at the same things alike: for each sex the glasses have a different color, focus and range.

Women Are Made

Men do not "understand women." How can they? But the reason is not because women's nature is fundamentally different from men's; rather that 10 or 20 or 30 years of having to live "like a woman" go into her make-up.

Freedom of movement is soon limited for girls. Some learn to skip the rope and play jackstones only under parental frowns. And as for climbing trees, playing marbles, going off swimming, "Who ever heard of such things!"

Shades of limited freedom for girls depend on families, communities, rank, class, etc. But in the background is always a general limit in movement, emotions and language, beyond which the girl is not supposed to go. "Proper spheres," "womanly ways," "unmaidenly manners," etc.

The boy of six has a much wider field of exploration than his sister, especially if sister is "handy about the house." By 10, his freedom is greater yet. He can stamp around and shout and whistle and scrap and "talk back" in ways denied to his sister.

Because they must learn "nice ways," girls have less opportunity to learn certain specific motor habits and in general less occasion to develop their skeletal muscles. She cannot throw a ball when she is 14: she did not begin to throw stones at the age of three. Rules of habit formation and limits of dexterity are not inherent in each sex. How many boys of 20 could run a hundred yards in 10 seconds flat if they had worn dresses and such accessories all their life?

If it is "unwomanly" for girls to throw stones and run races, it will be "unnatural" for them later to be expected to compete with men on equal terms.

Emotional Habits

A boy brought up on "Don't be a sissy" will have a behavior different from that of a sister for whom being a sissy is normal behavior.

Men and women are emotionally different; by training. Tears, pouts, whims, tantrums grow up bisexually. A boy of 10 comes into the house crying; he has been worsted in a fight. His sister enters crying; worsted in an argument. Each meets with a different situation in each parent. The girl's questions on current events generally call out special responses from parents: "Little girls are not supposed to know about business," or, "What possible interest can you have in politics?" etc.

Men, to "understand" women, must be brought up as women; play dolls, wear dresses, be coddled, petted, protected, favored, shielded, guarded, restricted, chucked under the chin, kissed. And thereby driven to such outlets as are open to women and have no more "expected" of them than men expect of women.

"Shades of the prison-house begin to close upon the growing child," as Wordsworth saw it. There are two: one for each sex. With different opportunities, their impulses will be conditioned along different lines. Given different tools, their pursuits will be different.

Giving and Taking

About 16 years are required to train girls to certain "womanly" needs and desires. Thereafter it requires some one man's lifetime to satisfy these desires. If women degenerate or go in for luxury, they are only following their bent; their training "fitted" them for such paths.

Many men think such paths natural to women, and find themselves "adjusted" when they hang a diamond dog-collar about the neck of a woman who finds her life adjustments in luxuries from another's hands. She has given all she has for all she wants. That is adjustment. Life learns such behavior as readily as other forms.

The two sexes may "grow up together," but they travel divergent roads. By the time they mate they are likely to find themselves far apart. Even words have different values; they may not understand each other's language. But if their habits have not been abnormal, and if they retain the capacity to learn and the inherent love for knowing, a whole new world confronts them. They can begin all over again, and, as children, explore together to the ends of their days.

After all, there can be nothing in a man's world more interesting than a woman. That man is "by nature" polygamous and woman monogamous is biologic rot and has no more sanction than the Divine right of kings—and will eventually go into the same discard.

If Marriage Fails

Are women as efficient as men? Efficient for what? And if not, why not? Why am I not as efficient as Charlie Chaplin, or Arthur Somers Roche, or Jane Addams?

All normal newborns are efficient. After a few years, little sister can never become as efficient as little brother in many things. A woman requires a stout heart to dare to compete with a man. Her own sex says, "You should not;" the other sex says, "You cannot." If women follow the "easy" path, it is because that is the only path in which they have been trained to show efficiency.

If your water pipe bursts you do not need "efficiency;" you want a competent plumber. Same way in seeking a mate. If good ones are scarce, it must be for lack of early training which fits for mateship.

Biologically, man must mate. Why men marry is a matter of individual behavior. If marriage is a "failure," as we are often assured, it must be for the same reason that any other social institution "fails." Man learns new ways to adjust to living impulses.

FREE MILK FOR MINE BABIES

Free milk for the kiddies at Acmetonia barracks of the striking miners is a matter of deep concern to mothers, and when the milk truck arrives, the pails, pans and dippers are rushed to the delivery. The only trouble is that there isn't always enough milk to go around. Relief organizations are supplying the milk.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

PREPARING for an automobile trip to Florida, which was to have started today, Councilman Harry Little took his machine to a garage to have it overhauled. He left the garage and went to City Council Chambers, where he was greeted by a 'phone call announcing that his machine had been completely destroyed by fire. Well, it was not a total wreck, as the little vase which hung in the rear escaped the flames, but that's hardly enough to go to Florida in.

WHAT! MY MACHINE DESTROYED BY FIRE?— WHY, I JUST LEFT IT!

This item ought to interest (a) automobile salesmen; (b) fire insurance men and (c) a lot of people who always think their luck is worse than anybody else's.

"MY DEAR SIR: Did you notice that the boys who go to spring baseball camps don't wear caps any longer? Has this any significance or am I merely an over-anxious Freudian?" (Signed) George Kober, Duquesne, Pa.

It is doubtless true the collegiate influence is affecting the professional baseball realm, possibly through the fact that a movement is on foot now to start a baseball school. That will be a very peculiar school. Can you imagine a hard-boiled baseball pedagogue complaining to a fellow-professor:

"I don't know what we are going to do with that young Jackson. He is so wrapped up in making the glee club and the debating society that he is paying but little serious attention to baseball. Besides, instead of practice he is cutting classes to read ancient history, dabble in literature and otherwise allowing foolish amusements of this sort to hurt his baseball education."

WHILE on baseball here is a letter from Andrew J. Martin, a sort of dean of the local semi-professional baseball players:

"My Dear Sir: If by chance you meet some sandlot baseball manager who needs a player let me recommend a Beltzhoover youngster who would like to get on a good club. His name is James Nellis. He stands six feet and he is only 19 years old. He has that Beltzhoover ambition which turned out so many baseball stars. I cannot close without saying I used to swipe the nicest apples from the orchard which was destroyed to allow for the construction of your present home." (Signed) Andrew J. Martin, 324 Knox avenue, Pittsburgh.

OF COURSE, ambition alone will not suffice to make the big league grade. Who recalls, for instance, the ambition of Frank Dugan, a prominent citizen now, who is in the same line as Red Grange, and we don't mean football. Frank Dugan was a pretty good semi-pro, but his talent never measured up to his peppery ambition. On the day of a game Frank used to get out of bed around 6 a. m. in the morning to toss a ball against the wall of his house to catch it on the bounce (not the wall). A double-header to Frank in those days was something that just dropped from Heaven.

Y-YES SIR !!
YOUNG MAN YOU MUST PAY MORE ATTENTION TO BASEBALL !

"MY DEAR SIR: I am a steady reader of your column and I enjoy it very much. Your picture at the top of the column struck me as very familiar. I was ready to swear it was the picture of Charles Cohen, of Glenwood. Charles is a brother of Bill, who runs the railroad eating house known in Glenwood as Bill's waffle shop, next to the car barns. He gets his patronage from the railroad and railway men. Charles has charge of the restaurant at night. He is noted fo his even and cheerful disposition and is very popular among the patrons. They say every person has a double, but few of us ever have the opportunity of meeting their doubles. So if you want to meet your double visit Charles." (Signed) L. A. Miller, Pittsburgh.

This may develop into quite a story. Perhaps a long time ago there were twins and someone said: "We'll just keep one and return the other one," after which an iceman possibly found a strange little bundle in his wagon. Boyle and Cohen. Huh!

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Jerry Arrives in Chicago To Find Her Mother Very Much Worried

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. Jerry leaves for Chicago to join her mother.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

AT three came Marza's answer. "Darling pet, sorry to worry you. I'm all right. Sending complete details tomorrow. Don't follow until you hear further. Now go to bed, my pet, and pleasant dreams. Marza."

Oh, just that old sister that Marza loved so deeply!

Jerry lay in bed, weak with relief. She listened to the treading silence of the empty rooms. How they hummed and murmured and flung vague echoes about. Now a golden laugh—now that deep, throaty chuckle.

It came to her vividly just as she heard it that first night when she went padding to the door and stood there shivering, lost in the fascination of his face. The mirth and sweetness of his light thrilling eyes.

Just like that, tonight when he stooped and took her in his arms. "Darling thing, am I forgiven? Tomorrow the sun will shine. I'm not perfect and I've been to blame. But I love you!"

She put shaking hands over her eyes and whispered into the dark. "He does! I know he does."

Then abruptly, coldly she thought: "I was only making a bluff. I didn't mean to give him up. I can't!"

It seemed ridiculous that she had even considered it.

But after a while she felt his eyes filled with hostility; with accusation and resentment as he went back along the path and dipped his fingers in the little pool of liquor. Again when she snatched the cup of whisky.

But she told herself weakly: "I gave him a chance. I told him he was free—told him to go! But he won't."

She kept repeating with exultance: "But he won't!"

"You can hold him, of course. Women always hang on. They hang on to be resented; to have their love regarded as a nuisance by the men they're fool enough to adore. You're not married to him, but already this is the keynote of his attitude. Beautiful, holy love! Something awfully high and gorgeous. He doesn't want you in his life. Blind yourself to it...the fact remains."

All Tuesday this hung over her in a heavy, depressing cloud. Yet all Tuesday she remained home waiting for him to phone.

She thought drearily: "I'll be one of those weak-kneed contemptible beings—one of those women without fire—without spirit . . . clinging on and on—"

But she called to him blithely enough that night: "No, I'm on a vacation and giving you one, ole dear. Try it out. Distance dims enchantment. So keep yours and see how it works. You're free as the good old air. Fly high. I may catch you on the fall—"

Wednesday and Thursday she kept to this program.

Friday, without phoning, he drove out in Paul's roadster.

"Come on—come out of it!" said he, pulling her to the machine. "It takes two to make a marriage—and two to break it"

They parked in the remote quiet above the buffalo paddock in the park. "Now tell me," said he, "why are you so depressed. It wasn't such a crime, was it?"

"No—it wasn't a crime. It only crystallized a situation that has existed for months. I didn't want to see it. Now I do."

"What do you see?"

"That we have no chance of happiness going on as we do. That we've come to the parting. Oh, don't interrupt. We're not married. But already you feel that I'm infringing on your freedom. My interest annoys you. You have this attitude already. What possible chance would we have for the kind of marriage we want, when you start in by resenting me? And how could I endure that—if I had any decent self-esteem?"

"I don't resent you."

"Yes. You lie in wait for the chance to taunt me about taking care of you and mothering you."

"In fun."

"Not always."

"You used to laugh at this and fight back."

"I could laugh yet. But you mean it. You're cynical of marriage and this sarcasm alone would convert me into the kind of hurt, cowering wife you couldn't endure. It would be because I love you and you have power on me."

She sank low in the seat and watched that high tree making a great lament to the wind. It was dark and she could vaguely see his face.

Now he stooped down and whispered: "Would you let me do that to you?"

"No—I don't want you to—but I feel defenseless. I am defenseless."

"Jerry," said he, and she knew that his face was white . . . "I'll try not to. I don't want to. You try me again. . . won't you—please?"

It is always like this. But she was too young to know it. And deafened now by the great shouting joy that rose in her heart.

At home there was a message from Marza.

"Will you come, Jerry? I need you. Let Inga and Silvia have the apartment. Make the necessary arrangements. Please leave as soon as you possibly can. This is very urgent."

He rode across with her on the boat. She glanced at his strong, vital face that now turned to her with a sweetness and chuckle.

"Going to leave me? Not mad now, are you?"

"Oh," thought she with a flash and oppression, "what a frightful thing is this love a woman feels. We're slaves—slaves to the soul."

She closed her eyes, feeling his hand on hers. She thought with a sob: "Yes—just do that! And ask, are you mad!"

But she answered him brightly: "You're free, old dear, while I'm gone. Be as free and as gay as you please. And you'll know by the contrast what you want. . . . I'm one who will have all or nothing. As I love you, I would be loved in return—utterly, madly—so or not at all."

"Jerry—I don't want to be free of you—I won't be free."

She gave him a pale, misty smile . . . a little rapt laugh. "You must prove it!"

When he kissed her she thought with panic: "There are no other lips in the world for me—none."

She was nervous—athrob with excitement when the train pulled in at Chicago.

She looked about for her mother. Saw her. And stood rigid—frozen with alarm.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

MARZA'S face cut white against the black, drooping hat—white, intense, lighted: a ghost-face limned in pain.

She saw Jerry. A smile flew over the pallor.

"Why, of course, I'm all right. Silly pet!"

"But so thin—oh, mother, so terribly thin and desperate-looking."

"Oh, come—nonsense!" said Marza, turning her face swiftly and signaling a taxi. "We'll have dinner and talk. How good you're here! You didn't mind, did you?

They got into the taxi. Marza gave the address of the hotel.

"Oh, aren't you staying with her—your sister?"

"No. Not now. The danger is past. I'm SURE the danger is past."

"Did she nearly die?"

Marza sat with her eyes closed, still as marble. "Yes—they say so—before I arrived she went very near to death."

Then she began to talk rapidly of inconsequential things. What arrangements did Jerry make? Oh, Inga and Silvia were enchanted to take the apartment? They'll watch out for things? That's good. We may be here for several months.

"Why shall we stay if she's better?"

"She needs me. I have business here."

Marza ordered dinner in their room and now she moved about with a still intensity, helping Jerry to unpack, talking with a tender, almost child-like eagerness.

"I've ordered everything you like. Even a bottle of sauterne. Here, put on this white thing. We'll stay in tonight and talk. You won't mind that? A nice room, isn't it—"

Then as they sat to the table and Marza fingered the petals of a white rose: "Did you give my letter to Robert?"

"He hadn't returned by 5 o'clock Saturday, so I left it with Saxon to deliver."

"Oh," said Marza, arising the cover of a vegetable dish. She was seeing Robert Caples as he read her letter, and she now wondered how much in that moment of distraction she had told him.

"You were frightened when I left, Jerry? What was there in that message to frighten you? Just that my sister was dying—"

"Yes—I was frightened. What is the matter, mother? Your face is getting whiter if that can be. Look at your hands!"

"Oh, nonsense. I'm nervous—the strain—and glad you've come."

"Am I to see your sister? At last?"

"Yes—in the morning."

"Shall I have to sit with her a long time? I don't like sick old people. I've never understood your feeling—I can't see why you should care so. You wouldn't care this much if I were dying!"

Young "Mr. Jackson" Attracts Attention by His Courting of Lovely Mary Harrison

I SMILED at Katherine as she gave me her softly whispered warding, but there was little real mirth in my apparent amusement. I knew only too well the martyred air which my mother-in-law would be wearing when I should return to the veranda, and the thought of it suddenly irritated me out of all proportion to its importance. My common sense, however, told me that it was my resentment against Dicky which was intensifying all other annoyances, and by the time I reached the veranda I was poised enough to receive with no hint of chagrin the lofty dignity and martyred voice in which she addressed her first words to me.

"I am glad you have returned from your errands, Margaret," she said. "It is past my bedtime, and I really am quite fatigued, but, of course, I could not leave our guests with no hostess present."

Her tone invested our informal little gathering with the punctiliousness of a court function, and when she rose at the end of her little speech and with great formality took leave of the guests it was with the air of a queen leaving a levee. Dicky escorted her most deferentially into the house, the rest of us standing like courtiers at attention, and when we seated ourselves again I saw that the grouping of our guests had shifted itself significantly.

No longer were all of them grouped around Miss Lincoln besieging her with inquiries as to her recovery from her swoon. Lillian was seated next to her and on her other side was the chair Dicky had vacated.

Next to Lillian, but separated from her chair by a small smoking table sat Philip Veritzen, and turned toward his chair was one which at my entrance subtly bore the air of waiting for some particular person. When I had finished listening to my mother-in-law's austere disapproval of my absence and her dignified farewells to the guests, Mr. Veritzen unobtrusively turned the chair toward me and I sat down in it.

I soon discovered, however, that he had not offered me the seat in order to talk to me. Beyond the merest commonplaces which I guessed were uttered only to camouflage his real purpose he sat in sardonic and intent contemplation of the group diagonally across from him.

Of this group, Mary Harrison, lovely as the most exquisite rose in the garden outside, was the center. At her right, leaning toward her with the fascinating air of deference which only gently bred European men can manage to perfection, was young Mr. "George Logan Jackson" paying unmistakable and determined court to her. At her left, Noel, with a discouraged but stubborn look was sitting doggedly, answering her eagerly when she spoke to him, occasionally interpolating some remark of his own, but for the most part playing the role of an unwilling but fascinated listener to the conversation of his rival.

For rivalry was the only word to use in characterizing the mental condition of the two personable young men upon either side of Dick's beautiful young niece. Of course, Noel's devotion to her was known to all our family, but Dicky, Lillian and I shared with Mary the secret of the claim he had upon her gratitude at the time of her unfortunate experience as the masked dancer.

The attentions of young Mr. Jackson, however, struck an absolutely new note in the tune to which Mary was setting her life. I feared it would be a troublesome complication and the fear was strengthened when Philip Veritzen bent toward me and with the air and tone of one uttering some banal commonplace concerning the moon, said softly:

"My little protegee is having altogether too many distractions for a young woman with ambitions to become the greatest actress of her time."

Your Teeth
Not Naturally Dull, "Off Color"
This simple test will be sure to surprise you

A FILM coat makes teeth lustreless and dull. That is what makes people think their teeth are naturally "off color." When you remove it the new way teeth take on a brilliance that amazes. Gums grow firm and pink.

A simple test proves the great truth of this discovery. A test that stars of the stage and screen have made by scores. It has taught them their most important beauty aid.

A new way in tooth and gum care removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. And germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and other serious troubles. Ordinary brushing fails in successfully fighting film. And under film are the clear, whiter teeth you envy.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then to remove it. It firms and protects gums; beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

68 INDICTED IN FEDERAL COURT AT ERIE

United States District Attorney John D. Meyer and his assistants yesterday returned from Erie, where the March term of the Federal district court is in session, with Judges W. H. S. Thomson and F. P. Schoonmaker, presiding. The prosecution of criminal cases lasted only one week, but, they reported, was very successful.

A resume shows 68 true bills returned and only one ignored by the grand jury. There were 23 pleas of guilty; five trials, resulting in three convictions, one acquittal and one verdict of not guilty by direction of the court. Penitentiary and jail sentences aggregating seven years and four months were imposed and fines totalled $3,050. Ten defendants were placed on probation.

After hearing criminal cases the court started hearing civil litigation.

Jack Shows No Interest

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, today flatly denied that he was to meet Gene Tunney next July or August somewhere in New Jersey.

"Nothing to it at all," was the former champion's terse reply when he was asked if a copyrighted story in the Newark Ledger was correct in its assertion that the "off again-on again" title bout was "on" once more.

Beyond a slight curiosity as to "what it said," Dempsey showed little interest in the story.

TEX SEEKS SITE

NEWARK, N. J., March 28.—(AP.)—The Newark Ledger in a copyrighted story says that Gene Tunney, world heavyweight champion, and Jack Dempsey, will meet in their third clash on New Jersey soil in July or August and that a stadium modeled after Boyle's Thirty Acres will be erected exclusively for the contest. The paper will say that Tex Rickard's lieutenants have been scouting around the northern section of the state for a place large enough to fit in with Rickard's plans to seat 125,000 persons.

The bout, according to the Ledger, will be 15 rounds to a decision and will be the first championship match to be fought in this state under the new law permitting decisions. Dempsey is scheduled to start east next week for a conference with Rickard, who is said to have been angered by the attitude taken by the New York Boxing Commission today warning the champion that he would be declared ineligible unless he picks an opponent. The champion is said to favor a 15-round match so that he can erase Dempsey from the "picture."

RICKARD INDEPENDENT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28.—(INS.)—Tex Rickard is advancing the purse for the next heavyweight championship bout and the dean of promoters is going to select the next opponent for Gene Tunney at his leisure. This is virtually the answer of Rickard to the New York State Boxing Commissioners' demand yesterday that Tunney name his opponent for his next combat before next Tuesday or be declared ineligible to fight in New York state.

"Tunney is willing to fight anyone I name," Rickard said today. "He is under contract with me and the responsibility of naming the next challenger lies with me alone. I do not think that the New York State Boxing Commission has the right to demand that I name the challenger at this time."

Tunney already has expressed himself as in accord with Rickard's plans to fight one championship bout in July. The champion and Rickard agree that the challenging field will permit only one battle this summer, despite the findings of the commission.

SHARKEY VS. DELANEY

NEW YORK, March 28.—(INS.)—Regardless of the heavyweight title complications, Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey will meet in a 15-round bout here at Madison Square Garden, April 20. Joe Jacobs has accepted terms for Delaney and Johnny Buckley will be here Friday to sign for Sharkey.

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The Pirates of 1928 so far have not been colorful to a marked degree. Perhaps they will show more fascinating features later, especially with Emil Smith, Pie Traynor, Adam Comorosky and the Waner boys to furnish sidelights.

COMOROSKY is sure to aid the Buccos in the point of appeal, provided he stays in the game. The Polish athlete right now looks like the most colorful player in Bush's squad. Doubtless this sounds like a strong assertion and would not stand up a few years back, when a team with mediocre playing strength set new attendance records at Forbes Field.

RABBIT MARANVILLE, Lefty Grimm, Chief Yellow Horse and other outstanding athletes have long since passed out from Pirate picture, but they left their mark on the sport in Pittsburgh. Even the 1921 team, which cracked with the flag in sight, was not up to the class possessed by the present team, but this collection of Pirates certainly was a great drawing card.

WRIGHT, Adams and Grantham, despite remarkable ability, are not especially colorful. In the important business of winning flags, the boy with the color of ten falls short, yet, there have been championship clubs that were shy on general appeal. In other words the fans seem to enjoy the players of unusual personality.

BARNEY DREYFUSS is not worried over the repeated defeats of his favorite ball club. "Back in 1901, the Pirates did not win a single exhibition game," says Barney, "but if you will look up the record of that club you will find it did not have so much trouble in winning the flag."

BY THIS token, the present Pirate club bids fair to be a corker, nevertheless, Donie Bush, would like to see his nine in a better gait. Pittsburgh flag winners of recent years won a lot of their preliminary contests. It is natural for a manager to wish for victories.

CAPT. PIE TRAYNOR is not discouraged over the showing of the Bushwhackers. There is no need for alarm, according to Pie, who feels that the club will get into its stride at the proper time, which is just two weeks hence.

Rickard's Garden Reports Profit Of Million

NEW YORK, March 28.—Tex Rickard's Madison Square Garden Corporation earned a net profit of more than a million dollars during the year ending December 31 last, according to official figures made public here. The exact net income, arrived at after all charges, including Federal taxes were deducted, was set at $1,014,199. It was not stated how much of this was represented by the profits from the last Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago.

The report explained that the net income was equivalent to $3.12 per share on the 324,860 shares of no-par capital stock outstanding, an increase of 30 per cent over the $2.42 per share earned in 1926 on a slightly smaller capitalization. Gross revenues for the year from all sport activities totaled $7,650,518, an increase of 34 per cent over those for 1926.

Rickard's report to the stockholders stated that, during the past two years, the corporation has paid admission taxes of $1,661,871, and other taxes of $476,626, or a total of $2,138,498. This sum was offered in comparison to the net income for the two years, which totalled $1,756,838.

The corporation, it was declared, ended the year with cash to the amount of $396,966 out of total "quick" assets of $1,166,797, and had a net working capital of $613,920.

WOMEN STARS GET HOME

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 28.—(AP.)—Mrs. Fielding H. Yost believes field houses for co-ed athletes soon will rival those for men. GAME TONIGHT.

Carter vs. Greenwood, at Kalmer's, Oakland.

ALTHOUGH the Nuss Brothers' first annual duckpin tournament is only one day old, the scores in several divisions already are so high that they compare favorably with winning scores in many major tourneys. Women bowlers were first to appear on the Nuss Brothers' Homestead alleys yesterday when the tourney was declared open, and they supplied plenty of high-scoring inspiration. Rolling in the five-women team event, the Climax Girls of Pittsburgh went into the lead with the surprisingly high total of 2070, but Mrs. O. B. Smith gave the best exhibition when she set the singles pace with 532. Later in the evening, when the men took up the pin-toppling task, only one of the "stronger sex" was able to better her fine mark.

The Capital Ladies of Homestead, with 1,828, were second in the five-women team event, and the Liberty National Girls of Pittsburgh were third with 1,682. In the women's doubles Garbett and Zebre set the pace with 854. Second and third-place doubles teams and their scores were: Smith-Amman, 800; Oates-Peterson, 741. Mrs. A. Bayles with 481, was second to Mrs. Smith in the singles, and Mrs. Hoffman was third with 472.

In the men's events the best scores were turned in by the Essex five-men and Renquist in the singles. The Essex rollers piled up 2,394 and topped the five-men team by more than 100 pins, and Renquist hit 595 to set the singles pace. Clairton Arcade, with 2,270, and Noroski Billiards, with 2,168, placed second and third in the team competition, and DeChichis, with 528, and Kovach, with 500, were second and third, respectively, in the singles.

Dr. Long and Morry set the doubles pace with 1,027. Renquist and Selai were second with 1,007, and Lutz and Hawke placed third with 961.

The tourney is to continue throughout the week.

KANSAS CITY, March 28.—(AP.)—Scores established by Illinois veterans again proved too high for entries in the American Bowling Congress here.

Faced with the 3,015 mark of the Mineralites of Chicago, five-men teams last night generally

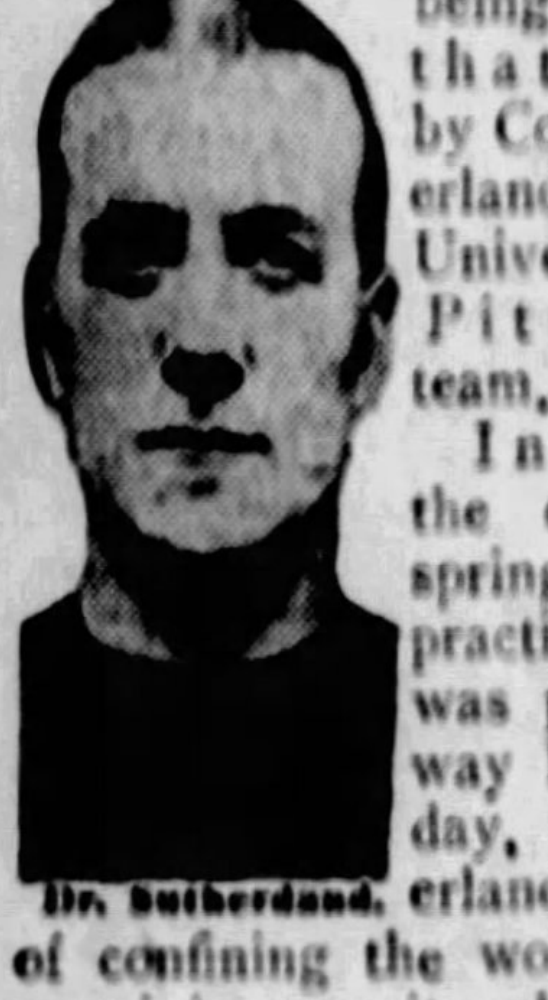
by JAMES J. LONG

WHAT percentage of boys who have never played amateur nor high school football can make good after entering college and win places on the varsity eleven?

It will be interesting to note the outcome of the experiment being made in that direction by Coach Sutherland of the University of Pittsburgh team.



Dr. Sutherland.

In issuing the call for spring gridiron practice, which was put under way last Monday, Dr. Sutherland, instead of confining the work to the remaining varsity players and the freshmen gridders of 1927, had the university canvassed for additional candidates.

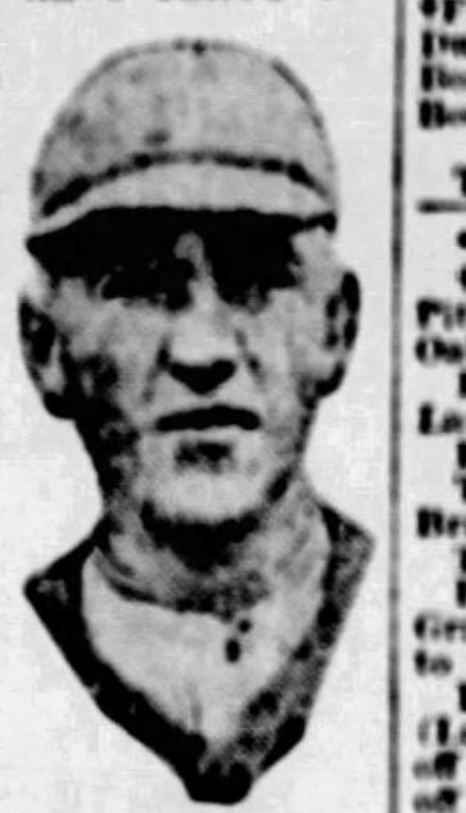
He figured that there might be some students in the various departments who possessed considerable native ability, but had always been too backward to come out for a test.

THE canvass brought out about 50 boys who had never played football before, giving Coach Sutherland a squad of more than 100, all told, for the spring football work, which will be restricted mainly to fundamentals.

Whether even a few of them will ever be able to get anywhere is a question, but in any event the Panther mentor, who, of course, will not be able to get a definite line on their qualities or possibilities for some time, believes the experiment will be worth while.

"A number of boys who never played high school football have made good in the collegiate ranks," said Dr. Sutherland, though, of course, that does not apply to the present as strongly as to a period of 10 years or more ago. Since those days high school football has developed and advanced rapidly, and the high school lad entering college now after playing for his school, is naturally ahead of another boy who has no experience at all.

"BUT at the same time, it is worth the effort to find out if there are students in the university who have football ability, but who have failed to try for the team on account of backwardness.



Johnny Morrison

"The lads brought out by our canvass will be given every encouragement and all the coaching necessary to develop any latent talent they may possess, and if we get only two players out of the 50, I shall consider the experiment a success.

"And I do not mean by this that they must be able to help the team next season. If they only are of assistance the following year, or in their final term in school, it will be time well spent."

The Pitt chief says the length of the spring practice will be governed by developments, but that

BUCS LOSE TO COAST LEAGUE CHAMP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Our Pirates will try to say farewell to San Francisco and Oakland this afternoon with basehits. The final clash in the Bay district will bring together the big-leaguers and the Oaks, who yesterday gave the Buccos a 6-to-5 trimming in the first game the Pirates had played in almost a week.

The champions of the Pacific Coast League were not overly impressive as they added to the long string of setbacks owned by the National League champions since they landed here. It was not necessary to show a lot of class to score over the club which had not been in its stride throughout the spring training period.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED

Fair weather is predicted for today, and regardless of the outcome of the contest with the Oaks the Pirates will be pleased over a chance to get some batting and fielding practice as well as to par-

EVERS-STALLINGS

Second baseman and manager of the Miracle Boston Braves of 1914. What a board of strategy they made! Evers, rated as one of the smartest players that ever entered the game, also did his share on the field as he led the team in a heads-up fight for the flag.

ROGERS HORNSBY

Second Baseman Hornsby joins the Boston Braves this year under virtually the same circumstances as Evers joined them 14 years ago and helped to drive them on from last place in July to a pennant and a world championship in four straight victories over the Philadelphia Athletics. Will history repeat? The Braves certainly look anything but a tail-end outfit with their new aggregation of talent.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

THERE will be only a few more boxing shows at Motor Square Garden this season. Jack Katkish and Rudy Ceder have been rematched for the main bout next Monday night and there will be no show Easter Monday. Whatever shows will be staged thereafter will depend on the weather. As soon as it gets too warm for the indoor stuff, the curtain will be lowered on the season, according to John L. Hernon, manager of the Garden, who also took over the matchmaking reins yesterday after Johnny Ray had been relieved of the duties.

The Garden has had a losing season. Several reasons have been assigned for this. One has been the general off-year for boxing due to the unemployment situation, another a lack of local attractions and still another the indifference of the fans. Just what the real reason has been, if not a combination of these, the

NEW YORK, March 28.—Four goals in arrears, the Pittsburgh Pirates of the ice, face an almost insurmountable barrier as they seek to reach the final round of the American group in the National Hockey League championship play. The Pittsburghers were trounced 4-0 by the New York Rangers in the first round contest last night, and have the Rangers to beat tomorrow night, and by five goals, ere they can get into the finals with the Boston Bruins.

The Rangers are decided favorites today to meet the Bruin team.

New York jumped off to a three-goal lead in the first period of last night's contests, and early established their superiority over the Pittsburghers. From the face-off the locals bombarded Goalie Worters, star of the Pittsburgh team, from all angles, finally crashing through three times for goals.

The Rangers, after scoring three goals in the first period, added a fourth in the second. Worters

Katkish To Box Ceder

TWO eight-round bouts, two sixes and a four likely will make up the program at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, Matchmaker John L. Hernon announced today.

Hernon has signed Jack Katkish and Rudy Ceder for the main event and is working on a semi-final between Joey LaGrey, of Johnstown, and Larry Brigolia, of Boston and Erie.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Sig Keppen, of Beaver Falls, will appear in the second six-rounder and Jack Unglo, of Etna, and Joe Louder, of the South Hills, erstwhile amateur star, will box the first six-rounder. It will be decided today whether or not a four-round preliminary will be added.

The fans are warming up to Jim McGirr's Phil Goldstein-California Joe Gans windup for tomorrow night. It will mark Goldstein's first appearance in the Tube City ring and the fans know he is a demon for cyclonic action. Allen Beatty and Tony Guido will box the semi-final and there will be two preliminaries, in the first of which K. O. Ferry, of McKeesport, will box Jimmy Duffy, of New Kensington.

"HOLD EVERYTHING GIRLS"

TEAM FORMS SUSPENDER CLUB

"Hold Everything" is the watchword of the Girls' Suspender Club of Weston, W. Va., High School. The girls found it difficult to hold their bloomers in place during their strenuous practice sessions in basketball, and, as a result, adopted their dads' suspenders to "hold everything." The team won the state title. Standing, they are (left to right), Virginia Chidester, Lillian Barnes, Evelyn Bonnell, Helen John and Minerva Blumberg. Seated—Dorothy Ramsburg, Opal Henry, Joan Barnes, Evelyn Mount and Mildred Hutchinson.

GENEVA TALKS COACHES

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 28.—Leeland Schachern, of Monaca, and Mack Flenniken, of Texas, are being seriously considered by the Geneva College board of trustees as successors to Bo McMillin, gridiron coach, according to an announcement made by the board following a special meeting yesterday. The announcement is interpreted as meaning that Schachern and Flenniken are practically assured of the job.

No mention was made of men most likely to assume Geneva's basketball and track coaching duties, but it is understood that Prof. Paul Cutwright is to be in charge of the floormen, and that Prof. Robert Parks will tutor the track and field squad.

BAN REPORTED BETTER AFTER LONG TRIP WEST

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 28.—(AP.)—B. B. Johnson, former head of the American Baseball League, who has arrived at Coronado to visit his brother, W. H. Johnson, after a long trip west on account of his weakened condition, is reported to have improved perceptibly.

Mr. Johnson is suffering from diabetes and hardening of the arteries, and has lost considerable weight. He has come here to get a complete rest, he said.

Pitt Cage Card Is Filled

PITTSBURGH appearances by Army, Iowa and Dartmouth fives, and an invasion of the Middle West for the second time in as many years, are high lights of Pitt's 1928-29 basketball schedule, announced today.

The schedule is well balanced in every respect. Seventeen games on the card call for meetings with teams of the Pittsburgh district, East and West, and of these nine are to be played at home and eight on the courts of opponents.

As was the case last season, when the Panthers achieved national honors by winning every one of 21 contests, the Pitt cagers will lift the lid in the Middle West on December 14, meeting Wisconsin. The Army passers will appear here on January 26, and on February 9 the Panthers will invade South Bend to renew their feud with Notre Dame. The schedule:

December 14—Wisconsin at Madison.
December 15—Northwestern at Evanston.
December 17—Ohio State at Columbus.
December 22 — Dartmouth at Pitt Stadium.
December 29—Iowa at Pitt Stadium.
January 11—Carnegie Tech at Stadium.
January 19—West Virginia at Stadium.
January 23—Carnegie Tech at Tech.
January 26—West Point at Stadium.
February 9—Notre Dame at Notre Dame.
February 13—W. & J. at Stadium.
February 15—Penn State at Stadium.
February 20—Grove City at Stadium.
February 26—Carnegie Tech at Stadium.
March 2—West Virginia at Morgantown.
March 6—W. & J. at Washington, Pa.
March 9—Penn State at State College.

W.-J. Hands Wallop To Grid Alarmists

By JESS CARVER.

IT REMAINED for old Wash.-Jeff. to put the reverse English on over emphasis of college football.

Wash.-Jeff. boasts no trillion dollar stadium. The total enrollment at the Washington (Pa.) school is not as large as the number of candidates that turn out annually at Yale or Harvard, Princeton or Notre Dame for the football varsity. In the place of some 20 or 30 coaches, W. and J. has ole' Andy Kerr and did have, up until last Friday, equally ole' Dave Morrow.

But here is something Wash-Jeff has that few other schools can boast: Football players, good football players, who in addition to taking batterings on the gridiron, have evidently been taking em on the chin with the old books. Three Presidents players who would fit in well in the 1928 gridiron scheme of things at Wash-Jeff have elected to take degrees instead of another football letter, and will not return to school next fall for competition, even though they are entitled to another year of varsity play. The three are May, Castilow and Mitchell.

Such an expose of studying at Wash-Jeff will come as a severe blow to those gentry about the land who have been shouting themselves net result has been a sizeable deficit on the Motor Square ledger, especially for the more recent shows, and, as a result, a general reorganization has been effected.

MATCHMAKER HERNON has clicked off a good headliner for his maiden effort in pairing Ceder and Katkish. This pair fought the most sensational bout of the year in a semi-final at the Garden several weeks ago, with Katkish winning the decision after floring Ceder three times and being on the verge of a knockout defeat himself. It was a battle of punchers and one that will live long in the memory of the fans who witnessed it.

THE reorganization of the Motor Square boxing interests at this time and the announcement of Dick Curley of Chicago, manager of Mike Dundee, that he plans to promote open-air bouts here this summer, together with reports that the Duquesne Garden Company is contemplating running some shows now that the hockey season is over, should serve to put plenty of life in the ring sport hereabouts, although the gate receipts have been nothing to write home about.

Curley has had considerable experience as a big time promoter and wants to stage nothing but major shows. His idea of a good card is one of four 10-round bouts with a couple of champions performing at popular prices. If he should deliver such packages here the fans undoubtedly would welcome him with open arms and consider him a sort of Santa Claus in the flesh.

THE New York commission says Gene Tunney must name his next opponent by Tuesday and bars Jack Dempsey as a contender for a third bout with the titleholder.

The commission knows Dempsey is through; Dempsey knows it himself and frankly admits it—yet just try to tell the fans that and make it stick. They simply won't have it that the old Manassa Mauler isn't still the daddy of them all, as witness the amazing result of a poll recently conducted by a New York newspaper to determine the people's choice of the logical contender for a Tunney bout. Only three of the boxers voted for received more than 1,000 votes, and Dempsey polled almost as many as the entire field aside from himself put together. He corraled 4,164 votes. Tommy Loughran was second with 2,019, Tom Heeney third with 1,675, Jack Delaney fourth with 544 and Johnny Risko fifth with 472. Others were voted for as follows:

Paulino Uzcudun, 462; George Godfrey, 205; Jack Sharkey, 219; Knute Hansen, 79; Roberto Roberti, 75; Phil Scott, 60; Luis Firpo (who dragged him in?), 10; Jack DeMave, 10, and Armand Emanuel, 8.

How can you figure the public's pulse?

THIS day two weeks, the Buccos are slated to jump off in St. Louis in defense of their league laurels. Provided they get a run of mild weather in the interum the team should be in good shape. Bush is worried about his pitchers. Apparently Donie would like to send a few of his sharp-shooters over the seven-inning route and to date he has been unable to do this.

THE Pirates did not have much opportunity to watch Lyn Lary and Jimmy Reese, famous Oakland players who have been sold to the Yankees. There being no infield practice the two ball hawks had to swim into action without the usual joust. Lary shapes up like a better hitter, although neither is regarded as a star at the plate. Reese hits left-handed while Lary swings from the other side. I doubt if they will be the equal of Koenig and Lazzeri.

Pirates Seek Revenge

ticipate in nine rounds of diamond pleasure.

The battle of yesterday was staged on a soggy field that made fast action impossible. Gasoline was burned upon the diamond to help the condition, but the clouds began to weep about game-time and the first inning was played in moisture overhead and underfoot.

Eventually the sun came out and made overhead conditions pleasant, but the field was in bad shape throughout the fight.

The contest was stared without the conventional preliminaries. There were no fielding nor batting practice periods. The attendance was low on account of the threatening skies. A large crowd is expected for the last day as Remy Kremer, Oakland favorite, probably will do the pitching if the elements are mild.

Nearly every member of the Pirate infield was afflicted with low throwing in the wet fight of yesterday. The Yanigan infield went into action with the sixth inning and with the seventh round, the youngsters made a couple of bad throws that helped to spill the beans. The Buccos enjoyed a one-run lead as the seventh was being run off. Joe Cronin threw one low to Harris that put the tying tally on second and Dick Bartell dipped one in the dirt at the plate in trying to stop the marker that brought about a deadlock. The Oaks scored the winning counter in the same frame.

Glenn Spencer and Lester Bartholomew, two of the most promising young pitchers, worked the nine rounds for Bush. The former was leading when he left the game, despite three tallies made by the Oaks in the first round. First Baseman Fenton, one of the home stars, tripled in the first with two mates on the sacks. Fenton, a big league prospect, had a perfect day at the plate with three hits and two walks.

The Pirates scored all their five runs in the first two frames. Lloyd Waner made a double and a triple in the early rounds.

George Boehler, once a Pirate, fooled the Pittsburghers completely in the last three rounds. Big George allowed only one hit, George Gotteber ringing up a fine single in the eighth. Bobby Hasty, a member of Connie Mack's team years ago, worked the first three rounds. Duff flagged the Pirates in the middle three frames.

DUQUESNE LIGHT BEATS P. & L. E. IN OPENER

The Duquesne Light passers drew first blood in the Commercial-Industrial League post-season series for the championship last night when they defeated Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, 40 to 21, before a crowd of more than 1,000 at the South Side Market House. Duquesne Light won the first-round title and P. & L. E. the second.

it will last at least one month.

THAT ability alone will not win lasting success for any man unless it is backed up by earnest effort and a strict attention to business at all times, is shown again in the case of Johnny Morrison, the one-time star pitcher whom the Pittsburgh club is trying to dispose of to a minor league outfit.

Only five years ago, Morrison won 25 games in a season, the first pitcher to amass such a total since Howard Camnitz did it back in 1909. The preceding year, 1922, Morrison won 17 games, so that in two successive seasons he turned in 42 victories for his club.

HAD he obeyed the common rules of training and fitness, Morrison would be good for some time yet in the big show, and the club would be glad to have him on the payroll.

Sam Dreyfuss.

At the time he won 25 games in a season, Pittsburgh could have put its own price on Johnny if it had been willing to sell him, but only a few days ago when it tried to dispose of him to a minor league club, the latter refused to pay $7,500 for him, a sum that is far below that paid frequently nowadays for untried youngsters in the sticks.

Morrison's fate should be a lesson to many of the rookies just starting out in baseball.

JUST because the Pirates ran into a record-breaking run of unfavorable weather in San Francisco and Oakland, causing the players, particularly the pitchers to lose much of the physical fitness they had previously gained in their training camp farther South in California, it does not necessarily follow that they will abandon the coast as a training place, as is now rumored.

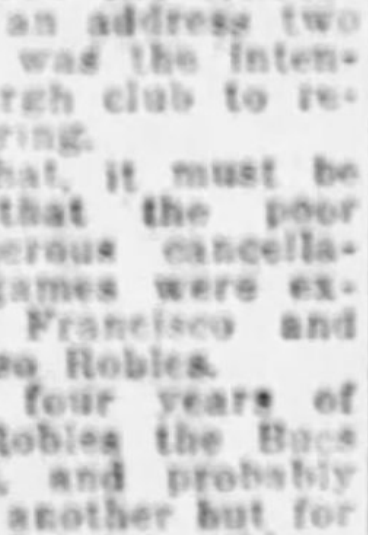
As a matter of fact, Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss assured the citizens of Paso Robles in an address two weeks ago that it was the intention of the Pittsburgh club to return there next spring.

In addition to that, it must be borne in mind that the poor weather and numerous cancellations of practice games were experienced in San Francisco and Oakland, not in Paso Robles.

In the previous four years of training in Paso Robles the Bucs won two pennants, and probably would have bagged another but for the Carey-Bigbee-Adams trouble.

That's a good enough record to warrant the club in sticking to Paso Robles as a training place next spring.

REGIS LEHENY, the Pittsburgh boy who was tried out by the Pirates on the coast and was released to the Salisbury club of the South Atlantic Association, for further seasoning, left yesterday to join his new club.



R. Leheny.

That Leheny will be back later for another trial in the majors is the opinion of all the veteran Pirates as well as of the management. Manager Bush says that he liked the Pittsburgh left-hander's work more each succeeding day, and that he has bright hopes for his success in the big show as soon as he acquires the degree of control required in fast company.

John Deming, Bellevue right-hander, who was released with Leheny, also has returned home, but has not yet been placed.

WHEN he cannot escape defeat at the hands of such opposition as Tony Maurullo of New Orleans, it's about high time for Mike McTigue to hang up his gloves and withdraw gracefully from the game in which he has been operating professionally for more than 14 years.

Though he had announced that he would quit after three fights—in which he lost to Tommy Loughran, and Mickey Walker and was held to a draw by Larry Gaines—the fans were patient with Michael when he forgot his promise and came out for one more chance in New York Monday night against Marullo.

T. Marullo.

Failure to beat Marullo, however, just about clinches the case that McTigue is done and cannot expect to do much coming back when drawing near to the 36-year mark.

In 11 decision bouts last year, Marullo lost no fewer than seven, being beaten by Loughran twice, and also by Leo Lomski, Maxie Rosenbloom, Eddie Huffman, Yale Okun, and Benny Ross. The only men he defeated were Caveman Fisher, Tommy West, Pat McCarthy ad Joe Lohman.

MIELES WIN OPENER OF TITULAR SERIES

The J. J. Mieles started off on the right foot in defense of their Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League championship when they defeated the Sianos at Columbus Temple last night, 28 to 20. The Mieles overcame a one-point lead in the second half and were never overtaken. The second game will be played Friday.

Will Extend Grid Season

By TOM BIRKS.

THE cup committee of the West Penn Football Association at a meeting last night voted to reopen the Western Pennsylvania senior cup competition, won by Heidelberg two weeks ago, following the decision received from the National Appeals Committee awarding the Pittsburgh Celtics a decision over the Pittsburgh Soccer Club in the third round of the competition. The Celtics were ordered to play the Douglas A. C. April 8 and continue in the tourney until eliminated.

This means the Celtics will have to play the Douglas A. C. German Sport Club, Pittsburgh Rovers and Heidelberg in the order named until defeated. When the Celtics are defeated, or defeat Heidelberg in the final, the tourney will close. So there is a prospect of soccer being with us most part of the summer.

The much discussed game between the Celtics and Pittsburgh was called by Referee Sherrard one minute from time, with the Celtics leading and having a penalty awarded them. The Pittsburgh team refused to allow the kick to be taken and Sherrard called the game. The old soccer regime was in power, and after the most peculiar decision in soccer's history the game was ordered replayed and Referee Sherrard taken to task. The replay found Pittsburgh defeating the Celtics only to lose in the next round to the German Club.

The Celtics took the case to the national board and it was a foregone conclusion how the decision would go. So now once again we have the West Penn championship still undecided.

A letter has been received from the national body stating that Mike Bookie had been released from the Internationals. Mike is still a professional, this might be helpful to the fans boosting Bookie's stock for an Olympic team berth.

Nothing is reported changed in the matter of Western Pennsylvania's team going to St. Louis. The team is scheduled to leave Saturday and will play Sunday. A letter is reported on its way to Pittsburgh carrying details.

The middle West, of which Western Pennsylvania is considered a part, has been invited to send an international team to meet Canada at Toronto in April.

This communication was from Secretary Cahill and was a little vague. Secretary Donohue is asking more details regarding the makeup of the team and how the selection will take place. It is logical, however, that the American International team will be selected from Ohio, Michigan and West Penn, and open to amateurs or professionals.

Mrs. Sadie Lockerman, Acmetonia, had to put on boots when she hung the wash in her backyard. "Fine state of affairs," she said.

FUN FOR CHILDREN

Adults may be complaining about the swamp around the barracks of the striking miners at Acmetonia, but the children and ducks are making the most of the inundation. Helen Necheff and her little friend, Emma Charick, played about, with ducks quacking their contentment. But Mrs. Necheff and Mrs. Charick, and all the rest of the adults about the district are concerned over the swamp-like appearance. James Smithen, one of the township supervisiors, said they couldn't dig ditches without an order from the Department of Public Health.

THE FLOODED AREA

View of part of the inundated section or Acmetonia where it is feared typhoid may follow hot days on stagnant water. Dr. John R. He did admit that steps were being taken to have the large expanse drained shortly. More than 60 families of striking miners are living here.

HEILMANN HITS STRIDE

SLUGGER OUT TO CHASE JINX

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 28.—(AP.)—The tendency of the major league batting champion, Harry Heilman, Detroit Tiger, to lift baseballs out of the southern baseball fields this spring has led to the belief that Harry is priming down to a jinx. Recently in an exhibition game the big fielder lifted two four-base drives, and he has been contributing other extra-base hits consistently.

During the past eight seasons Heilmann has captured the American League batting championships in the odd years. With the even year, the 1928 season before him, Heilmann appears in splendid condition and has assumed unofficially the job of training batters both by example and instruction.

COBB TO PLAY WITH A'S

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 28.—(AP.)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has dropped the role of "the silent leader," temporarily at least.

Today he made it his personal business to brand as a canard a story going round that Ty Cobb would not be back with the Athletics this year because his legs had given out after nearly a quarter of a century in the big show. "Not a thing to the yarn," Mack declared. "Cobb will be with us just as soon as Mrs. Cobb, who has been ill, regains her health. So far as we are concerned, Ty's legs are all right."

Mack dropped his silent role yesterday long enough to give his players a lecture that brought results, for the Athletics went into the last pre-season game and stopped the Boston Braves, 11 to 2. Mack found fault with the overabundance of levity and jocularity he had observed.

CUYLER AGAIN BRILLIANT

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—(AP.)—The Chicago Cubs, following the example of their ex-Pirate fielder, Kiki Cuyler, hammered out enough runs yesterday to whip another coast team—the Hollywood Stars. The final count was 7 to 5.

Cuyler, with four hits in five times at the plate, led the attack, to which McMillan, Wilson and Stephenson also contributed.

ERRORS WIN FOR GIANTS

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 28.—(AP.)—The Red Sox seem definitely jinxed by the New York Giants. They handed the McGraw crew yesterday's encounter on the proverbial platter in a 10-inning session in which all but the first of the New York four runs were scored on Boston errors. The Sox made twice as many errors as runs.

MANUSH REGAINS FORM

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 28.—(AP.)—Heinie Manush, big ex-Detroiter, is able to swing his bat again. The St. Louis Browns, here today for two games with the Chicks of the Southern League, rejoiced in the way Manush handled his bat in the 18 to 7 victory over Birmingham yesterday. He swung healthily three times and missed each time. But this fact was eclipsed by the way he swung. It showed clearly that his right arm, wrist and hand have regained their strength again. He injured them in a fall in Detroit some time ago.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

The Homewood-Brushton baseball boosters' committee will hold its next meeting in Odd Fellows Hall, Municipal Building, Brushton, Friday evening, at which plans for the season will be discussed and arrangements completed for the old-fashioned dance and bingo party to be held April 18 to raise additional funds for the County League club which will represent the community. Regis M. Welsh will be the speaker of the evening.

The board of directors was also increased by one, with the selection of F. C. Bacastow.

Girls in Line For Big Ten Varsities

CHICAGO, March 28.—(AP.)—The possibility of women competing as members of Big Ten varsity squads, as suggested at the University of Wisconsin, where Dorothy Page, former woman's western golf champion, will seek a place on the golf team, is favored by Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern University.

"If they decide Miss Page is eligible to play, we shall be glad to welcome Florence Beebe, Illinois woman's state golf champion and a Northwestern student, to our golf squad," he said.

Most of the Northwestern athletes, however, expressed themselves unfavorably, fearing that too many feminine aspirants for places on various athletic squads would only complicate the situation.

UMPIRE M'PHERSON ON SUSPENDED LIST

Wesley McPherson, former officer of the Pittsburgh Umpires' Association, is on the suspended list of the organization today as a result of his having refused to express his loyalty to the body at a meeting last night.

The association voted to suspend all members who did not express such a feeling, taking the action in an effort to put an end to some bolting from the organization which has been going on to some extent recently. McPherson was the lone member who refused to swear new allegiance to the body and accordingly was suspended.

A commission was appointed to draw up a new scale of rates with leagues which are associate arbiters during the coming baseball campaign.

WASH-JEFF

horse over alleged over emphasis of college football. Not so long ago, Harvard offered to trade a couple of good professors for a fair halfback, and even more recent date was West Virginia Wesleyan's offer to trade two good halfbacks and a tackle for a good professor, or was it an assistant professor?

It would be entirely in keeping in view of the fact that Andy Kerr isn't going to be any too well fortified with football material next fall, for the President mentor to issue a call for more and dumber players.

A well known Big Ten coach once made the crack that he would not permit his school to book a game with any small school that would presume to compete on equal terms with a university 10 or 15 times its size in point enrollment thus pointing the finger of suspicion at the eligibility code and athletic scruples of the little institution.

That gentlemen will have cause to ponder when he hears of the affair at Wash-Jeff, and may cause him to check back over the years and see how many men his school ever turned out in three years who might have returned and played a fourth.

Three rousing cheers and a tiger of two are due the Wash-Jeff folk for not insisting that Messers May, Castilow and Mitchell forsake an early diploma for the doubtful honor of returning for another year of "dying for the dear old varsity."

The Panther basketball team, national champions and undefeated wonders of the East, West, North, South, or where have you, was well feted last night by Braddock business men at the Edgewood Club.

Coach Bill Evans' Braddock High squad was also honored by the Braddock sportsmen, being co-honor guests with the Pitt team.

BOWLING

staged a slow exhibition. The Amusement Parlor, of Oswego, N. Y., rolled 2,938 for eleventh place in this event and was the only team to reach 2,900.

Frank Snyder and Mike Flick, of Erie, Pa., who shot 1,317 to win the doubles at Peoria last year, were off form when they appeared with the Hill Mill Ice Cream five of Erie. The team score was 2,859. Snyder had 628, but Flick made only 428. They roll in the doubles and singles today.

Other five-men scores: Erie, Pa., Arbeiter Club, 2,806; Diehl's, Elizabeth, N. J., 2,769; W. B. Foshay, No. 1, Minneapolis, 2,746; Colonial Club, Port Clinton, O., 2,742; Telling Ice Cream, Akron, O., 2,737; Yellow Cabs, Akron, 2,733; Akron Oil, 2,715; Schauble Studio, Erie, 2,704.

There were no changes among the first five leaders of the four events. With the Mineralites supreme in the five-men class, Schmidt, of Chicago, held first in the singles with 702, and the veteran Phil Wolf, also of Chicago, remained at the top in the all-events with 1,937. Will and Hradek, of Cicero, Ill., lead the doubles with 1,363, shot Sunday.

Upwards of 100 middlewestern entries roll in the singles and doubles this morning. Local bowlers take over the alleys in the afternoon and in the first five-men session tonight.

CLAIMS DUX RECORD

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 28.—Johnny Casper, owner of the Elite bowling alleys here, set what he believes is the world's record for duckpins last night in a bowling tourney at his place of business. Casper turned in a 696 score for three consecutive games, and had for his scores 275, 172, 249. This was the second time in the past week that records have been established on the alleys. Robert (Tex) Flickard of Charleroi rolled a perfect 300 score last Friday evening in a match game here.

NEW YORK, March 28.—(INS.)—Gus Copulos, of Detroit, today leads Willie Hoppe, 200 to 198, in their special 600-point three-cushion billiard match here. Hoppe won the fourth block last night, 55 to 26, but failed to erase the lead which Copulos had taken by a sensational 72-to-49 victory in the third block.

In the third block Copulos led all the way, making three runs of seven and several smaller clusters. He made his 72 points in only 59 innings.

Trailing by a score of 150 to 146, Hoppe managed to cut his rival's lead to two points by winning the fourth block. His high run was 11 as against an eight by Copulos.

A check of the list of teams entered in the American Duckpin Congress tournament, to be rolled in Pittsburgh from April 9 to 21, presents a puzzling situation to Manager Hilary E. Wertz and his tournament committee. That is the comparative scarcity of entries from the commercial and industrial leagues of Pittsburgh.

In the recent duckpin tournament in Baltimore 264 teams rolled and of these 247 were industrial league quintets. And this in the face of the fact that Baltimore had no such equitable prize system as the one under which the Pittsburgh tourney is to be rolled. In Baltimore all the prize money was absorbed by the top of the list, while in the A. D. C. event the contestants in all events will be divided into four equal classes, according to the scores they roll, and prizes will be distributed in each class of each event so that good, medium and poor bowlers will be competing against those of equal ability and all classes will get an equal chance to roll into the money.

The committee expects a last-minute rush of these league bowlers before entries close, at 925 Fulton Building, Pittsburgh, at 6 o'clock Saturday, March 31.

HOCKEY

handled 17 difficult saves in the final period to hold the New Yorkers scoreless. Frank Boucher opened the scoring less than five minutes after the face-off. Bunny Cook netted a pass from his brother Bill for the second and Alex Gray pushed in a pass from Murdock before the first period ended.

Ching Johnson ended the scoring early in the second period when he drove Boucher's pass from right wing past Worters. The game was cleanly played before a crowd of 8,000 persons.

Six penalties were meted out to the Rangers, Leo Bourgault and Paul Thompson getting two each. Jack McKinnon received two of the Pirates' three minors.

Boucher was the outstanding player on the Ranger team. The Ranger center was the spearhead of most of the three man rushes, and on the defense he poke-checked several Pirate rushes back behind their own blue line.

Most of the Pirate assaults which carried any punch at all were made by Pirate defense men, Martin Burke, Jack McKinnon and Roger Smith making frequent solo dashes into Ranger territory.

SENATORS BEATEN

OTTAWA, March 28.—(AP.)—Montreal Maroons got off to a one-goal margin over Ottawa in the first game of their play-off series here last night, nosing out the Senators, 1 to 0, in a fast and hotly contested fracas. The teams battled through a scoreless first period, but as the half way mark was reached in the second frame Lamb, a Montreal sub, dented the cords on a pretty solo effort for the only counter of the game.

The lineup:

MAROONS—1.		SENATORS—0.
Benedict	G	Connell
Siebert	D	G. Boucher
Dutton	D	Clancy
Smith	C	Nighbor
Ward	W	Kilrea
Stewart	W	Finnigan

Montreal spares—Munroe, Lamb, Phillips, Oatman and Brown.

Ottawa spares—A. Smith, Broadbent, Grosvenor, Denneny, Shields and Godin.

Referees—Rodden and LaFlamme.

Second period—Montreal, Lamb, 9:05. Penalties—Dutton, Munro 2, Nighbor, Finnigan, Grosvenor.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties—Seibert, Finnigan.

4 IN FAMILY DIE IN 5 WEEKS

Within five weeks death has struck four times, wiping out the Dickson family, residents of 46 Walnut street, Crafton. Alexander, 67, and George, 72, will be buried Friday in Mt. Lebanon following a double funeral service.

Joseph, 75, the first to die, was the victim of a stroke several weeks ago. Then Sadie, 62, who had kept house for her three brothers, became ill and died a few days later. Pneumonia caused the death of Alexander last Saturday and George died yesterday in a hospital of pneumonia following an operation.

OUST SALESMEN IN UNIFORMS

"Forward march—and straight out of Pittsburgh," was the command given today by Assistant United States District Attorney Raymond D. Evans to two former soldiers who, wearing their uniforms, have been selling magazines in front of local theaters.

Evans, an ex-service man, reminded the peace-time warriors, who said they were Morris Aberman and Frank Venemeyer, both of Cincinnati, that it was a violation of the National Defense Act to use their uniforms to gain sympathy in any business.

SLEUTHS TO GET STEEL VESTS

Payroll bandits intending paying Allegheny county a visit in the future, better watch their step. The newly organized bandit squad, County Detective Bureau, is to receive the latest equipment for bandit chasing. Six bullet-proof vests, a powerful automobile with bullet-proof windshield, and six new sedan-type machines will be purchased. Bids were opened today by County Commissioners. The vests will cost $100 each, and the bullet-proof machine, $2,972.

The six new automobiles will replace the present six dilapidated "lizzies." George H. Murrin, chief of county detectives, in requesting the new equipment, informed the Commissioners that "better time could be made on a bicycle than in the present machines."

Bids for the purchase of a $2,000 automobile for District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, a machine for the County Farm Bureau and two trucks for county parks also were opened. The Commissioners will award the contracts later.

SCHENLEY HIGH PUPIL ADMITS MONEY THEFTS

Admitting numerous "lunch money" thefts from fellow students at Schenley High School, James Patton, 16, Negro, of 2926 Orbin street, was held for court on a larceny charge by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. He was charged with stealing a wrist watch from Robert Wilkins, a student, of 777 Hazelwood avenue.

GREENSBURG AS CITY KEEPS BOROUGH TAX

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 28.—Greensburg, advanced from a borough to a third-class city status January 1, will retain the borough tax rate, 15 mills, Council has decided.

ONE DIES, THREE GRIEVE TO GRAVES

MISS SADIE DICKSON

Three brothers and a sister, the entire household of the Dickson family, 46 Walnut street, Crafton, died within five weeks. Miss Sadie Dickson, 62, followed her brother, Joseph, 75, in death within a few days; Alexander Dickson, 74, died last Saturday and now George, 67, passes.

ALEXANDER DICKSON

For many years connected with a railway express company, Alexander Dickson died last Saturday of pneumonia, a few weeks after the death of his oldest brother and only sister. The four will be buried in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery.

GEORGE DICKSON

Those who knew the Dickson brothers and sister claim the sudden deaths subsequent to the first one were not due to disease, but to broken hearts. None of the little family was married and they lived in rare happiness and devotion to each other. George was a member of the Shrine band, Syria Mosque, and past grand master.

SURETY FIRM HERE O. K'D

HARRISBURG, March 28.—Approval was given today by Gov. Fisher to the incorporation of the Pennsylvania Surety Corporation with headquarters in Pittsburgh. The company organized with a capital stock of $500,000 will engage in a general insurance business. Officers of the corporation are Joseph W. Ward, president; H. H. Paterson, secretary, and Walter J. Curley, treasurer, all of Pittsburgh.

PGH. RYS. BUYS MIFFLIN LINE

The Pittsburgh Railways has bought the Homestead-Mifflin Street Railway Company, according to a notice posted in the Homestead office today. The Railways will take over operation on April 1. The line has 10 cars, employs 30 men and runs from Homestead to Mifflin township. It was started 26 years ago.

Ho, Hum! Perfect Bridge Hand Again

Now and then, here and there, a perfect bridge hand is dealt to someone.

Ted Corbett, an instructor at the Pittsburgh Academy, got one last night, in the form of thirteen spades, while attending a bridge party at the home of Louis Smith, Mt. Lebanon. It was the first hand of the evening, and his wife was his partner. Corbett bid four spades, was not doubled, and made—of course—a grand slam.

GIVEN $13,000 FOR FALL

Miss Esther Levitt, 22, of Webster avenue, was awarded $12,000 against the B-G Sandwich Shop, 421 Fifth avenue, by a jury in Common Pleas Court today for a permanent injury to the spine, suffered two years ago in a fall in the shop.

Miss Levitt slipped on the floor, where a porter had been mopping. The case was heard by Judge James B. Drew, and Miss Levitt was represented by Attorney Rody P. Marshall.

MAN BURNED ON STOVE SUCCUMBS IN HOSPITAL

Burns on the body suffered when he fell against a stove caused the death of James Mountain, 56, of 445 Johns street, near Braddock, in the Mercy Hospital last night. He was found shortly before lying beside the coal stove in the Pittsburgh Railways Company's shanty at Marion Junction and Second avenue, where he was employed as a watchman.

WOMAN CAN'T SHOW NOTES, BOARDER FREED

When Mrs. Mabel A. Wingard, 26, of 1012 Manhattan street, couldn't produce the threatening letters she said Nicholas S. Falico, a boarder in her home, sent her, Magistrate A. D. Brandon discharged Falico in Morals Court today. Falico said he wanted $200 back he had lent Mrs. Wingard, but denied threatening her.

New Blood Rises to Top Of Our Largest Railroads.

By B. C. FORBES

HOW rapidly $50,000-a-year and $100,000-a-year jobs become available is illustrated by the numerous changes which have been occurring in the presidencies of our very large enterprises, both industrial and railway. Would you believe that only three of our 20 leading railway systems have the same president today as they had 12 years ago? Not one has the same president it had in 1905.

Even within the last five years 10 of these roads have elected new presidents.

Tomorrow facts and figures relating to important industrial changes will be given.

WITHIN the last year or two switching of railway presidents has taken place on several roads. It seems the aim of the directorates is to secure younger blood.

Recent changes have included: The election of H. A. Scandrett to succeed H. E. Byram as president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Mr. Byram becoming chairman of the board. J. J. Bernet, the Van Swearingens' right-hand railway operator, has taken the place of F. D. Underwood, formerly president of the Erie, while Mr. Bernet's place as president of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis has been filled by W. L. Ross. L. R. Downs, formerly head of the Central of Georgia, is now presiding over the Illinois Central in succession to C. H. Markham. W. R. Cole not long since stepped up from the presidency of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, to the chief executive post of the Louisville and Nashville.

THE lamented death of S. Davies Warfield brought L. R. Powell, Jr., into the presidency of the Seaboard Air Line; William H. Truesdale's place as president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western was filled by J. M. Davis. R. B. White has become president of the Central of New Jersey; Col. H. L. Howard, president of the Chicago Great Western, succeeded S. M. Felton; A. C. Needles now commands the Norfolk and Western, in succession to N. D. Maher; T. M. Shumacher handles the Western Pacific following C. M. Levey; Henry Walters has taken the place of J. R. Kenly at the helm of the Atlantic Coast Line; C. W. Johnston succeeds J. A. Edson as president of the Kansas City Southern.

WHEN we go back to 1905, we find that among the stalwarts then at the throttle of our leading railroads were E. H. Harriman, who was president of both the Southern and Union Pacific; J. J. Hill, head of the Great Northern; E. P. Ripley, the redoubtable rejuvenator of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; Marvin Hughitt, of the Chicago and Northwestern, who died recently at the age of 90; Stuyvesant Fish, of the Illinois Central, who lost out in his famous battle with Harriman; A. J. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania; George K. Gould, of the Missouri Pacific—although even then the Gould dynasty was crumbling disastrously.

COMPARING railway presidents of today with those in office in 1915, the following three were in charge then and are still holding the same positions: Daniel Willard, William Sproule and Fairfax Harrison.

CERTAINLY there is no need for youngish men to despair of finding scope—and fortune—in this country.

P. R. R. TO ISSUE NEW STOCK

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad directors today authorized a stock allotment of 12½ per cent at par.

What Is a Life Insurance Trust?

Simply this—an agreement between a man carrying life insurance and a Trust Company whereby the Trust Company collects, manages and distributes the proceeds of the life insurance policy in the precise manner desired before death.

In other words—your insurance money is insured against going astray after you are gone.

Your wife and children deserve this double protection. You have probably provided abundantly—but can you be sure your loved ones will benefit? Many a widow has made unwise investments.

Let me explain this double protection.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 28.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 7 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables. Offerings were light and prices steadied up after the call on covering, combined with a little trade and commission house buying which may have been influenced by prospects for showery weather in eastern and central sections of the belt.

Old crop positions were relatively steady on covering by May shorts, with that delivery selling up from 19.44c to 19.52c, or 2 points net higher. New crop positions rallied slightly, but were a shade under yesterday's closing figures at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported liquidation, with Egyptian and London selling in Liverpool promoted by a decline in Egyptian cotton.

Trading was quiet later, with prices easing slightly toward midday under further liquidation and some local selling on the failure of the eastern belt shower predictions to bring in more aggressive buying. May sold off to 19.43c or 7 points net lower while October declined to 18.83c with the general market showing net losses of about 7 to 10 points at midday.

THREE PITTSBURGHERS HELD IN REALTY FRAUD

FARRELL, Pa., March 28.—Accused of having sold an old building in lower Broadway for $10,000 by representing it as a modern hotel doing a big business, Frank Fleischer, E. Ross and Joseph Aldrich, of Pittsburgh, have been arrested and held for court on $2,000 bond.

John Salko, Rockingham, Pa., miner, told officials that he gave $4,000 cash and five pieces of Youngstown property to complete the deal.

NEW FIREFIGHTING TRUCK FOR DAWSON

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 28.—Dawson, three miles west of here, has joined the growing list of small communities in this section which have purchased new fire fighting equipment. A truck of pumper type with a capacity of 500 gallons a minute has been installed.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

"Rights" on Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania Railroad directors today ordered a stock allotment of 12½ per cent to present shareholders at par, $50 a share. The action was not unexpected in trading circles and was at least partially discounted by the rise in the stock to above $70 a share this week. Stockholders approved a proposal to sell to employes $17,500,000 of capital stock upon such terms as directors shall order.

A. P. I. Oil Figures.

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 1,600 barrels for the week ended March 24, totaling 2,387,000 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,763,000 barrels, a decrease of 10,100 barrels. Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended March 24 totaled 228,571 barrels, compared with 261,571 barrels for the previous week, and 227,571 barrels for the four weeks ended March 24. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf coast ports for the week ended March 24 totaled 38,428 barrels, compared with 22,571 barrels for the previous week and 46,714 barrels for the four weeks ended March 24.

Overland Earnings Gain.

Willys-Overland Company reports for the year 1927 net income of $6,341,519 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equal after preferred dividends to $2.04 a share on 2,526,362 common shares, against 22 cents a share on the common in 1926. The latter figure included extraordinary charge-offs.

General Electric.

General Electric Company reports for the year 1927 net income of $48,739,431 after depreciation and federal taxes, equal after dividends on the special stock to $6.41 a share on 7,211,481 common shares, comparing with net of $46,672,486 or $6.11 a share in 1926. Miscellaneous securities are carried in the balance sheet at $12,618,703, a decrease from 1926, but General Electric is said to own around 250,000 shares of the common stock of the Radio Corporation of America which has a market value at today's prices of more than $40,000,000.

Unfilled orders at end of 1927 were $48,916,000, against $72,297,000 in 1926. Orders received during 1927 were $299,764,622, against $327,406,207 in 1926.

Steel Operations Rise.

Ingot production of the United States Steel Corporation has risen to slightly more than 90 per cent of capacity from about 85 per cent a week ago. Independent steel companies are at nearly 79 per cent. Operations of the entire industry are given an average of nearly 85 per cent, against 84 per cent the week before and 83 per cent two weeks ago.

North American Power Output.

Electric output of subsidiaries of the North American Company operating in the industrial territories of Cleveland, Milwaukee, St. Louis and San Francisco, was 104,100,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended March 22, against 102,600,000 kilowatt hours the week before, and a gain of 12.7 per cent over a year ago.

Week's Loadings Decrease.

Loading of revenue freight cars for the week ended March 17 amounted to 942,986 cars, a decrease of 8,467 cars from the preceding week and 39,846 below the corresponding week in 1927, the American Railway Association reports.

Pennsylvania for February.

Pennsylvania Railroad February net operating income was $6,871,480, against $6,642,421 in February, 1927. For the two months net totaled $13,121,107, compared with $11,276,837 last year.

Pittsburgh and Lake Erie.

Pittsburgh and Lake Erie for February reports as follows:

	1928.	1927.
Oper. revenue	$2,340,000	$2,618,000
Net oper. income	593,000	692,000
For two months—
Oper. revenue	$4,675,000	$5,224,000
Net oper. income	1,027,000	1,219,000

MOP's Income Larger.

February net operating income of the Missouri Pacific rose to $1,457,548 from $1,180,162 in February, 1927, but gross revenues declined to $10,655,676 from $10,162,946.

New Haven Improves.

The New Haven Railroad reports February net income was $161,582, compared with net loss of $244,849 in February, 1927. For two months net income totaled 224,234, against net loss of $461,104 last year.

Sinclair Buying Continues.

Oil stocks bulged up again this morning under the leadership of Sinclair, which, Street reports say, is being accumulated in anticipation of a change in control. Sinclair was around 30, new high ground for the stock for several years, and a gain of 12 points or so from the level at which it started its move early this month. Several of the Standard Oil companies are mentioned as having an eye on Sinclair. Atlantic Refining and Prairie Oil are among the concerns spoken of. Atlantic could use the Sinclair distributing plant in the Middle West nicely and the same applies to Prairie. Standard of Indiana and Sinclair are associated through joint ownership of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company, each holding 50 per cent of the latter. Realignment of the big oil producing, refining and distributing organizations has no doubt been under way during the last several months, while the industry has been in the throes of depression and it is quite likely that some surprises await the stock market when the curtain is lifted.

Traders Switching Stocks.

There was considerable switching from the over-bulled industrials into stocks which have not as yet made any response to the excited markets of the past few days. The oils were conspicuous as having come into favor with some obviously strong buyers and American Sugar performed in a manner suggesting clique operations on the up side. However, the old leaders were well supported apparently. The Street is discussing a report that the General Motors interests had switched their Steel common investment into Radio, but the price was not mentioned. The steel was bought around 123 and was liquidated with a profit of $2,500,000 on the 114,000 shares. Removal of this number of Radio shares, not to mention the probability of a greater amount having been purchased, would have a telling effect on the floating supply, and it is probably true that the crowd engineering the Radio move has a pretty good idea of what the Du Ponts bought and what they are going to do with it.

Jersey Raises Export Gas.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has advanced export gasoline ½ cent a gallon in cases to 24.97 cents.

E. W. Tod & Co. are offering a new issue of $240,000 Central Ohio Steel Products Company 15-year first closed mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds on a 6.10 per cent yield basis, and $100,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock of the same company at 100 and accrued dividend. The preferred carries a bonus of one-half share of common for each share purchased.

St. Paul Car Inquiry.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific shortly will distribute contracts for 4,150 miscellaneous cars.

Forty-four Rails Beat January Net.

The first 44 railroads to report February earnings and net railway operating income of $46,531,000, against $45,519,000 in February last year, a decrease of 2.4 per cent. Their January net was $39,526,000.

Phelps Dodge Cuts Loss.

The Phelps Dodge Corporation reports net loss of $199,095 for the year 1927 after deducting $4,725,540 for depreciation and depletion, compared with loss of $947,584 in 1926, when $4,195,757 was set aside for depreciation and depletion.

American Drug Shows Profit.

American Druggist Syndicate reports for year 1927 net income was $[illegible] after charges and taxes, compared with net loss of $319,931 in 1926.

Copper Metal at 14¼ Cents.

Copper was advanced ¼ cent a pound to 14¼ cents delivered in the Connecticut Valley, with a good tonnage reported sold at the higher figure. This is the first mark up this year, the market having held firm at 14⅛ cents since the middle of December, 1927.

Seminole Output Higher.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. today produced 291,334 barrels of crude oil, against 251,272 barrels Tuesday.

Northern Pipe Line.

Directors of Northern Pipe Line Company have decided to call a special meeting of stockholders to consider a reduction of capital from $4,000,000 to $2,000,000. If stockholders approve the plan it is probable a cash distribution of $50 per share will be made.

STOCK FRENZY COOLS, RISE RESUMED

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—With the technical position of the market obviously improved by yesterday's swift and sweeping reaction, the stock market resumed its upward movement today in a much more orderly fashion. Making up of the call money rate to 5 per cent, following a renewal rate of 4¾, caused a flurry of selling which carried several of the leaders down 2 to 7 points, but the general list pushed forward, with early gains running from 2 to nearly 11 points.

Total sales had crossed the 2,-860,000 share mark before 1 p. m., and the ticker was 24 minutes behind the market at that time.

Stiffer money rates, coinciding with the calling of about $20,000,-000 in bank loans, reflected the heavy demand for funds in connection with quarterly settlements. The weekly steel trade reviews reported that heavy steel output was being maintained but that the trend of prices was no longer upward.

Rails assumed increasing prominence in the upswing. Texas and Pacific soared 10¾ points to a new high record at 134⅝, and New York Central crossed 180 for the first time in its history. St. Paul common and preferred, Rock Island, Reading and Northern Pacific also reached new high ground.

Commercial Solvents extended its early gain to 8 points and S. H. Kress, Atlantic Refining, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting and Consolidated Gas sold 3 to 5 points higher. Collins & Aikman, Hudson and International Nickel were heavy.

Radio, which broke 7¼ points to 161½ around midday, was quoted at "171 bid" about an hour later.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 28.—Wheat prices jumped more than 2 cents a bushel today in the case of March delivery, with July touching a new high price record for the season. Traders who needed wheat to fill contracts expiring with the end of the current month were urgent bidders. Opening ⅛c to 2⅛c up, wheat later held within the initial range.

At noon wheat was ⅝c to 1c net higher and corn a shade to ⅛c up.

Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting unchanged to ⅛c higher and subsequently advancing all around.

Inquiries relative to soaring quotations today for the Chicago March delivery of wheat were answered with the pit traders' familiar verse:

"He who sells what isn't hisn,
"Must buy it in or go to prison."

Explanation given of a more moderate rise in the value of other deliveries of wheat were that buying was based on coming private reports likely to show a domestic crop condition of less than 70 per cent, compared with 84 on December 1.

Persistent buying of corn today on the part of recent sellers did much to strengthen the corn market. It was also pointed out that much of the corn arriving here was coming not from rural sources, but from loading outside markets, Milwaukee in particular.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—Trading was active and the undertone firm on the bond market today.

The railroad issues again made the best showing. St. Paul 5s of 2000 moved to a new peak at 70 and Denver and Rio Grande Western 5s to a new high at 96⅝. Nickel Plate 6s sagged a bit after touching their previous peak. International and Great Northern 6s were in demand.

Utilities were inclined to softness, with little demand. Sinclair Consolidated Oil 6½ strengthened coincident with rumors of a change in the control of the company. Andes Copper Mine 7s gained a full point under fairly heavy buying.

Numerous soft spots appeared in the foreign list.

Trading was slow in United States government obligations.

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

FIND MISSING MAN'S HAT

Arising early yesterday morning, Louis Dubel, 45, of 211 Mansfield street, Glendale, disappeared from his home, and the only trace of him was found by boys who discovered his hat on the bank of Chartiers Creek.

Dubel, formerly a track foreman for the Panhandle Railroad, left a wife and six children. He had been in ill health for two years. When he left home he wore only a hat and overcoat over his night clothing.

GREENE COUNTY FARMER LEAVES HEIRS $100 000

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 28.—George Gordon, Greene county farmer and stock raiser, in his will probated yesterday, disposed of a $100,000 estate. Most of it was given to his widow and two daughters, but $1,000 was bequeathed to the Mt. Pleasant Methodist Protestant Church, Franklin township, the interest to be used for the pastor's salary.

ENTERPRISE WOMAN LEAVING AUTO KILLED

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 28.—Stepping from her automobile in front of her home at Enterprise last night, Mrs. Howard Shaver, 41, was injured fatally when struck by another machine, driven by Joseph Kublanow, of Rochester, N. Y. She died in the Clarksburg Hospital. Besides her husband, a contractor, she leaves four children.

LONE STAR GAS EARNED $3.42

Trading was comparatively quiet during the first half of the session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with most of the early business centering in Lone Star Gas and Carnegie Metals.

Neither issue showed any material change in price from the levels quoted at the close of the market yesterday, but a fair demand kept both stocks steady. Lone Star sold again at 56 in the first hour, duplicating the best figure of the previous session. The company issued the 1927 earnings report today, showing net earnings of $3,829,901 after depreciation, depletion and interest. This is equal to $3.42 a share on 1,118,691 shares of stock outstanding, and compares with $3,655,662 the previous year.

The company yesterday offered stockholders the right to subscribe to new stock at par ($25) on the basis of one new share for each three shares held. Rights were quoted today at $8.

In the miscellaneous manufacturing division there were no changes of importance. Standard Sanitary held around 33¼, while Armstrong Cork sold slightly below yesterday's closing quotation. Only a few lots of each changed hands.

N. Y. EXCHANGE SEATS HIGHER

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—Prices of seats on the smaller New York Exchanges continued to advance yesterday. Prices of seats on the New York Stock Exchange however, showed a decline.

Seats on the rubber exchange advanced $1,500 to a new top price of $9,000. William H. Stiles was the purchaser.

Seats on the Cocoa exchange passed into the hands of Wall Street, London and trade houses for $4,250, $4,400 and $4,650 respectively.

John Durant, 26-year-old associate of Otis and Company, purchased the curb market seat of R. G. Kretschmar for $65,000 an advance of $5,000.

The purchaser of a stock exchange seat Monday at a new top of $375,-000 was announced yesterday as George H. Andrews, a floor trader. Sale of a membership was announced today at $360,000, but the name of the purchaser was not disclosed.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The raw sugar market was firmer today and while no sales were reported, holders in most cases were asking advances of 1-16c or on the basis of 4.65c for Cuban duty paid.

The raw sugar futures market opened unchanged to 2 points higher on covering and some outside buying which seemed to be inspired by the firmer spot market and more favorable advices from abroad. Houses with Cuban connections were on the selling side, but offerings were promptly absorbed and the market at midday was 2 to 3 points net higher. Private reports from London said that buyers there were showing interest in the 50,000 tons which were expected to be sold at the meeting in Cuba today out of the 200,000 tons reserve, at prices fully equivalent to those prevailing here.

In refined sugar, business was still rather quiet, and while refiners' prices were unchanged at 5.80 to 5.85c for fine granulated, second hands were offering at 5.75c.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP.)—Trading on the curb market was unsettled and price movements irregular today. Declines in some of the issues recently most active in the advance gave indications of extensive liquidation and profit-taking. Buying support was transferred to a new list of favorites, however, and there were numerous new high price records. Strength of the oils and pipe lines, based evidently upon announcement of amendment by the Mexican government of regulations governing American petroleum holdings, was a feature.

Industrial specialties drew good support. Such issues as Balaban and Katz, Cohn, Hall & Marx, Carnation Milk, Gobel, and Kalamazoo Stove touched new highs. Auburn Auto was pounded down nearly 3 points after reaching a new high at 143. Most other motors were under pressure. Hanestaly slumped about 2 points. Canadian Marconi was weak and Safeway Stores, with other chain store issues, showed losses as great as 6 points.

Announcement of a stock split-up by Hartford Electric lifted that stock 10 points to a new high at 425 on a small turnover. Other utilities were irregular.

The oils and pipe lines registered gains of 1 to 3 points, Gulf, Marland Oil of Mexico, Ohio, Penn Mex Fuel, Prairie, most of the Standards and Vacuum joining in the advance. Tidal Osage and Northern Pipe Line reached new highs.

STEEL OUTPUT HERE GAINS

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade says:

Heavy steel output is being maintained and, in some districts, notably at Pittsburgh, is showing further gains, but the trend of prices is no longer upward and irregularities in quotations are more numerous. The opportunity to reduce costs with a high rate of operations has, no doubt, influenced mills to accept additions to contracts at lower than prevailing prices or to shade the market on spot business.

Prices of sheets, strips and wire nails are increasingly irregular. Underlying the finished steel market is an unpromising situation in the primary materials. The scrap and coke markets have a weak tone, and in some sectors pig iron prices are commencing to give ground.

The Steel Corporation is again operating at a 90 per cent rate after having dipped to 88 per cent. The Carnegie Steel Company has lighted three more blast furnaces. In the Greater Pittsburgh district, steel ingot output averages 85 per cent, as against 80 per cent two weeks ago.

Both of The Iron Age composite prices have declined, that for pig iron to $17.67 from the $17.75 held for six weeks, and that for finished steel to 2.357c a pound from the 2.364c of the preceding six weeks. Both are still well above the year's low figures.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The movement of fruit and vegetables was rather slow today at the local wholesale produce district. All fruit and vegetables were sold at about unchanged quotations.

Poultry supplies were nominal and the market was firm. The demand was good and the quotations were unchanged.

The butter and egg markets were firm. Cheese was steady. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 69 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 3 cars of apples, 1 asparagus, 2 beets, 9 cabbage, 4 carrots, 1 cauliflower, 10 celery, 1 grapefruit, 2 onions, 3 oranges, 2 peppers, 4 spinach, 17 potatoes, 4 sweet potatoes and 3 tomatoes.

LET CONSTABLE OFF ON CHARGE OF EXTORTION

Found not guilty of extortion, Constable W. O. Finley, Mifflin township, was ordered to pay half the costs of the case, by a jury which deliberated 18 hours, all because he accepted cash instead of the legal bond from a prisoner.

Finley and five prohibition agents raided the restaurant of George Xeros, 6832 Frankstown avenue, last January and confiscated two slot machines, two punchboards, some moonshine and some beer. They were working under a state warrant and Xeros couldn't furnish bond. Finley agreed to accept $175 cash for the prisoner's appearance and gave a receipt. Xeros failed to appear the following day for a hearing before Justice of the Peace James Cox, of Munhall. Then a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was given a hearing February 11, when the money was returned and Xeros was held for court on the liquor charge and fined $50 for keeping gambling devices.

PGH. DETECTIVE LOSES SUIT

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—(AP.)—Elmer Gross, private detective of Pittsburgh, lost in the Supreme Court here today his suit to recover $1,000,000 from James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. Gross claimed he had a contract with the company to investigate alleged dishonesty among its employes, and charged that he obtained evidence showing the company had been defrauded of approximately $2,000,000, of which he was to get 50 per cent.

Gross said he was employed by Campbell in August, 1922, a letter terminating his services December 1, 1922. He alleged Campbell extended this time orally and paid him $10,000 for his services.

The defense claimed the company did not instigate suits to collect from employes on evidence submitted by Gross.

The lower courts had refused Gross' claim.

Resurface or Repave?

It is often more economical to discard a worn-out pavement than to pay for a thin resurface laid over the old material.

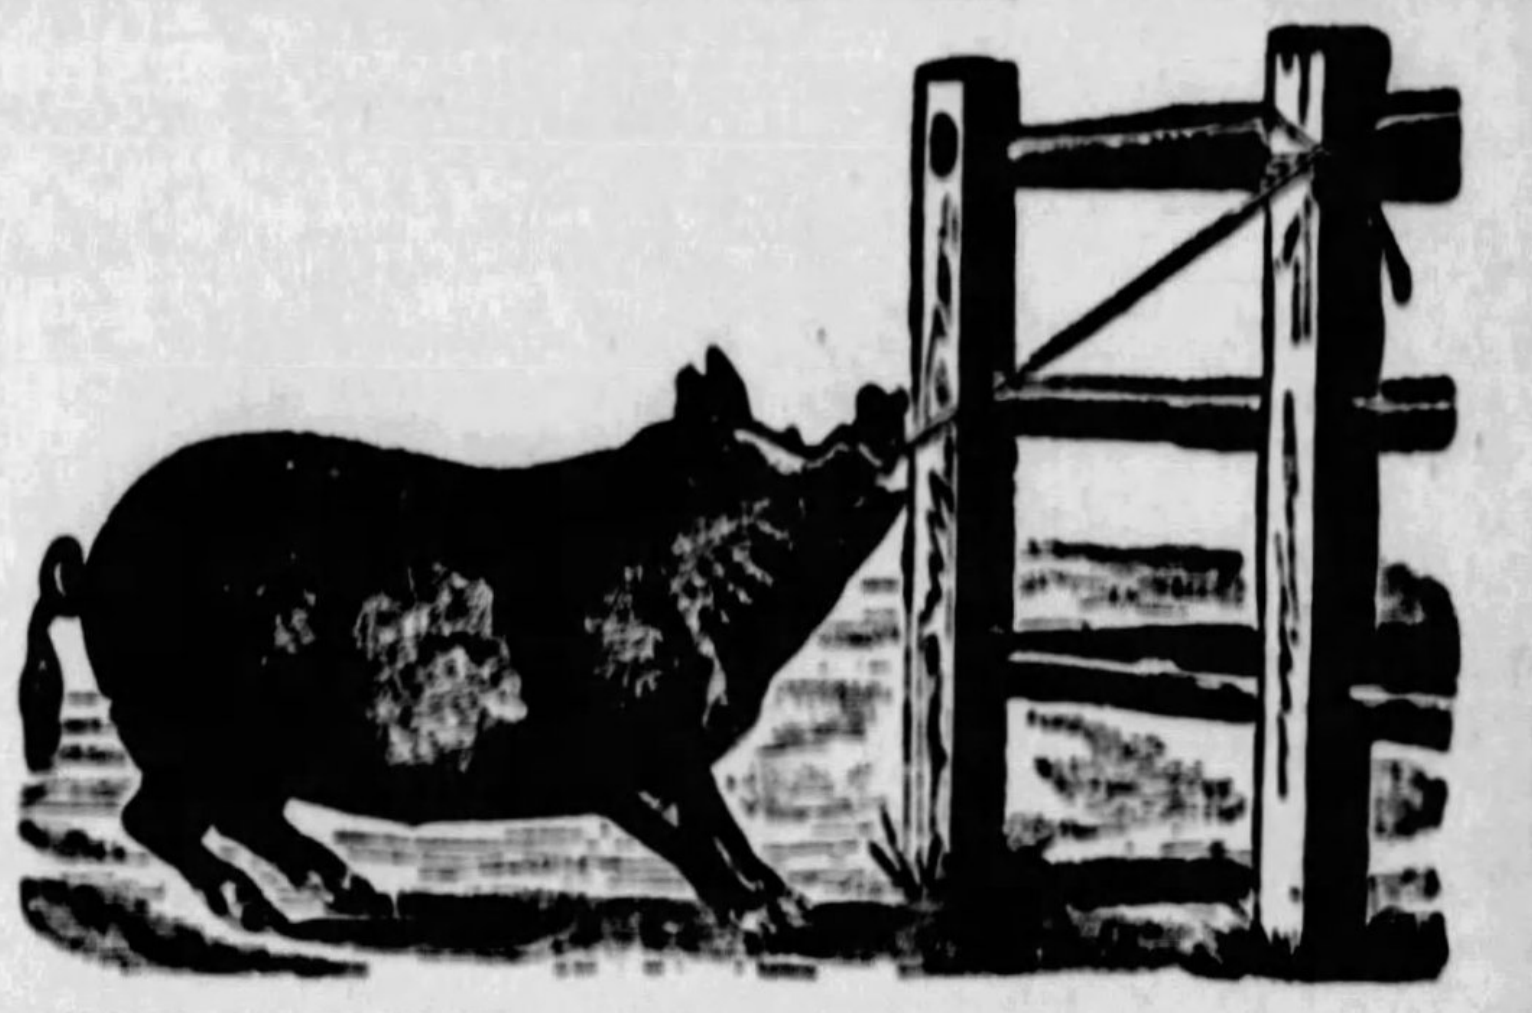
OUR DAILY HUMAN INTEREST ANIMAL STORY



KEEPER M'GOOFUS of the zoo is forever forgetting to close gates. It annoys him beyond words. But, of course, he can't say anything about it. The animals get out, and sometimes it takes years to get them back. Yesterday, as is his habit, Keeper McGoofus left the gates open. When he got home Mrs. McGoofus remarked, casually, "Well, Gus, I suppose you left the gates open again." With one bound, Oscar reached for his hat and sauntered back to the zoo. What do you suppose he found? An old ant eater named Bess had taken a stout cord and closed the gate.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

I am a paving contractor, and it is my duty and delight to tear up streets, particularly that part in front of every resident's driveway in my district. Imagine my embarrassment yesterday when I discovered that my crew had piled dirt in the driveway of a vacant house.

As Mr. McIntyre would say, it certainly made an old silly of me.

This evening, it being time to go to my bedchamber, I did slam of the front door an hundred times, but 'twill neither close nor lock, causing my face, in high dudgeon, to turn purple. And when my dame ask me to see if the key had by chance been turned and the plunger out, I did make her a sermon 'gainst asking silly questions. But when she had gone to bed I did turn the key, and the door lock as pretty as ever I see. And I was mightily pleased to see how my mechanikal sense doth serve me in a pinch.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD

by Roy K. Moulton

SPECULATION, NOT INVESTMENT.

AN English syndicate has been formed to seek a treasure of gold, silver and diamonds valued at $60,000,000 and will sail for Bolivia soon to dig it up. The prospectus of the company states that any money invested in this concern must be considered in the light of a speculation, and not an investment. We'll say that it must.

THE treasure was buried by pirates. If it were buried by anybody else it would not be worth looking for. Two or three hundred years ago pirates were around burying things on every island and every sea coast in the world, and they were such good buriers that nobody has ever found anything they have buried except a few old brass earrings and the brass hinges off a few old chests.

However, we hear that the shares are going very well at that, and the expedition with a grand flourish.

Capt. Kidd was a grand old pirate, although some say he was no pirate at all, and he was known to have buried gold, silver, precious stones, doubloons, pieces of eight, jeweled swords, silk dresses and oil paintings worth a billion dollars apiece, all the way from Bar Harbor, Maine, to Cocos Island, in the Pacific. Cocos Island is the most famous burial plot for pirate treasure in the whole wide world. A man can take a plow and team of horses and plow up enough gold watches, earrings and bracelets, diamond rings, to keep Tiffany's going for 10 years.

The reason that more people don't do that is that farm work is generally unpopular and people do not like to follow the plow.

LAST summer this writer visited Gardiner's Island which was the hang out for many years of pirates, including Black Beard and Capt. Kidd. Black Beard's real name was Edward Teach. He was probably one of the meanest men that ever tried to beat a Long Island clam digger out of a pair of brass earrings.

Gardiner's Island was the favorite burying spot of several of the buccaneers, and it is alleged even now that many of the night club proprietors go out there in the dark of the moon and bury their profits.

We walked about the island for several days, but didn't find anything worth while, so the expedition that we shall get up will go to Cocos Island.

ON Gardiner's Island we had to dig all day to get a half pail full of emeralds, and some of these were not any larger than your thumb nail. We met one man who had been there for weeks, and he was one of the most disgusted men we ever saw. He had got only three quarts of diamond rings and about a half pint of rubies, so, of course, it would not pay to get up an expedition to go treasure hunting on Gardiner's Island.

We will, however, get up one, to seek for treasure on Cocos Island in the Pacific, and the chances there should be very good. Instead of taking the old horse plow, our expedition will use high power tractors. Our prospectus will be out in a few days, and widows and orphans wishing to invest will be accommodated.

Get Blackmer and O'Neil And End All Suspicions

The tangled trail left by the Continental Trading Company, said to be a straw creation for the purpose of absorbing a $3,000,000 corruption fund, has been partly ferreted out and there now appears to be ground for believing that it will be fully uncovered. It is a trail that has bewildered the Senate committee probing the matter, the committee having been baffled at many turns in trying to uncover facts. Sinclair, Fall, $160,000 to the Republican National Committee and other factors seem to be so interwoven that the public gets dizzy trying to make head or tail of the situation.

But light has begun to appear. It has been disclosed that the $3,000,000 fund was raised by the sale of oil by one company to another at a figure permitting a profit of 25 cents a barrel. The $160,000 contribution is one of the items that has been traced to the proceeds of the oil transaction. It is said that Harry M. Blackmer received $750,000 and that James A. O'Neil received $800,000.

Blackmer was chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining Company, controlled by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, of which the chairman of the board is Robert W. Stewart, who recently refused to supply certain information to the Senate committee conducting the probe. O'Neil was president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company.

Both men are in Europe. The Senate committee would like to get their testimony, but is unable to subpena them in Europe. Now a way to extradite them has been proposed. That is to have them indicted for a conspiracy to defraud the stockholders of their companies. This plan is said to have the approval of persons interested in seeing that this situation is cleared up and that justice be done.

The matter is one of such gravity that every phase of the law looking to the cleaning it up should be resorted to. Names of persons in high places have been drawn into the affair, some of them unfairly and unjustly, and that will continue until responsibility for the whole dirty mess is placed where it belongs. Honest persons will be made to suffer from unjust suspicions until the dishonest ones are all located. One way to help to do this is to get Blackmer and O'Neil.

Bring them back from Europe, under Indictment, if they will not come voluntarily!

Mellon Not Resigning

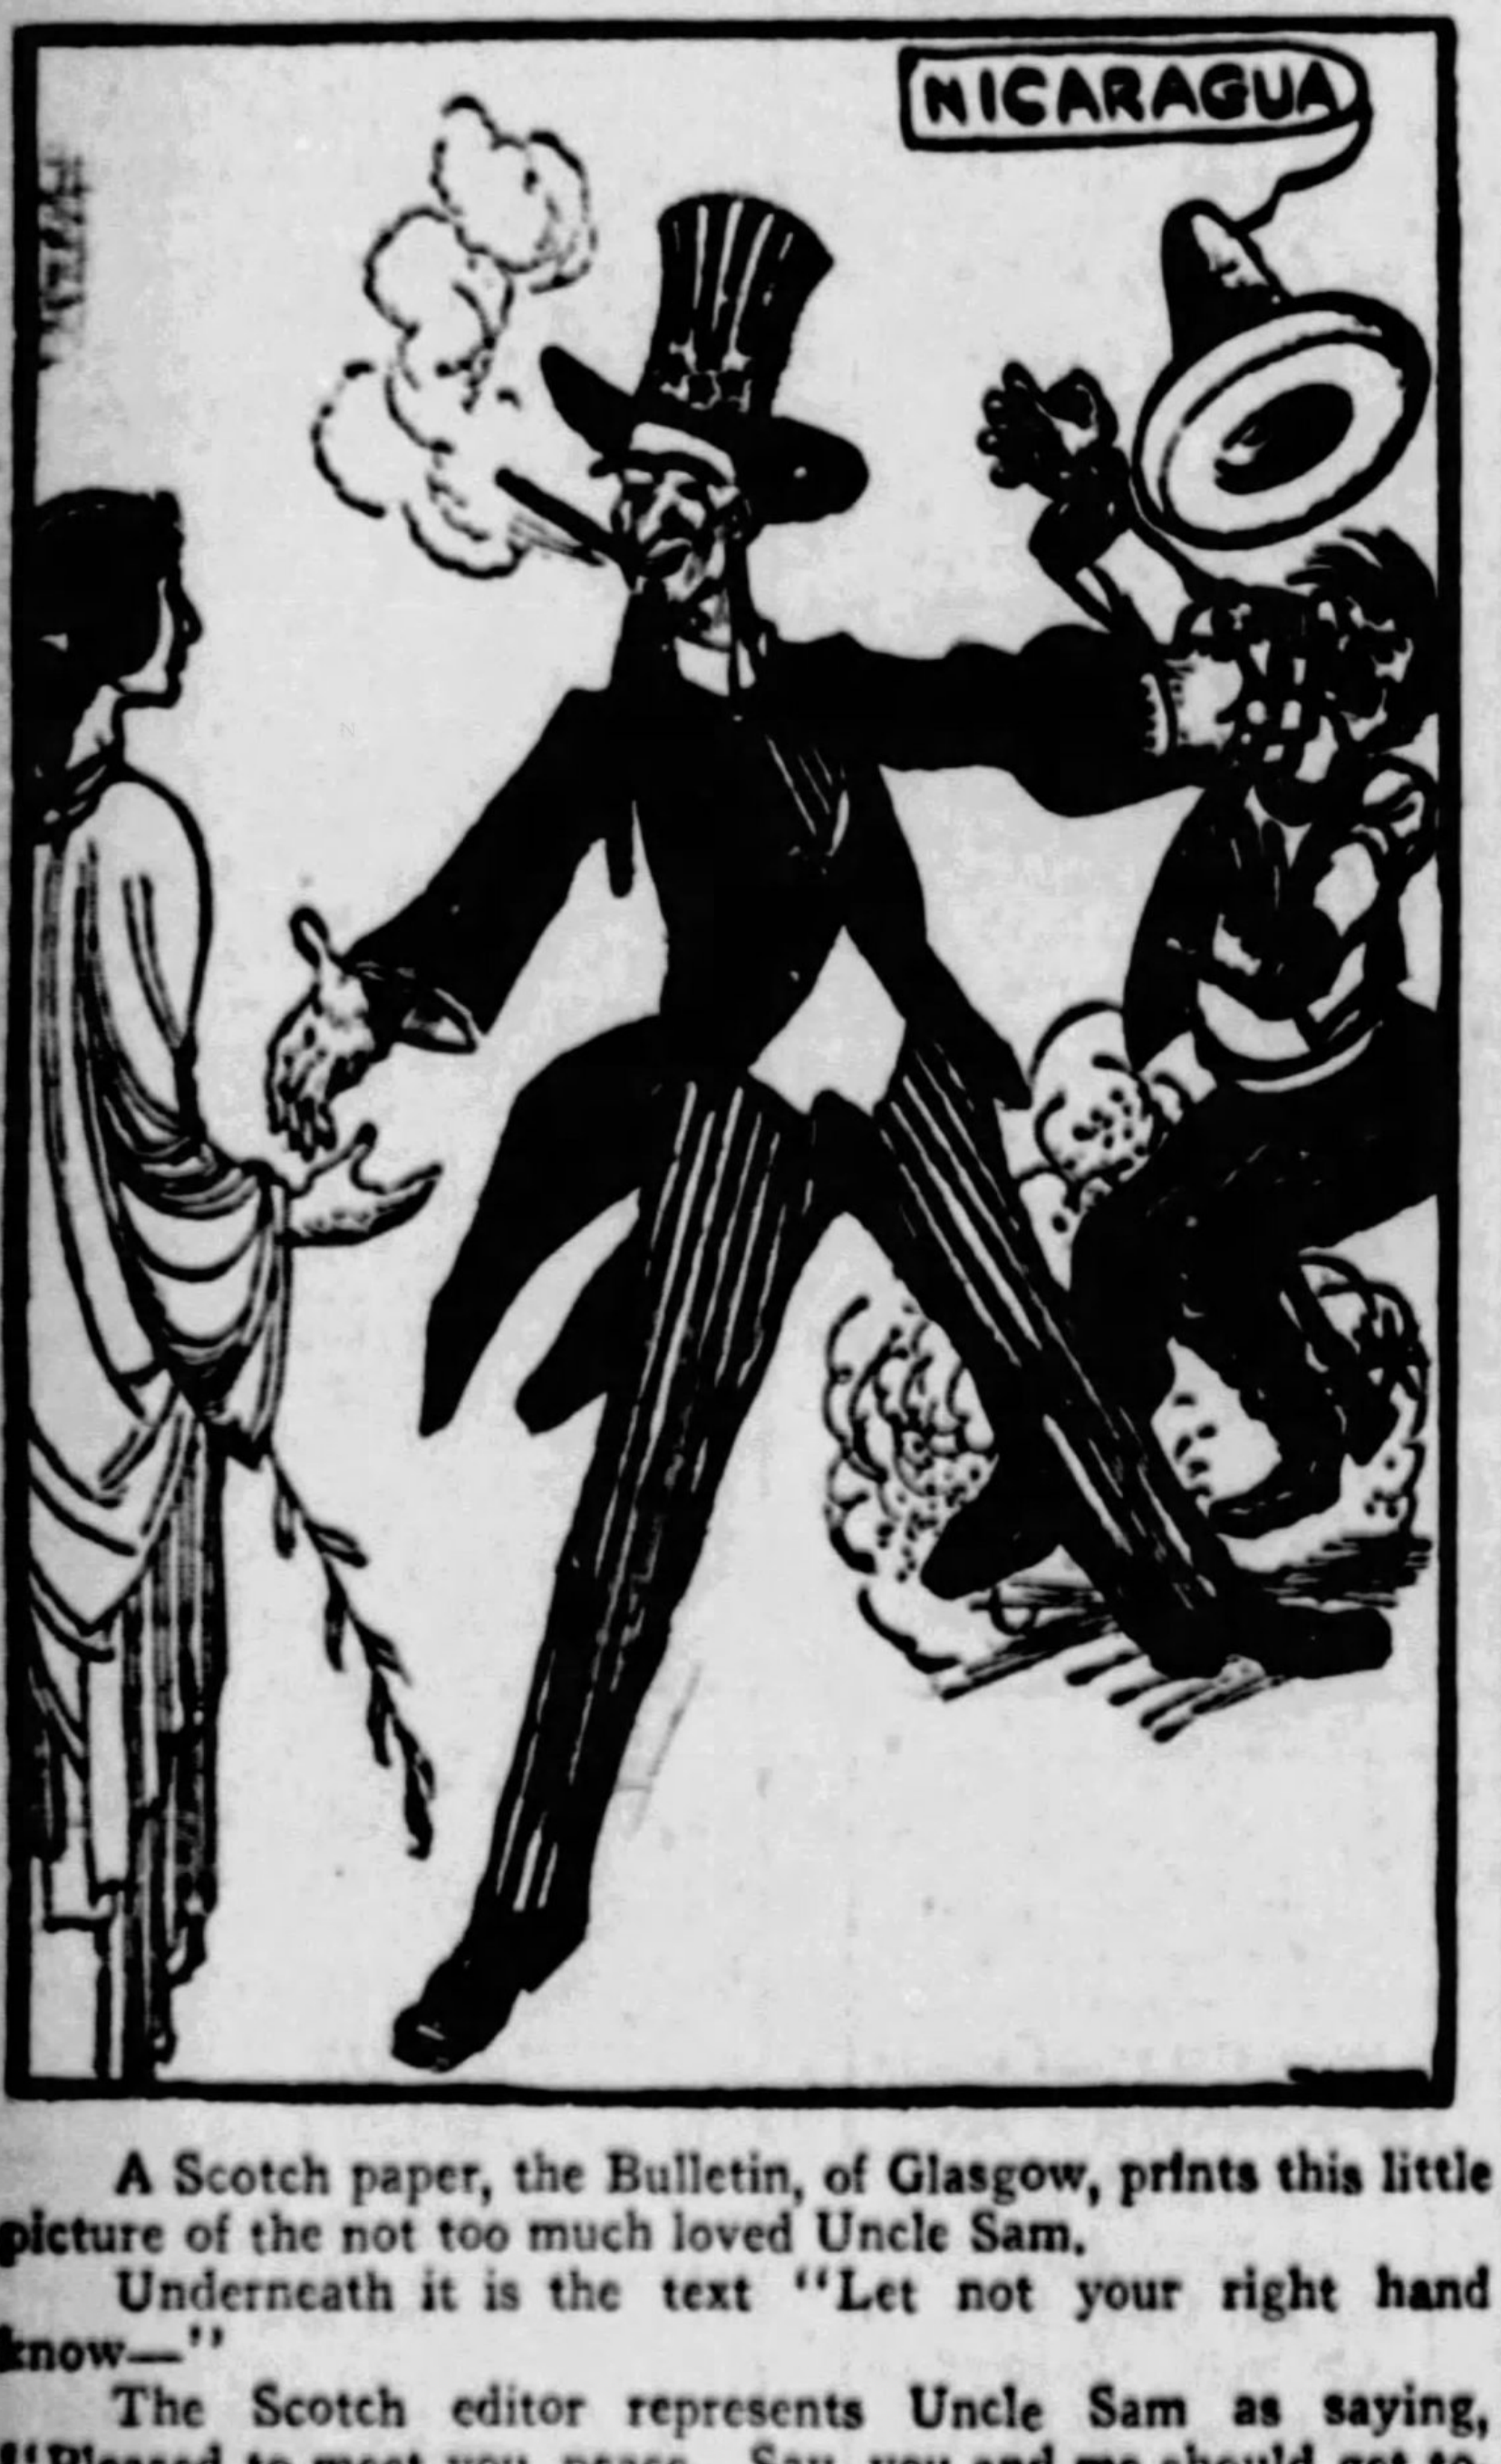
Five years ago they were asking prominent Republicans to help conceal the source of $160,000 bonds which Harry F. Sinclair had contributed to the Republican campaign fund.

They asked Secretary Mellon. He refused to have anything to do with the jugglery. Now some of his enemies in the Senate clamor for his resignation.

Why? Because he was asked? Or because he refused?

It opens up a new way for politicians to get rid of an able and incorruptible public servant.

What He Ought to Do
A Friendly Hand for Friends. A Rough Hand for Enemies.



A Scotch paper, the Bulletin, of Glasgow, prints this little picture of the not too much loved Uncle Sam.

Underneath it is the text "Let not your right hand know—"

The Scotch editor represents Uncle Sam as saying, "Pleased to meet you, peace. Say, you and me should get together on this little proposal of mine outlawing war. But hold on a minute till I give this lad a sock to the point."

This is one of ten thousand cartoons that European papers have published within a few years, representing Uncle Sam as a hypocrite and a shylock.

However, the picture suits us in America perfectly. We are always ready to extend the hand of friendship to anybody with peaceful intentions. And as the Scotch editor notes, we always have a "sock" for the man that comes on a hostile errand, like Mr. Sandino, the Nicaraguan, shooting our marines.

A glad hand for peace and friendship, and as the Scotchman put it, "a sock to the point of the jaw" for the other kind.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Ball Lightning at Sea

I PUT the following on record rather because of its intrinsic interest than for the purpose of explanatory comment:

"Will you kindly advance some observations in explanation of the following described phenomena, of which I was an observer? During a voyage in a course from Northern Australia to Wellington, N. Z., the following occurred: Becalmed with a long, undulating sea running; a chain of waterspouts stretching across the horizon aft; a cloud bank all around the horizon emitting constant flashes of 'sheet lightning;' stays, shrouds and other standing rigging highly charged with electric current; when, just at dusk, every spar, bolt-head and other metal substance became outlined in a glowing iridescence with intense concentration at terminal points. Thereupon two seeming balls of subdued fire detached from yard arms floated off in leisurely manner until meeting, perhaps 200 feet from the side of the vessel. Both seemed animated with extreme distaste for each other, and, as though actuated by the same impulse, at the same instant, each bounded away from point of contact. Both then exploded at the same precise instant with considerable noise.

"What has always puzzled me is this: What quality exerted an affinity pull to bring these two bodies together, only to present such a decided antagonism to one another the instant they came in contact? Why was the explosion delayed until intervening space separated them, and why did they then explode at the same instant? Was the ship in any danger in any way from this manifestation?—William Schwier, New York."

The waterspouts, sheet lightning, electric discharges and St. Elmo's fires that you saw, followed by the ball lightning, would make a good setting for some of the scenes in Clark Russell's sea stories. Not many landsmen have ever seen any of these things except the sheet lightning. Some who are not too nervous over these manifestations of nature's strange powers may, after reading your account, get from their bookshelves some such romance as Cupples' "The Green Hand," in order to picture themselves in similar surroundings.

The curious antics of the two glowing balls of electricity that detached themselves from the ship's rigging and floated away peacefully until they began to approach one another are easily accounted for on the assumption that they carried opposite electric charges. Opposite charges attract one another, as you know. But on coming into contact they probably both became charged alike, whereupon they parted.

This phenomenon of charged bodies being first drawn together and then flying apart is common enough even in simple parlor experiments with electricity. I have myself often seen small feathers of down first attracted to a black rubber comb that has been electrified by friction, enwrapping it tightly with a hundred fuzzy arms and then suddenly leaping away to join an offered finger which they treated to the same electrical endearments. Finally, however, they went back to the comb with all the former enthusiasm when again provoked to elope.

As to the explosion of the two balls after parting I can only say that it is a phenomenon recorded in many cases where this singular form of electricity has been observed. Not many weeks ago I gave an account of a lightning ball that entered a house, passing through the walls by silently making a small hole, rolling harmlessly over the floor and finally exploding on the ground outside. And that story was attested by an attache of the United States Weather Bureau.

I think that no meteorologist or other scientific authority knows exactly how and why these things occur just as they do. And, just because there is a great deal yet to be explained about such occurrences, narratives like yours are of much interest and importance.

With regard to the explosive force it has been calculated that in lightning phenomena the repulsion of electrified air particles of like sign confined in a small space may produce an atmospheric pressure of as much as 1,500 pounds to the square inch. Still, I don't think that your ship was in danger. The electric concentrations were all on the outside.

There's Joy in Living

YOU may be a very successful man.

It has taken a hard struggle to advance to your position.

The constant and tiring effort has left its impressions on your face and your disposition.

Often you look at happy persons and their very good nature angers you.

Not because they have done anything to hurt you.

But you feel that they must have found greater happiness in the world than any joy you have experienced.

Then you think of them as weaklings—persons who have attained little and are satisfied with that little.

They seem like failures to you.

It's your opinion that if they had pushed upward as you have there would be less animation in their voices and fewer smiles on their faces.

And you may be right about it.

But if your gain has wrested from you the joy of living, haven't you been a failure after all?

Green

IT touches the world with new life
Until everywhere beauty is rife,
With the sheen
Of fresh green.
It is glowing where oaks tower tall;
It is gleaming on ivy-draped wall
And the meadows between.

It is turning life's loveliest page,
It is stirring the pulses of age
With youth's dreams,
Bright as gleams
Of the tide of this glory of green
Which has hidden earth's scars with its screen,
Green that flows in spring streams

It touches with life and with hope
Every glad, waiting valley and slope,
While unseen
Ranks of green
Are all eager to press on their way Through the sod to the light of the day;
Ah, this glory of green!

Tales that are Told

Useless

A TOURIST in Devonshire narrowly escaped walking over a concealed precipice. Naturally, he was very angry, and seeing a man working near the spot, vented his rage upon him.

"I say," he began, "surely you know there's a dangerous precipice over there? I very nearly fell over it. Why on earth don't you have a notice-board put up?"

The yokel looked up.

"Well," he said slowly, "us did 'ave a board up, but nobody fell over, so us took her down again."—London Answers.

No Doubt!

"HAVE you given him anything or done anything to relieve him?" asked the young doctor, who had fared out into the night to see a patient in the throes of scarlet fever.

"Well, no, doctor—that is to say, nothin' to speak of," said the wife of the patient. "I had him soak his feet in almost b'ilin' water with a lot of mustard in it, and I slapped a red-hot plaster on his back, an' another one on his chest, an' I've put a bag o' cracked ice to the back of his neck, but I didn't feel like as if I ort to give much o' anything until you come an' see what you think ailed him. Then I reckoned we could do somethin' for him."

Quite Sound

INTO a chemist's shop tripped a woman with a bottle, which she handed over to the man behind the counter.

"Is this all right to take?" she asked.

The chemist inspected the bottle carefully.

"You didn't buy this here?" he remarked at length.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "It's a nerve tonic I saw advertised. I felt a little dubious about it and thought you'd tell me whether I ought to take it."

The chemist handed back the bottle.

"I don't think," he returned icily, "there is any necessity for you to take it. There is nothing wrong with your nerve!"

"I've broken off my engagement with Ernest."

"Never mind, dear," said Ethel comfortingly. "He is certain to come round and patch it up with you before long."

"I don't think so," replied Enid. "You see, I wrote and told him never to see me or write to me again. And," she added vehemently, "he hasn't even been nice enough to answer my letter."

Wise Choice

ADOLPHUS ADLER had been the subject of interested comment amongst his friends and relatives.

"Why doesn't he get married?" they asked each other. "He's got plenty of money, and quite good-looking, too."

One day he startled them all by announcing the fact that he was marrying a widow.

But his brother remonstrated with him.

"I could never be a widow's second husband," he said bluntly.

The newly engaged man smiled.

"Well," he murmured, "I'd much rather be her second than her first."

The Wandering Watchman

A CERTAIN house agent had a farm on his books which was supposed to be haunted, and in order to prove rumor wrong, he decided to engage a man to stay there for one night.

On the following day he was up early and went round to see how the man had fared in the haunted farmhouse. But the man was not to be found. On the lawn he discovered the remains of a window, sash and shutters completely wrecked. But of the watchman there was no sign.

Four days later the house agent came across him tramping along a country lane some three miles away.

"Hallo, George!" he cried. "Where have you been all this time?"

The man wiped the perspiration from his brow.

"Boss," he replied, "I've been coming back."

New York Day by Day
by
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 28.—New York no longer offers those illustrious theatrical families who live—with that strange aloofness the profession seems to create—in private homes. They have scattered to hotels, apartment houses, clubs and Hollywood villas.

In other days New York was "home" to the trouper and thoughts of getting back to the family hearth sustained him during trying days of one-night stands in kerosene lighted halls. Now that few players leave New York and could enjoy a home, they somehow do not want one.

The theatrical home was always interesting and different. Nobody got up until noon. Breakfast was served all over the house and a family never collected at the breakfast table at the same time. There was the early scramble for dinner and rush to the theater.

The big relaxing hour was after the play. Members of the family would hurry home from their triumphs, bring their friends and enjoy the important meal of the day. Every New Yorker coveted an invitation permitting a peep into the private home life of a player.

In some ways the great theatrical families established one's social status. While players were rarely invited to 400 functions, a bid to their home gave a stamp of smartness to others. Their very eccentricities made them long remembered hosts and hostesses.

Talk carried the note of high suspense—the fervor of first nights, the struggle against closing, company jealousies and love affairs and all the other tensions the theater affords. There were a dozen or more explosions of temperament a day.

The homes were usually in confusion and yet it is proverbial few servants in theatrical families ever deserted their posts. They loved the excitement and gossip and would stay with employers through lean days without salary.

For years he has awakened in late afternoon in a flutter with a quinine taste and a hazy memory of the night before. The other day the executor of his family's estate notified him he was selling the last block of his securities to meet pressing debts.

"What am I supposed to do now?" he whined.

"I am sure I do not know," was the slightly disgusted reply. "But keep up your average and do nothing decent."

Press agency for Broadway shows is becoming a highly organized business on the grand Ivy Lee scale. Several publicity purveyors teamed up and one concern handled 13 shows at the same time this year.

Theatrical press agency is looked upon a little differently from average publicity in New York newspaper shops. The metropolis being the theatrical capital, news of shows and players has more than ordinary value. In instances a story coming from a theatrical press agent has first page worth. The some 60 legitimate theaters in New York spend an aggregate of $3,000,000 a year for newspaper advertising.

An elevator sticking between floors is usually responsible for an explosion of New York nerves. One today in which I was riding caught between the twenty-second and twenty-third floors. It was crowded. There was a faint hysterical snicker, a hush and sudden pallor. One wamon sighed and swooned against the side of the car. A broad-shouldered man began to talk to himself. It was over in two minutes. I managed to keep my head. Still in the excitement I don't remember anyone in particular asking for it.

The Insanity Plea
By DR. FRANK CRANE

Attention has been called in many recent criminal cases to the validity of the plea of insanity. No one wants to hang an insane man, but still no one wants such a person to escape the consequences of his deeds by pleading insanity as an alibi.

The plea of insanity seems to rest upon the fact that the insane had no sense of right and wrong when he committed his wrongful act. As a matter of fact, however, most persons when they do wrong, seek to justify it, although ordinarily in a very flimsy way, by thinking that it is right.

The robber thinks it is right to take from the rich and give to the poor, after the manner of Robin Hood.

The murderer may think it is right to slay his victim because he thinks said victim needs killing. Whatever the man may think, however, the fact of right and wrong is not to be determined by his decision, but by that of society.

The community at large in every country has decided that it is wrong to take another man's property, or his life, no matter what the perpetrator of the deed may think, and the community has a right to stand by its own convictions.

The plea of the murderer, therefore, that he could not distinguish between right and wrong at the time of his act and was, therefore, insane, should not work to relieve him of the responsibility of his deed.

There are people with no moral sense and no moral nature, as far as we can see, but these people should not be excused from paying the penalty of their wrongful acts.

Particularly if a man can be shown to be sane enough to have carefully laid his plans and to have secretly carried them out until apprehended by the law, he should not be allowed to escape punishment because he said he was insane.

Is not every wrong doer insane?

Maudlin sentiment for the criminal and an effort to have him escape the penalty of the law because of sentimental reasons would reduce society to the level of an old woman.

We, all of us, should take the consequences of our evil deeds, and judges should be very chary of allowing the plea of insanity to permit us to escape this penalty.

OH, THESE WOMEN!
By LEOLA ALLARD.

PARIS says that women should have their evening gowns embroidered with semi-precious stones.

And how!

Out of 89 missing persons reported to a morning newspaper last week, 73 were men and only six women.

Men must be easier to lose.

If you want to see an elegant show for nothing, go into some of the smart shops and watch the models ritzing the highly amused customers.

Paris dressmakers are moving to New York, but society women are still getting their divorces over there.

Women complain that the orphanages can't furnish enough babies for those who wish to adopt them. There is always a long waiting list and no one who asks for a baby ever seems to change her mind and drop out of the list.

But at New York's lying-in hospital they announce that the stork calls there every two hours.

What with all his other calls, and so many women wanting second-hand babies, maybe we should have some more storks?

Mary Pickford was the last to take to short skirts and then they were not very short, "because," Mary told you, "Doug hates them, and I dress to please him."

Irene Castle, who gave the world bobbed hair, is wearing her skirts half way to her ankles. That settles the question of what's style in skirt lengths.

Ina Clair was preparing to spend the summer in Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Stevens rented a furnished apartment for her, and got her a very nice colored maid. When the maid saw Ina's beautiful lacey negligee and got a glimpse of all her theatrical make-up on the dressing table, she put on her hat and walked out.

"I don't think it's the kind of a place for a nice colored girl," the maid told Mrs. Stevens.

Ina enjoyed that so much she didn't mind hunting for another maid.

The women who live in the moderate priced part of New York are waxing wroth because the city sends all the incompetent garbage men to their streets. Says Mrs. Sarah Crowe: "On Park avenue the garbage men never drop a crumb. The Health Department should furnish a goat to follow the one we have."

Well—maybe it's sweller swill.

Words of the Wise

Let them obey that know not how to rule.—Shakespeare.

He who has lived obscurely and quietly has lived well!—Ovid.

He that upon a true principle lives, without any disquiet of thought, may be said to be happy.—L'Estrange.

True liberty consists in the privilege of enjoying our own rights, not in the destruction of the rights of others.—Pinchard.

Avoid greatness; in a cottage there may be found more real happiness than kings or their favorites enjoy in palaces.—Horace.

We ought to be thankful to nature for having made those things which are necessary easy to be discovered; while other things that are difficult to be known are not necessary.—Epicurus.

Truth gains more even by the errors of one who, with due study and preparation, thinks for himself, than by the true opinions of those who only hold them because they do not suffer themselves to think.—Mill.
